LEFT BITTER LETTER

Seignor and His Pretty Victim Can Live but a Few Short Hours.

EDGEWOOD'S AWFUL TRAGEDY

Crazed by an overpowering affection, which was apparently not returned, William F. Seignor, a typesetter, hid behind a clump of bushes near Edgewood station last evening and shot and fatally injured Amy Garrett, a young and beautiful girl, as she passed on her way home. After shooting the girl the man ran through a wooded lawn, drew a razor and cut his throat and then shot himself through the base of the brain. Both were unconscious at a late hour last night and physicians say neither can live.

Miss Garrett lives with her widowed mother and her brother and sisters in a handsome residence at No. 106 Ivy street, Edgewood. She is 22 years old and remarkably beautiful. She has Titian red hair, a fine complexion and is robust and healthy looking. The girl is employed as a stenographer by Oliver McClintock & Co., carpet dealers, in Fifth avenue, below Wood street.

Victim Is Well Connected.

The Garretts formerly lived on Squirrel hill, and the father died there 14 years ago. Miss Garrett has three sisters and one brother. One sister is Mrs. Sarah Penney, wife of A. L. Penny, a prominent Pittsburgh broker, who lives in Wilkinsburg. Her other sisters are Miss Betta and Miss Susan Garrett, who live in Edgewood with the family. Her brother, David S. Garrett, is an employe of the Union Switch and Signal Company, at Swissvale.

Seignor, the girl's assassin, is a typesetter employed on an afternoon paper. He was formerly in the printing business for himself. He lives at No. 503 Wood street, Wilkinsburg, with O. L. Schultze. His family is well known in Homewood, living in Linden avenue, near Frankstown. He was married about five years ago, but was granted a divorce last fall in Colorado. His divorced wife lives in the East End with her family, and her 3-year-old child.

Known Each Other for Years.

Miss Garrett and Seignor had known each other for about six years. He called to see her frequently at their home in Squirrel hill, but suddenly his visits ceased. The family thought at the time Amy had sent the man off. When the family moved to Edgwood, about a year ago, Seignor developed a sudden liking for Amy's brother David. He called at the house to see the brother, and the two went out together frequently. Seignor never asked to see Amy, and so far as known, never saw her in the Edgewood house.

Young Garrett and Seignor had a quarrel last June. Garrett says he never liked the man and merely went out with him out of politeness. At the time of the quarrel Garrett told Seignor never to speak to him again. Garrett says he has seen the man since June, but has never spoken to him.

Girl Was Afraid of Seignor.

AUTO RUN HAS DRAMATIC END

Cars Reached Pittsburgh After Struggle Through Rain and Mud.

GIVEN BIG WELCOME

Manufacturers Declare Endurance Run a Triumph for American Machinist.

WINNER IS NOT YET DECIDED

Through dense fog and pelting rain the seven machines which led in the New York-Pittsburgh automobile endurance contest slid into the suburbs of Pittsburgh shortly before noon yesterday. The finish was a fitting climax to the spectacular features which have characterized the most memorable run in the history of the motor car. In the local garage at Banker Bros. barns, in Baum street, 20 automobiles have arrived. The success of the run is regarded as a triumph for the American machinist.

Along the Pittsburgh and Allegheny thoroughfares 50,000 people stood in the inclement weather to watch the autos arrive from their 763-mile journey. When at last the motor-driven caravan started through the downtown streets and the sun peeped out through the fog and the rain was checked, this same 50,000 cheered until they were hoarse, paying tribute to the pluck of the chauffeurs as well as to merits of the successful machines. Proceeding out the boulevard another demonstration was made at the Hotel Schenley, and finally at the end of the run at Banker's garage.

Victory Not Yet Decided.

The official announcement of the contestant winning the greatest number of points will not be made before tonight, and while the automobilists were guessing, they forgot their eagerness for victory in a party at the Avenue theater last night and concluded a strenuous day in a smoker at the Hotel Henry, being the guests of the Automobile club of Pittsburgh at the two social functions.

That Pittsburgh is an automobile city was shown by the enthusiasm displayed by every local owner of a motor car. While pedestrians stood hump-shouldered under awnings or were skipping along the sidewalks under dripping umbrellas and trolley cars were picking their way cautiously through the black mists that filled the streets, half a dozen machines gaily decorated with festoons of the red and green of the Automobile club of Pittsburgh, dashed down Fifth avenue, across the Sixth street bridge to Allegheny and down the Ohio river road regardless of disagreeable climatic conditions. In the first car was W. L. Smith, James F. Burke, W. C. Temple and Arthur Banker, representing the local reception committee. Following came cars containing local newspaper representatives.

Meeting the Pilot Car.

It was intended to make the run to Sewickley and meet the vanguard of the contestants there, but while the reception committee's car was rolling down California avenue, an automobile flying two white guidons loomed up out of the fog and came booming up the long hill, plowing through the mud and scattering barrels of confetti in its wake.

"Hurrah, for the pilot car!" was the greeting from the local enthusiasts as they swung around to meet Secretary Harry

EASTERN WAR DOGS NOT AS YET READY TO BE LET LOOSE

Russia and Japan Both Busy Preparing for Hostilities While Discreetly Avowing Peace to Gain More Time.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, Oct. 15.—Advices concerning the far eastern situation continue contradictory in tenor, but on the whole war seems to be less likely than it appeared several days ago, though the possibility of a clash are by no means eliminated.

Summed up the situation appears to be this: Japan will not fight to eject Russia from Manchuria, but she will fight at the first act of Russia which looks to increasing her influence or power in Korea. Russia is willing to keep hands off Korea if Japan will recognize her right to hold Manchuria. This Japan is not willing to do.

In the meantime both powers are busy getting themselves on a war footing. Russia now has anywhere from 100,000 to 200,000 troops available for instant use near the scene of possible hostilities, only the Russian commander knows exactly how many he has, and is pushing forward men and supplies as rapidly as possible.

Japan is mobilizing men, accumulating war stores and perfecting a transport system. It is believed her plan of campaign in the event of hostilities is thoroughly prepared and that all is in readiness to carry it out.

The foreign offices of both the empires deny there is any danger of war, but these denials are formal and may be taken with a considerable grain of salt. While it is all right to prepare for war in time of peace, nations these days do not prepare as Russia and Japan have been preparing for some time unless there is more in the wind than diplomatic negotiations over more or less academic questions. While it is possible that the present difficulties may be arranged without a resort to arms, it is safe to say that war has been unpleasantly near and the danger point has by no means been passed.

YOKOHAMA, Oct. 15.—Baron De Rosen, the Russian minister to Japan, and Baron Komura, the Japanese foreign minister, held their fourth conference yesterday. It lasted four hours. M. Lessar, the Russian minister to China, has informed Prince Ching, head of the Chinese foreign office, that if China rejects the demands of Russia the occupation of Manchuria by the Russian troops would be permanent.

WINDOW GLASS WORKERS MAKE PEACE AGREEMENT

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLEVELAND, Oct. 15.—One of the most important conferences ever held by the Window Glass Workers of the United States took place at the American house tonight, when 23 representatives took steps to unite warring factions.

At the end of the conference Simon Burns of Pittsburgh said: "After having been divided for four years the window glass workers will at last be united. The purpose is to unite the two divisions, but the question of advancement in wages will also enter strongly into the matter. This meeting will cause the price of window glass to advance and the jobbers who have been holding off in the expectation that window glass would have a break in prices will get left."

Among those present from Pittsburgh and vicinity were John Phillips, Paul St. Peter, Jr., F. P. Core, James A. Schaulin, Simon Burns, Edward H. Winters, Louis Eperthenes, Jr., W. T. Armstrong, John Wageman and Emmet W. Conners; Peter B. Ames and W. P. Norcross, Sistersville, W. Va., Frank J. Seifert and Wilson F. Chamberlain, Kane, Pa.; Thomas Whitsel, Arnold, Pa.; Thomas Young, James Holden, James Eichels, Jeannette, Pa.; Peter Kelly, Smethport, Pa.; S. S. Hunter, H. G. Rhodes, New Castle, Pa.; W. A. Garrigan, Homestead, Pa.; Edwin Smith, New Bethlehem, Pa.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 15.—The representatives of the Federation and Independent Window Glass Companies, who have been in conference here discussing plans for harmonizing conflicting interests, adjourned tonight pending the action of the rival organizations of glass workers, whose members have agreed to confer on the matter of a uniform wage scale for all glass manufactories.

The conference of the executive boards of the two glass workers' unions will be held at Pittsburgh, probably tomorrow, to take up the question of a uniform scale.

THE LION OF THE DAY.

Ex-President Cleveland Met Another Cordial Reception in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—Grover Cleveland was wildly applauded by the students at Armour institute, whom he addressed today. They were especially pleased with his talk upon "industrial educations."

In the afternoon Mr. Cleveland was entertained with a luncheon at the Chicago club. After leaving the Chicago club he was escorted to the Art institute, where a public reception was tendered him. A number of prominent citizens assisted the former president in receiving the people. For an hour and a half hundreds of persons filed past the receiving party to shake the hand of the only living ex-president. Mr. Cleveland left for his home at Princeton, N. J., at 6 o'clock tonight.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY CAUSED BY LOVE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Donora, Pa., Oct. 15.—A murder and suicide, wrapped in mystery, occurred here tonight shortly after 6 o'clock. William Sweades, as he was known, said to be from Cincinnati, O., shot and killed his roommate, Charles Urbows of Charleroi, then put a bullet through his own heart, both dying within three minutes. The men roomed and boarded at Goes' boarding house. Both were at supper together, engaged in a pleasant conversation.

A young lady of Donora seemed to have been admired by both, but nothing is known of the circumstances surrounding the killing. After supper both adjourned to their room and one started to dress himself to go out. A roomer heard Sweades say to Urbows:

"If you say anything more something will happen."

The remainder of the conversation or the exact trouble which ended in the killing is not known. Urbows started downstairs and Sweades went after him. Sweades succeeded in getting Urbows to return to the room, when he fired three shots at him without warning, hitting him about the heart. Urbows fell and Sweades put another bullet through his head to finish the job with certainty.

Several of the men in the house ran into the room, but Sweades held them back and asked for a piece of paper. It was produced and he asked one of the men to write his name and address. This was done. Deliberately and before it could be prevented, Sweades shot himself twice in the heart. He died almost instantly.

Chief of Police Major Summerville arrived soon afterward, and is now making an investigation. The bodies were removed to the morgue, and as Sweades is said to have given a wrong name, will be held for identification. A friend of both men say Sweades' right name is Rodgers. Sweades or Rodgers worked in the wire mill and was about 18 years old. Urbows was 25 years old, and was employed at the furnace. Both men were well thought of by their companions, were said to be gentlemanly, and neither was intoxicated at the time of the shooting.

MAIL TRAIN ROBBER BELL READY TO BE MOVED EAST

DENVER, COL., Oct. 15.—Albert E. Bell, the alleged forger and robber, has recovered sufficiently to leave St. Anthony's hospital, where he has been under treatment, and will be taken to Philadelphia to be tried for the Germantown, Pa., mail robbery. United States District Attorney Cranston will apply to Judge Hallett in the federal court tomorrow for an order for the prisoner's removal to Philadelphia.

BRYAN SAYS SILVER IS NO LONGER AN ISSUE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

IOWA CITY, IA., Oct. 15.—"I think that free silver will not be considered at the national Democratic convention in 1904."

These words were spoken by William Jennings Bryan to an old and intimate friend, Prof. James Bradshaw, of the Iowa Commercial college, who met Mr. Bryan on the train. Prof. Bradshaw asserts positively tht Mr. Bryan made the following statement:

"While I still believe that free silver would be a good thing for our country, the nations of the world have settled down to a gold basis to such an extent that it would be practically impossible to change the current of their ways, so far as substituting the double standard is concerned. I think that free silver will not be considered at the national Democratic convention in 1904, and moreover I believe it will never again be an issue."

Mr. Bryan, says Prof. Bradshaw, said: "I am out of politics and will not be a candidate for president again. Roosevelt, doubtless, will be the Republican nominee. He is a man of character, knowledge and statecraft. No man in the Republican party has a firmer hold on the common people, especially in the west. No man can command the respect of nations to a greater degree or wield a stronger influence over the world at large."

WABASH SYNDICATE WILL BE REIMBURSED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The Wall Street Journal tomorrow will say: "The Gould plans have gone on steadily in spite of the decline in the security market.

"Steps will shortly be taken to reimburse the obligation to the syndicate that underwrote the extension into Pittsburgh. The department of the Pittsburgh, Carnegie & Western will be funded in a first mortgage bond, the syndicate receiving this bond for their expenditures under certain conditions.

"Such an arrangement does not predicate the marketing of $25,000,000 of new bonds, as has been stated. The only difference for the immediate future will be that syndicate members will hold a negotiable security instead of a mere receipt. It amounts to the untying of funds hitherto completely tied up in the Gould plans about Pittsburgh.

"The plans outlined for the consolidation of lines east of Toledo is involved in the refunding mentioned above. The two will be simultaneous, the Goulds obtaining legal possession of the Pittsburgh extension for the purpose of consolidation by the payment of the syndicate obligation. Developments in this connection will transpire shortly."

STATUE IS DEDICATED

CHIEF EXECUTIVE'S SPEECH

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, Oct. 15.—With impressive ceremonies an equestrian statue of William Tecumseh Sherman was unveiled here this afternoon in the presence of official Washington, the president at its head and thousands of veterans, members of the societies of the Armies of the Tennessee, the Cumberland, the Ohio and the Potomac. As the two large flags enveloping the statue were drawn aside by William Tecumseh Sherman Thorndyke, the 9-year-old grandson of the dead chieftain, the cannon of the Fourth artillery boomed a salute and the Marine band struck up the "Star-Spangled Banner."

Success marked every detail of the ceremonies, which were in charge of Col. T. W. Symons, superintendent of public buildings and grounds. Before the unveiling of the statue the president and Lieut. Gen. Young, chief of the general staff of the army, reviewed the troops, participating in the dedication parade from the stand opposite the statue. The president delivered the address of the day. A representative from each of the societies of the four armies followed in eulogies of Gen. Sherman.

Promptly at 2:30 o'clock the president, under the escort of a detachment of minute men, walked from the White House to the statue, which faces the south front of the treasury. The president walked alone, preceded by Capt. W. S. Cowles and Col. T. W. Symons, his naval and military aides. Following the president were Secretary Hay, Postmaster Payne, Secretary Cortelyou, Acting Secretary of War Oliver and Secretary Loeb. The president was received at the reviewing stand by the members of the Sherman statue commission.

Horse Interrupts the Parade.

With the arrival of the president began the review of the troops. Lieut. Gen. Young was chief marshal and with his staff headed the procession. Following came the Second cavalry, the engineer battalion from Washington barracks, headed by the engineer band; two battalions of coast artillery from Forts Washington, Hunt and Monroe; the Fourth field battery of artillery from Ft. Myer; a company of the hospital corps, a detachment of marines and two battalions of seamen. The second division of the parade consisted of the various organizations of the District national guard under the command of Brig. Gen. George H. Harries.

The balking of a horse hitched to a gun of one of the artillery companies of the National guard caused an embarrassing halt in the parade. The president was greatly amused at the antics of the animal and applauded the men who came to the rescue by practically carrying the gun past the reviewing stand, horse and all.

The unveiling ceremonies began with music by the Marine band. The invocation was offered by the Rev. Dr. D. J. Stafford. Gen. Grenville M. Dodge, president of the statue commission, gave a

MACHINE HITS AT STEVENSON

Verner Recognizes Breck Faction in the Fourteenth Ward.

NOTICE TO ORPHANS

Headquarters Makes Up a Roll of Committeemen and Orders Election of a New Chairman.

PAY ROLLERS WILL DECIDE

The Bigelow machine has prepared a new roll of the Fourteenth ward Citizens committee and ordered the members designated by it to elect a chairman at a meeting to be held tomorrow night. The control of the organization is placed in the hands of the opponents of Councilman William H. Stevenson. The action is considered direct notice to the "Political Orphans" that headquarters has decided to part company with them.

Friends of Capt. E. Y. Breck say that the roll shows 24 votes for him, 22 for William J. Moore, the acting head of the Stevenson organization, and leaves one committeeman in doubt. Moore says that if he chooses to go into the meeting tomorrow night he and his friends can control a majority of the 47 committeemen. One of his strongest adherents admits defeat, as he figures that the five Stevenson committeemen, who hold city positions, will, if necessary, go over to Breck and thus make his vote 29 to 18.

There is no understanding between Breck and Moore to step aside and allow the election of a compromise chairman. The friends of Breck say that they will elect him. Moore is not ready to make a decisive statement, but says that speaking for himself he is disposed to stand on the recent letter of County Chairman Murry A. Verner and not mix with the Democrats. He points out that the new roll gives seats to 11 Democrats that come under his interpretation of the Verner exclusion act. He says that a caucus of his friends will be held prior to the meeting of tomorrow night.

Verner Orders an Election.

When the Bigelow machine thought that it could secure the co-operation of the "orphans" by the liberal use of salve it was disposed to favor the Stevenson organization. At the request of Moore, Verner made a ruling that Democrats connected with the Democratic organization could not belong to the Citizens committee in the Fourteenth ward. Under this Moore proceeded to throw out all of the Democratic followers of Breck. The Breck committeemen objected and finally succeeded in having Verner agree to refer the Fourteenth ward squabble to the committee on contests of the county committee.

L. S. Levin, assistant city solicitor, is chairman of the committee on contests. He heard both side and yesterday submitted a roll of committeemen to Chairman Verner, who immediately sent his letter to M. J. Ehrenfeld, vice chairman of the Breck and Moore committees:

"The committee on contests having heard and reviewed the evidence in the matter of the contest from the Fourteenth ward has reported to me that the following delegates are entitled to vote as members of the ward executive committee.

"You will therefore notify these persons that a meeting will be held at the Bellefield school on Saturday, October 17, at 8 o'clock p. m. for the purpose of electing a ward chairman and transacting such other business as may come

ALASKA BOUNDARY DISPUTE IS DECIDED AND AMERICA WINS

Lord Alverstone, Head of the British Commission, Said to Have Voted to Sustain Contention of Representatives of United States.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, Oct. 15.—The Morning Advertiser states "upon unquestionable authority" that the decision of the Alaskan boundary tribunal virtually concedes the American case.

This marks the achievement of the most wonderful progress ever recorded in the pacific settlement of disputes between nations, as a decision was possible only through the act of some one member of the tribunal in voting against the contention of his own country.

It has always been conceded that the actual making of a decision would rest with Lord Alverstone, as he has shown throughout the discussions the widest and greatest knowledge of the questions that have arisen. If he has decided in favor of the claim of the United States it means entire relinquishment of the claim of England and Canada and the permanent establishment of the inland ways claimed by the United States and never disputed until a few years ago.

The questions at issue resolved themselves into the determination of the exact location of the line of the one hundred and forty-first meridian of west longitude north of Mt. St. Elias, a mere matter of geodetic survey, and secondly the determination of the line south of Mt. St. Elias, between British America and Alaska running to the parallel of 54 degrees and 40 minutes north latitude.

The argument of D. T. Watson of Pittsburgh in behalf of the contention of the United States is believed to have had much to do with the decision reached. Mr. Watson's argument was so lucid and his array of facts and figures so unassailably accurate that the most determined assaults of the British representatives made no impression upon them. Lord Alverstone at the close of Mr. Watson's argument showed by his demeanor that his belief in the British case had been shaken, and although his remarks took the form of a non-committal tribute to the speaker's ability, the facts presented in such masterly style had evidently produced important results.

took the 6:20 train at Union station for her home in Edgewood. The train arrives at 6:45 o'clock, and the walk from the station to her home usually consumed five minutes. F. C. Besche, who is the buyer for the drapery department at McClintock's, lives next door to the Garretts at No. 108 Ivy street, and frequently goes to Edgewood in the evening on the same train. Some times they walked together to the girl's home.

Besche stated last night that about a year ago he and Miss Garrett alighted from the train one evening together. Miss Garrett came up to him and asked him to walk to her home with her, as she was afraid of Seignor. The girl told Besche then that she feared Seignor would do her harm. It was evident, says Besche, Seignor was about the station, but he does not know the man by sight and is not sure. He walked to the girl's home with her and nothing happened.

Girl Walked Home Alone.

Besche was on the 6:20 train last night, as was Miss Garrett. Besche rode in the smoking car at the front part of the train. He alighted before Miss Garrett and walked toward his home ahead of her. Miss Garrett followed him about 20 yards to the rear.

To reach her home Miss Garrett crosses the railroad tracks at Edgewood and walks on the pavement along Pennsylvania avenue, which follows the tracks. She had to walk up a short hill to Lincoln avenue, then to Ivy street to her home.

Directly across the tracks is a large lawn. In the rear of which is a stately residence. The lawn fronts on Pennsylvania avenue and on Swissvale avenue, while the house has sides on Pennsylvania avenue and on Swissvale avenue. The property formerly was owned by C. C. Mellor, but is now occupied by Dr. S. S. Stewart and family. The lawn runs about 300 yards up Pennsylvania avenue. On it are clumps of bushes and large weeping willow trees. On the other side of the street is a rail, a protection against the steep incline to the railroad tracks. The spot is a very lonely one and such as a crafty murderer would select to do a dastardly deed.

Seignor Laid in Waiting.

Seignor, who arrived on the train before Miss Garrett, he having been seen before the train arrived, concealed himself in a clump of bushes halfway from the foot of the lawn and the residence and about 15 feet from the pavement. Seignor drew his revolver and covered it with his pocket handkerchief, fearful possibly he could not recognize Miss Garrett until she was close by, as the shades of night were fast gathering and he did not wish any one else to see the shining barrel of his fully loaded 38-caliber revolver and thwart him in his deed.

Thus Seignor lay in wait for his victim. Miss Garrett walked slowly up the hill in back of Mr. Besche on her way to her home and to her dinner. When a short distance past him, Seignor jumped out of the bushes and fired a shot at the girl, the ball entering her back at the right side and passing through the liver.

Miss Garrett cried "I'm shot," and turned toward the assassin.

The man then fired another shot at the girl, which entered her left breast over the heart. The girl fell to the ground. Seignor rushed down the street a few feet and then darted across the lawn.

Seignor Was Recognized.

When he heard the shots Besche ran to the girl's assistance and was just in time to see the retreating figure of Seignor. Besche turned his attention to the girl, and after placing her in a comfortable position rushed for assistance.

Seignor went across the lawn and, selecting a spot beneath a tree, made a slash at his throat. The razor was dull and made but a slight scratch. Then the man placed the razor in front of his throat and forced the blade in, severing the windpipe in twain, but not touching the jugular vein. Not satisfied with his work, Seignor placed the revolver to his right temple and fired.

The bullet entered the base of the brain in front of his head and went across to the other side, lodging there. Seignor must have fired another shot at himself, for the revolver when found showed a fourth shot had been attempted, but the cartridge was defective and would not explode. The impression of the hammer was plainly seen on the cartridge and the trigger was not cocked when the revolver was picked up.

Physician Gave No Hope.

Besche notified Miss Garrett's parents and hastily secured a cart, as the girl was removed to her home and Drs. R. R. Jones and James Hodgkinson summoned. After a hasty examination Dr. Jones said the girl could not possibly live more than 24 hours.

Seignor's body was found by Policeman James Miles, A. F. Emmons, a resident of the borough, and B. S. Kiehl, assistant ticket agent at Edgewood. The body was discovered at about 7 o'clock. Close by was found the bloody razor and revolver and the burned and bloody handkerchief, which was full of bullet holes. Emmons and Keihl carried the man to the station and immediately notified the Pittsburgh police. The man was placed on the 7:08 train and brought to Pittsburgh.

When the train arrived a patrol wagon and a squad of officers were at Union station and the man was rushed to the Homeopathic hospital. In seven minutes after the man reached Pittsburgh he was on the operating table and Dr. James Clark Logan was endeavoring to relieve his pain and save his life.

Seignor's clothes were searched before he was taken to Pittsburgh and the papers and letters found were turned over to Mahlon H. Garland, surveyor of the Pittsburgh port, and chairman of the Edgewood police and fire board. In Seignor's pockets were several letters written in a feminine hand and unsigned. The letters cover a period of three years, and the last one was dated about two years ago. They are all addressed to Seignor. In one letter the writer speaks of the obstacles to their marriage and the fact that they are to be married eventually. Paradoxically, the feminine writer places at the bottom of each letter "Your devoted wife," but no name is appended. Among other letters is one evidently written by Seignor and addressed "To the public." It reads as follows:

I was driven to what I did, as she had me leave my wife and child for her and then deceived me. She worked me for nearly $2,000, for which I bought her clothes and paid bills and gave her all the money she wanted. She had me give up a good business I had in order to go out west and get a divorce, so she could live with me. I trusted her, but she deceived me and got me into trouble three times because I would not spend any more money on her. She deserved what she got. She drove me crazy, and I could not help what I did after making me leave my wife and child.

Product of a Diseased Mind.

Those who know Miss Garrett when they learned of the contents of the letter left by Seignor said it is merely the product of a deceased imagination. Miss Garrett bears an excellent reputation in Edgewood and has always lived with her family. She helps support the family and her mother, brother and sister scout the idea of any one paying her bills or buying her clothes.

Among the papers on Seignor's person was one which showed he had been paying his wife $4 per week under the alimony terms of the divorce until last January, when for $500 she waived all claims upon him. His divorced wife's first name is Nell, but her maiden name could not be learned. She lives with her parents in the East End. Seignor is a son of the late Conrad Seignor of Homewood. He was born here about 26 years ago and has always lived in this vicinity.

David S. Garrett, the girl's brother, who is younger than she, made the following statement last night:

Statement of Victim's Brother.

"I have known Seignor for about five years, but never liked him from the first. About a year ago, some time after he had stopped going with my sister, he started coming to the house to see me. At that time I was working at night at Union station, and during the daytime he came here and would get me out of bed and insist upon my going to a theater with him. On one or two occasions I went.

"He never mentioned my sister's name to me and never asked for her. I do not think he had seen her recently. One day I found he was telling tales about me and called him down for it, and refused to have anything to do with him. This was last June. Since then I have seen him a couple of times on the street, but never spoke to him."

Mr. Besche, who was the first to reach the girl's side after she was shot, said the following in regard to the walk up from the station he took with Miss Garrett a year ago:

"One evening Miss Garrett called to me at Edgewood station. I went over and she asked me to walk home with her. I had often done so before and would have done so any way had I seen her. Of course, I consented, and on the way up she told me she feared a man named Seignor. She said the man had been bothering her a good deal and thrusting his attentions on her when he was not wanted.

Girl Was Evidently Frightened.

"I inferred from her conversation he had threatened her, but I did not ask her and she did not give me any information. She was very much relieved when she reached her door, and after a hasty look around she thanked me and passed into the house. The incident was never mentioned between us after that."

Seignor rents a room from O. L. Schultze in Wilkinsburg. The latter stated last night Seignor had lived there for six months and was a very well behaved man.

"Seignor, so far as I know, never took a drink of liquor in his life," said Schultze. "He was a man of good habits, not accustomed to stay out late at night and was always very agreeable. I knew about his wife and his divorce, and he told me once he loved Miss Garrett, of whom he often spoke. I did not notice any change in him whatever. He went to his work early yesterday morning and did not make any unusual comment.

"I am at a loss to understand why he committed this deed. Also I cannot see what could have prompted him to write such a dastardly note as he left behind him. I had no idea he was having trouble with the girl. I met them together in Fifth avenue one afternoon within the past two months and they were laughing and joking together.

Practiced Upon the Piano.

"We all liked Seignor and he was given many more privileges than is customarily accorded a boarder. He began taking music lessons a few months ago, and we loaned him our piano to practice upon. He was very fond of music and would have made a good musician. The last lesson he took was on Wednesday afternoon."

Exactly what time Seignor arrived in Edgewood yesterday is not known, although it is believed he arrived there on the train prior to the one which brought out Miss Garrett. "Shorty," a negro expressman of the borough, when he saw the man placed on the train to be brought to Pittsburgh, said he saw him standing under a lamp post at the top of Pennsylvania avenue, about 300 yards from the scene of the tragedy, about 10 minutes before the 6:45 train arrived.

But little information concerning Miss Garrett's condition could be obtained, although the doctors say she cannot recover. At the Homeopathic hospital at 11:30 o'clock last night physicians stated Seignor could not live more than two hours. His breathing is done by means of a silver tube placed in his windpipe, but under ordinary circumstances this is very difficult.

The fact that the bullet in his brain has destroyed the nerves which control the action of the lungs made his breathing very uncertain and almost impossible for him to live. He, however, suffered but little from loss of blood, due mainly to the promptness with which he was taken to the hospital.

Miss Garrett is a very popular young woman in Edgewood and has hosts of friends in Pittsburgh. In addition to her remarkable beauty, she is very well educated, refined and quite bright. Her parents and friends are almost prostrated by the tragedy and greatly deplore the stigma which some may attach to Seignor's wild crime and the cowardly note he left.

Seignor is a short, slight young man, but is quite powerful. He has light hair and a light complexion and weighs about 110 pounds. The doctors at the Homeopathic hospital stated last night he showed unusual strength for one of his build, breaking numerous bonds they had placed about him to hold him to the operating table while they worked over him.

Ready to Start from the Frick Building to Meet the Contestants.

Unwin of the National Association of Automobile Manufacturers, who, with Windsor White, president of the White company; Fred Nickerson of the Pearce company; Frank Brown and Edward Retling, had led the way for the contestants on the great trip from New York. A turn was made and the machines started toward the city.

At the Superior street viaduct the sound of an automobile whistle was heard through the fog and a moment later the White machine, No. 5, driven by Webb Jay, was seen coming at a furious pace. It had captured the distinction of being the first to reach the city. Down Chartiers street, all cars struck a terrific gait. Street cars were stopped. Pedestrians and vehicles fled from the street and a clear right of way was given to the flying autos.

Arrival of First.

Up the hill to Ridge avenue the race was continued and down to the Fort Wayne railroad crossing near Arch street a halt was called to wait for other cars which were known to be close in the rear. The White's time at Ridge avenue was 11:49 a. m. Before proceeding to the garage the reception committee waited for five machines, which arrived in Allegheny in the following order:

Second—Columbia, No. 2, manufactured by the Electric Vehicle Company; driven by B. B. Holcomb, arrived at 12:22 p. m.

Third—White, No. 6, manufactured by the White Sewing Machine Company; driven by F. H. Deming, arrived at 12:36 p. m.

Fourth—Rambler, No. 26, manufactured by the H. H. Franklin Manufacturing Company; driven by W. H. Box, arrived at 12:41 p. m.

Fifth—Rambler, No. 18, manufactured by Thomas B. Jeffery & Co.; driven by Arthur Gardiner, arrived at 12:54 p. m.

Upon the arrival of the Rambler the caravan, headed by the official car of the local committee and the newspapermen, moved at 1 o'clock down Stockton avenue, across the Sixth street bridge to Fifth avenue and out the boulevard to the Hotel Schenley. The police arrangements in the city prevented the congestion of the thoroughfares, and the machines ran through the downtown section without delay.

Non-Contestants Cheered.

In the crowds there were many who imagined that the contest had been a race against time, and the non-contestants at the head of the column were cheered as the winners. Unexampled enthusiasm prevailed, and it was with difficulty that the crowds in Fifth avenue were kept from crowding up to the wheels of the machines.

The men who had made the trip from New York were easily recognized. In their rubber coats, oilskin caps and wire goggles they looked like sailors who had come in from a rough voyage. Their cars were covered with mud that had coated on the enamel of the machines when they passed through last week's storm in the Catskills. Everywhere a cheer was given and later in the day, when the latecomers came through the city, they were given the same hearty welcome.

At the Hotel Schenley a brief stop was made. Five hundred people, including many representatives of the automobile manufacturers, were gathered on the veranda to greet the racers. The machines then proceeded to the garage at Banker Bros'.

Hardest Part of Trip.

The run from Youngstown was considered by all concerned to have been over the worst section of road encountered, and the last relay rivaled the plodding through the storm on the second and third days of the contest. Nineteen cars checked at Youngstown on Wednesday night, and these were on the alert to start with the gong at 7 o'clock (central time) yesterday morning. Cars continued to arrive here until late last night.

The visitors rested at the Hotel Schenley during the afternoon, and last night came downtown in automobiles to attend the performances at the Avenue theater. The auditorium was profusely decorated with the colors of the local club, and a parody on "The Good Old Summer Time," written by James Francis Burke, was received with cheers when sung by a comedian. After the theater a smoker at the Hotel Henry closed the day's program.

Of the 34 machines which left New York yesterday a week ago, 29 had reached Pittsburgh at midnight and three others were reported on the way and were expected to reach here early this morning.

Fredonia Was Found.

There was a surprise at 7:33 p. m. when Fredonia, No. 10, arrived after having been lost for several days. Columbia, No. 2, lost at Buffalo, was said to be struggling over the hills east of Youngstown, and Knox, No. 24, was expected to reach here after a strenuous trip.

The official list of arrivals at the Pittsburgh garage is as follows:

Car	Arrived Pittsburgh
No. 5, White	2:00 p. m.
No. 7, Columbia	2:00 p. m.
No. 6, White	2:00 p. m.
No. 26, Franklin	2:00 p. m.
No. 18, Rambler	2:00 p. m.
No. 27, Franklin	2:04 p. m.
No. 29, Peerless	2:07 p. m.
No. 36, Locomobile	2:17 p. m.
No. 16, Packard	2:22 p. m.
No. 42, St. Louis	2:29 p. m.
No. 37, Pope-Tapperson	2:37 p. m.
No. 14, Arrow	2:40 p. m.
No. 23, Knox	2:51 p. m.
No. 39, Oldsmobile	2:58 p. m.
No. 12, Rambler	3:14 p. m.
No. 15, Pierce	3:44 p. m.
No. 41, Oldsmobile	5:40 p. m.
No. 10, Fredonia	7:33 p. m.

Rules Not Rigidly Enforced.

It was stated that the official rules would not be rigidly enforced in demerting contestants for failure to arrive at controls, and that more attention would be paid to the ability of cars to withstand the usage which mud and rain compelled them to endure. The observers on the machines will make their reports today to S. A. Miles, manager of the race, and the final decision will not be made as to the winner before tonight or tomorrow. The machines are now locked up in the garage and today will be spent in the official inspection of all machines.

The contestants were encouraged by the receipt of a telegram of congratulation from Albert R. Shattuck, president of the Automobile Club of America. The representatives of many of the leading motor car manufacturers were on hand to greet their drivers.

At the smoker at the Hotel Henry Mr. Burke acted as master of ceremonies and W. C. Temple welcomed the visitors to Pittsburgh. A score of veterans of the race made short addresses in which they recounted some of the amusing features of the trip. A negro quartet entertained the guests and all joined in singing Burke's parody.

STERNS PLANS WILD RUN BACK TO NEW YORK IN AUTOS

"I will send the Sterns machine back over the roads to New York against all records. With all the mishaps the car has suffered, I will show that for speed and endurance it will withstand the hardest knocks."

Such was the statement made yesterday by F. B. Sterns, after he had come in crippled from one of the most exciting and dramatic automobile runs ever made in this country. Along the road all the way from New York he had driven his 2,800-pound machine up hill and down, and at various points along the line had been cautioned against speeding. Mr. Sterns is the manufacturer, and drove his own machine. At times he attained a speed of 50 miles an hour, and was able to pass the fastest express trains when he encountered them on parallel tracks and found a clear headway.

Yesterday, however, misfortune attended him at every turn. At Beaver Falls he began a spurt to pass his competitors, and soon distanced all other machines. Going at a rate of 40 miles an hour on the road near Economy a team was frightened, and to avoid a collision the car was thrown into a ditch. The damage was soon repaired and the journey was resumed. Near Avalon a brewery wagon backed into the machine and the front wheels were bent. This was not of a serious nature in itself, but prevented the former speed being made. The steering gear did not respond, owing to the crippled condition of the machine, and a gravel wagon was struck at the High bridge in Bellevue. Here a delay of nearly two hours occurred, and the machine arrived sixth at the garage.

Mr. Sterns said he would send his machine back on Monday or Tuesday in charge of James Patton, who was mechanic on this trip. He expects all records in the present race to be eclipsed.

MACHINE HITS STEVENSON AND RECOGNIZES BRECK

before them. I also hereby authorize you to act as temporary chairman of the meeting."

The letter contained the roll of committeemen as made up by the Bigelow machine committee. According to the Breck men it is divided as follows:

E. T. Breck—J. J. O'Donnell, Philip Smith, H. J. Wagner, Daniel Moran, James Cain, Peter Leahney, Martin Croker, W. J. Craig, J. J. Doherty, D. J. Cone, E. H. Elford, J. H. McQuaide, T. J. Murray, Thomas McGinley, Harry Ricketts, Charles McAllister, A. J. Strickler, George Schneider, J. W. Harger, U. D. Booth, Frank McAllister, J. D. Robertson, George T. Parnes, Robert Lyness. Breck's total—24.

Doubtful—John Lowery.

W. J. Moore—John Nogle, J. F. Bieder, Patrick Meenan, Charles Smith, P. H. Lind, C. V. Batchelor, George A. Grier, B. F. Jones, Ray Toy, E. D. Wilt, W. J. Moore, Matthew Kinzer, P. S. Randolph, Harry Reamer, G. H. Bentz, Charles Anderson, A. W. Black, R. B. Jones, W. H. Stevenson, George W. Currin, Ben Lewis, Patrick McNamara. Moore's total—23.

The ward committee originally consisted of 48 members, but Lavin's committee decided to strike the name of Fred Kilchestain of the Third district from the roll, as he is accused of having become disgusted with the "reformers" and is now with the Republicans. The ward committee will have to fill the vacancy.

The Moore men claim Lowery and Schneider. This would increase their holdings to 24 and reduce Breck's to 23. The Moore men are also hopeful of Barnes. If Moore has Lowery and Schneider and can hold the rest of his men, he could win; but one of his close advisers is afraid that orders will be issued to Wilt, Binder, Meenan, Kinzer and Charles Smith, city employes, to turn in for Breck or lose their jobs. Under such conditions, Breck would win with ease. Friends of Stevenson expect such orders, as they believe that headquarters has decided to use the ax on the councilman.

Moore says that these 11 Democrats, under the Verner ruling, have no right to seats on the committee: O'Donnell, Philip Smith, Leahney, Croker, Craig, Doherty, Cone, McQuaide, Moran, Cain, Strickler. The Breck men on the payroll are O'Donnell and Craig.

The first news of the machine's action was given to Moore at 8 o'clock last night by The Gazette. He had not been supplied with the new roll of committeemen by headquarters. Breck was more fortunate.

HEROIC DEED RECALLED BY PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

brief description of the statue and then introduced William Tecumseh Sherman Thorndyke, who from the base of the pedestal pulled a cord and two immense national flags slowly parted, unveiling the statue of his grandfather. Attached to the cord was a bunch of flowers which the little fellow carried to the stand and presented to the president, who congratulated him warmly.

The president was introduced by Gen. Dodge. As he arose the veterans gave him round after round of cheers. His speech was frequently interrupted with applause. The president said:

Greatest War of Modern Times.

Today we meet together to do honor to the memory of one of the great men whom, in the hour of her agony, our nation brought forth for her preservation. The civil war was not only in the importance of the issues at stake and of the outcome the greatest of modern times, but it was also, taking into account its duration, the severity of the fighting, and the size of the armies engaged, the greatest since the close of the Napoleonic struggles. Among the generals who rose to high position as leaders of the various armies in the field are many who will be remembered in our history as long as this history itself is remembered. Sheridan, the incarnation of fiery energy and prowess; Thomas, far-sighted, cool-headed, whose steadfast courage burned ever highest in the supreme moment of the crisis; McClellan, with his extraordinary gift for organization; Meade, victor in one of the decisive battles of all time; Hancock, type of the true fighting man among the regulars; Logan, type of the true fighting man among the volunteers—the names of these and of many others will endure so long as our people hold sacred the memory of the fight for union and for liberty. High among these chiefs rise the figures of Grant and of Grant's great lieutenant, Sherman, whose statue here in the national capital is today to be unveiled. It is not necessary here to go over the long roll of Sherman's mighty feats. They are written large throughout the history of the civil war. Our memories would be poor indeed if we did not recall them now, as we look along Pennsylvania avenue and think of the great triumphal march which surged down its length when at the close of the war the victorious armies of the east and of the west met here in the capital of the nation they had saved.

There is a peculiar fitness in commemorating the great deeds of the soldiers who preserved this nation, by suitable monuments at the national capital. I trust we shall soon have a proper statue of Abraham Lincoln, to whom more than to any other one man this nation owes its salvation. Meanwhile, on behalf of the people of the nation, I wish to congratulate all of you who have been instrumental in securing the erection of this statue to Gen. Sherman.

The living can best show their respect for the memory of the great dead by the way in which they take to heart and act upon the lessons taught by the lives which made these dead men great. Our homage today to the memory of Sherman comes from the depths of our being. We would be unworthy citizens did we not feel profound gratitude toward him, and those like him and under him, who when the country called in dire need, sprang forward with such gallant eagerness to answer that call. Their blood and their toil, their endurance and patriotism, have made us and all who come after us forever their debtors. They left us not merely a reunited country, but a country incalculably greater because of its rich heritage in the deeds which thus left it reunited. As a nation we are the greater not only for the valor and devotion to duty displayed by the men in blue, who won in the great struggle for the Union, but also for the valor and the loyalty toward what they regarded as right of the men in gray; for this war, thrice fortunate above all other recent wars in its outcome, left to all of us the right of brotherhood alike with valiant victor and valiant vanquished.

Lessons to Be Learned.

Moreover, our homage must not only find expression on our lips: it must also show itself forth in our deeds. It is a great and glorious thing for a nation to be stirred to present triumph by the splendid memories of triumphs in the past. But it is a shameful thing for a nation, if these memories stir it only to empty boastings, to a pride that does not shrink from present abasement, to that self-satisfaction which accepts the high resolve and unbending effort of the father as an excuse for effortless ease or wrongly directed effort in the son. We of the present, if we are true to the past, must show by our lives that we have learned aright the lessons taught by the men who did the mighty deeds of the past. We must have in us the spirit which made the men of the civil war what they were; the spirit which produced leaders such as Sherman; the spirit which gave to the average soldier the grim tenacity and resourcefulness that made the armies of Grant and Sherman as formidable fighting machines as this world has ever seen. We need their ruggedness of body, their keen and vigorous minds, and above all their dominant quality of forceful character. Their lives teach us in our own strife to strive after not the thing which is merely pleasant, but the thing which it is our duty to do. The life of duty, not the life of mere ease or mere pleasure—that is the kind of life which makes the great man as it makes the great nation.

We cannot afford to lose the virtues which made the men of '61 to '65 great in war. No man is warranted in feeling pride in the deeds of the army and navy of the past if he does not back up the army and navy of the present. If we are far-sighted in our patriotism, there will be no let up in the work of building and of keeping at the highest point of efficiency a navy suited to the part the United States must hereafter play in the world, and of making and keeping our small regular army, which in the event of a great war can never be anything but the nucleus around which our volunteer armies must form themselves, the best army of its size to be found among the nations.

Patriotism in Peace.

So much for our duties in keeping sustained the honor won our fathers made in war. It is of even more instant need that we should show their spirit of patriotism in the affairs of peace. The duties of peace are with us always; those of war are but occasional; and with a nation as with a man, the worthiness of life depends upon the way in which the every-day duties are done. The home duties are the vital duties. The nation is nothing but the aggregate of the families within its border; and if the average man is not hard-working, just and fearless in his dealings with those about him, then our average of public life will in the end be low; for the stream can rise no higher than its source. But in addition we need to remember that a peculiar responsibility rests upon the man in public life. We meet in the capital of the nation, in the city which owes its existence to the fact that it is the seat of the national government. It is well for us in this place, and at this time, to remember that exactly as there are certain homely qualities the lack of which will prevent the most brilliant man alive from being a useful soldier to his country, so there are certain homely qualities for the lack of which in the public servant no shrewdness or ability can atone. The greatest leaders, whether in war or in peace, must of course show a peculiar quality of genius, but the most redoubtable armies that have ever existed have been redoubtable because the average soldier, the average officer, possessed to a high degree such comparatively simple qualities as loyalty, courage and hardihood. And so the most successful governments are those in which the average public servant possesses that variant of loyalty which we call patriotism, together with common sense and honesty.

We can no more afford to tolerate a dishonest man in the public service as a coward in the army. The murderer takes a single life, the corruptionist in public life, whether he be bribe giver or bribe taker, strikes at the heart of the commonwealth. In every public service, as in every army, there will be wrongdoers, there will occur misdeeds. This cannot be avoided; but vigilant watch must be kept, and as soon as discovered the wrongdoing must be stopped and the wrongdoers punished. Remember that in popular government we must rely on the people themselves, alike for the punishment and the reformation. Those upon whom our institutions cast the initial duty of bringing malefactors to the bar of justice must be diligent in its discharge; yet in the last resort the success of their efforts to purge the public service of corruption must depend upon the attitude of the courts and of the juries drawn from the people. Leadership is of avail only as far as there is wise and resolute public sentiment behind it.

In the long run, then, it depends upon us ourselves, upon us the people as a whole, whether this government is or is not to stand in the future as it has stood in the past; and my faith that it will show no falling off is based upon my faith in the character of our average citizenship. The only supreme duty is to try to keep this average high. To this end it is well to keep alive the memory of those men who are fit to serve as examples of what is loftiest and best in American citizenship. Such a man was Gen. Sherman. To very few in any generation is it given to render such services as he rendered; but each of us in his degree can try to show something of those qualities of character upon which, in their sum, the high worth of Sherman rested—his courage, his kindliness, his clean and simple living, his sturdy good sense, his manliness and tenderness in the intimate relations of life, and finally, his inflexible rectitude of soul and his loyalty to all that in this free republic is hallowed and symbolized by the national flag.

As soon as the applause following the president's address had subsided, David B. Henderson of Iowa, former speaker of the house of representatives, spoke on behalf of the army of the Cumberland, eulogizing Gen. Sherman.

Mr. Henderson referred to both Guiteau and Czolgosz as the "horrid, damnable manifestations of our national growth."

For the Society of the Army of the Tennessee, Representative Charles H. Grosvenor of Ohio paid an eloquent tribute to Sherman.

Gen. Thomas J. Henderson of Illinois eulogized Sherman on behalf of the Society of the Army of the Ohio. Speaking for the Society of the Army of the Potomac, Gen. Daniel E. Sickles said:

"Sherman fills a conspicuous page in the history of great commanders. He will always hold high rank in the estimation of Americans as one of our foremost heroes. He is grouped with Sheridan and Thomas among the chief lieutenants of Grant."

BIG HEBREW CLUB.

One Is Organized to Work for Republican Ticket in the Eleventh Ward.

The Hebrews of the Eleventh ward have organized a Republican club. It starts with a big membership. Many of the members were formerly Citizen supporters.

The Republican district associations of the Fourth and Fifth districts of the Eleventh ward held big meetings at the Center avenue headquarters last night. The building was crowded at each meeting.

Frank Burton yesterday resigned as a member of Engine Company No. 3. He said that he is disgusted with Bigelow machine methods and has gone to work for the whole Republican ticket.

The Republican rally in old city hall tomorrow night promises to be the biggest meeting of the campaign. The old soldiers are in charge of the arrangements and the speeches will all be made by veterans of the civil war. The principal orators will be Gen. Thomas J. Stewart and Col. Thomas V. Cooper.

Republican headquarters for the Fourteenth ward have been opened at Forbes and Atwood streets. Nightly meetings will be held and instructions will be given on how to mark the new ballot.

The Pianola Provides

A Short Road to Musical Achievement.

Even with natural talent it takes years of study and unremitting practice to become a piano player. Then the piano artist must devote many hours a day to his exercises in order to maintain his technique.

There is a shorter road to musical achievement.

The Pianola relieves you of laborious effort and much study and practice. It supplies that which you strive many years to accomplish. The Pianola provides all the knowledge required, in order to play the piano with artistic, musical feeling. That is, of course, if you have even the least fondness for music.

Although anyone can produce good music with the Pianola, the first time he tries it, this instrument permits the performer to progress in the art even more rapidly than the person who must go through the tedious and expensive process of taking lessons. Those who have had a little experience with the Pianola are capable of rendering music equal to that of the most celebrated virtuosi.

The technique of the Pianola is always correct and artistic. The tempo and expression are perfectly under your control. The Pianola is alike interesting to the artist and the novice and is popular with all lovers of music.

With the aid of the Pianola you can play any make of piano.

DOWIE'S ZIONIST HOST VIEWS NIAGARA FALLS

Preachers Protest Against Permitting Him to Preach in Prospect Park.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BUFFALO, Oct. 15.—Seven train loads of John Alexander Dowie's restoration host, bound for New York, arrived here today, and after spending a few hours at Niagara Falls, resumed their pilgrimage to New York. Six of the trains carried about 2,000 Zionists and the seventh was the prophet's special train. Each of the trains was in charge of 40 Zion city guards.

It has been announced that Dr. Dowie would hold a meeting in Prospect park upon his arrival at the Falls. Several local preachers called upon Assistant Superintendent Perry and lodged a protest against the use of the public park for missionary work by the Zionites. When Dr. Dowie's lieutenants asked for permission to erect a stand their request was refused. Dr. Dowie, when informed that he was met with a message for his assistant superintendent, stating that he had no intention to violate the law, and that he merely wished to hold a short song and prayer service in the park and incidentally have the meeting photographed. Mr. Perry granted the permit to that extent. The special trains left for New York this evening.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—A Baltimore & Ohio train having aboard about 500 of the Dowie restoration host on their way from Chicago to New York, arrived here at midnight. After a stop over of an hour, which was devoted to sightseeing, the party left for New York. Another train carrying about 250 Dowieites arrived on the Pennsylvania railroad in the afternoon. The visitors spent the time here sightseeing and late tonight left for New York.

Two of the Dowie parties passed through Pittsburgh yesterday on their way east.

ORPHANS GIVE LETTERS' TEXT

The "Orphans" yesterday made public the text of the letters sent by them to Murry A. Verner and John S. Lambie, president of select council, asking them to have a meeting of that branch called to act upon the reform legislation which the Orphans demand. The letters were forwarded yesterday morning by messenger to the two addresses, but no answer was received. In fact, an answer in the shape of a letter was not expected. If a meeting of select council is called this week the orphans will consider that their request has been answered in the affirmative; if no meeting is called they will hold that it has been refused.

Both letters were signed by the following, all but City Controller John B. Larkin being common councilmen: J. P. Shaw, Sixth ward; Charles C. Schad, Thirteenth ward, J. B. Larkin and W. H. Stevenson, Fourteenth; Thomas O'Brien, Sixteenth; C. S. Crawford, Twentieth; George W. McNeil and W. K. Wymard, Twenty-first ward; W. B. Wolfe, Twenty-second ward; Fred Beehner, Twenty-third ward; J. P. Baldauf and Gebhart Sahner, Twenty-seventh; Jacob Soffel, Jr., Thirty-second ward; W. C. Reitz, Thirty-fifth ward; I. W. Shearer, Seventeenth ward. The letter to Mr. Verner reads:

Up to Citizens Party.

We, the undersigned, citizens and taxpayers of the city of Pittsburgh, realizing the importance of the passage of the ordinance known as the Baltimore & Ohio railroad ordinance, and the ordinance known as the linear tax ordinance as amended, and also realizing the importance of having the ordinance known as the Duquesne railroad ordinance passed, with the proper amendments providing for the joint use with other railroads, and providing for a fair compensation to the city of Pittsburgh; and believing that the Citizens' party has sufficient influence over select council to bring about the immediate passage of these ordinances, and having been led from time to time to believe that these ordinances would be passed in select council before the November election, we very respectfully request you to have a sufficient number of your friends in council sign a call for a meeting of select council this week, so that these ordinances may be considered and passed.

The letter to Mr. Lambie is as follows:

We, the undersigned, citizens and taxpayers of the city of Pittsburgh, realizing the importance of the passage in your council of the ordinance known as the Baltimore & Ohio railroad ordinance, and the ordinance known as the linear tax ordinance as amended, and also realizing the importance of having the ordinance known as the Duquesne railroad ordinance passed in your council, with the proper amendments providing for the joint use with other railroads of the franchise, and providing for a fair compensation to the city of Pittsburgh for the franchise, and realizing the importance of having these measures brought before your council and passed immediately, we very respectfully request you to call a special meeting of select council to convene this week for the purpose of considering these measures.

A Matter of Courtesy.

Until late yesterday afternoon the "orphans" refused to make public the contents of the letters, and it was not until 5 o'clock, after a conference held in Controller Larkin's office by Mr. Larkin, Mr. Stevenson and Charles S. Crawford, president of common council, that Mr. Crawford was authorized to give out copies of the letters. Before doing so Mr. Crawford said:

"We have persistently declined today to give out contents of these letters for publication, because we thought it was only courteous to give Mr. Lambie and Mr. Verner the opportunity of doing so. The letters are merely polite requests; there is nothing harsh in them, and we see no impropriety in making them public, especially as it has come to us from many sources that the recipients declined to do so. Now, as for our reasons for writing the letters: After the close of this week there will be only two weeks in which councils can act on the measures mentioned in the letters. We were afraid that any delays in calling council together might, therefore, endanger this legislation that the people generally favor. We desired to have the legislation adopted before the election; we felt that it ought to be passed by somebody before election, for we believe that after the election it will be impossible to pass it.

"The newspapers say these men have promised to adopt the ordinances mentioned in the letters, and we think that promise ought to be fulfilled before election.

"We have signed the letters, not as councilmen, but as citizens. We do not wish to stand as councilmen dictating to other councilmen."

"Did you expect a formal answer to these letters?"

"Oh, no!" he replied. "No answer is necessary."

"Does that mean that the real answer will be the result that may follow, either a meeting or not a meeting?"

"Exactly."

President John S. Lambie was visited at his office by Select Councilmen Samuel J. Wainwright and John Upperman. Previous to their visit Mr. Lambie was asked what answer he would make to the letter sent him by the "Orphans."

"I have decided to take matters into my own hands," said Mr. Lambie.

What Lambie Means.

"Does that mean that you have decided to call a meeting of select council this week?" he was asked.

"Well, you can put it that way," he replied.

Mr. Upperman and Mr. Wainwright, before seeing Mr. Lambie, were questioned about a possible meeting of select council. Mr. Wainwright said that earlier in the week Mr. Lambie had told him he would not call a meeting of select council until the select council's committee on public works had acted on the ordinance repealing the Virgin alley widening ordinance, so that the select branch could handle it as well as the ordinances advocated by the "Orphans."

After Upperman and Wainwright had their interview with Lambie he was asked again if he would call select council.

"Not this week," he answered.

"Will you call it for Monday?"

"I decline to answer that question," he responded.

APOSTOLIC BENEDICTION RECEIVED IN PITTSBURGH

"ROME, Oct. 15, 1903.

"Mgr. Phelan, bishop of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, Pa.

"The holy father requests your lordship to impart to the Catholic Mutual Benefit association the apostolic benediction asked for.

"MERY DEL VAL."

The above is the translation of a cablegram in Latin received by the Catholic Mutual Beneficial association convention from the vatican yesterday afternoon. The signature is that of the private secretary of Pope Pius X.

The message was in answer to a cablegram sent by the association congratulating the pope upon his accession and asking the apostolic benediction.

The cablegram was received while the convention was in session, and when it was announced everybody arose and remained standing reverently while it was read. Shortly after the convention adjourned finally.

The report of the committee of 15 on the scaling of certificates, hazardous and prohibitory classes, was adopted by the convention after some amendments had been made.

It was decided that the order would affiliate with the Federation of Catholic societies, and provision was made for the election of six representatives to the latter society's convention, to be held in Detroit in July, 1904. The supreme president and one delegate from each of five grand councils will make up the representation.

Detroit was decided on as the place of the next triennial convention, which will begin on the second Thursday in October, 1906. A vote of thanks was tendered the people of Pittsburgh for the hospitality shown towards the convention.

Supreme committee on laws—M. J. McMahon, Pittsburgh; W. A. Cartier, Ludington, Mich.; Herman Preusser, Cleveland.

Legal advisor—J. T. Keens, Detroit.

The selection of a spiritual advisor will be made by the board of trustees.

COMMISSIONERS MEET DIRECTORS

Changes in Morgue System to Follow Recommendations of Funeral Men.

KNOWN BODIES TO GO HOME

Remarkable Statement That 33 Diseases Spread Contagion After Death Was Made to County Board—Embalming Necessary in All Cases.

A delegation representing every funeral director of Allegheny county, consisting of Directors Beinhauer, Carney, Lowry and Riel, met with the county commissioners and controller yesterday afternoon to present the views and make recommendations of the funeral directors regarding the action of the commissioners and controller in abolishing embalming of certain kinds of bodies taken to the Allegheny county morgue. The committee was advised to make its recommendations in writing, when the commissioners and controller would take action. The remarkable statement that the odors arising from the dead bodies of persons are contagious in case of death from any one of 33 diseases was made, and that embalming should take place immediately was urged.

The commissioners and controller will hereafter attempt to regulate the action of the coroner in the matter of bodies taken to the morgue, as they pass upon all the bills. Only the bodies of unknown dead will be recognized hereafter as belonging properly to the morgue, it is said, and in cases of sudden deaths of persons whose homes or relatives are known the coroner will be asked to have them conveyed to their homes and not to the morgue.

Last month, it is stated, out of 73 sudden and accidental deaths, 72 of the bodies were taken to the morgue, while in that number but four or five were unknown. It is contended by the commissioners that the expense of attending all known cases should develop upon the relatives and not on the county, and that it is entirely unnecessary to use the morgue for that class.

The committee of funeral directors told the commissioners that every body should be embalmed immediately after death, as small veins corroded and the fluid could not be forced through them unless done immediately. If the coroner and morgue officials depended upon refrigerating the body would change color as soon as taken from the ice box. Some bodies, they said, require four quarts of fluid and others as much as five gallons.

Many other facts were adduced for the benefit of the commissioners, and before the meeting adjourned it was agreed that the Funeral Directors' association should make recommendations which would be considered by the commissioners. The committee promised to call a meeting at once and adopt what was considered necessary to the preservation of the public health and of dead bodies.

The commissioners say they will be willing to have the coroner embalm all bodies that properly belong to the morgue and all others should be embalmed at the homes of the dead. The refrigerating plant will be used in connection with the embalming. It is understod that the commissioners will recommend that in event of sudden death inquiries be made as to whether the person is known. If so, the morgue wagon will convey it to the home. If the case occurs in a hospital, and the person was a paid patient, the hospital ambulance should be used instead of the morgue wagon. If a charity patient and unknown, the morgue wagon would be utilized. In police cases the patrol wagons would be called to convey the bodies to homes or to the morgue.

DEMOCRATS ADOPT A NEW CAMPAIGN PLAN

City Will Be Divided Into Five Districts—William J. Brennen Makes a Speech.

To cure apathy on the part of the Democrats and make every one of them believe that he is carefully watched the Citizens-Democratic party last night imposed a new scheme upon the Democratic city committee. Chairman James A. Clark was authorized to divide the city into five districts, each with a chairman and a secretary.

The city committee met in Elks' hall, Fifth avenue and Smithfield street. About 70 members were present. Alderman C. F. Anderson moved that the city chairman be authorized to divide the city into four or five districts, each to have a chairman and a secretary under the city chairman. The motion was adopted. Anderson moved that the city indorse the Democratic county ticket, as agreed upon by the county committee. William J. Brennen seconded this, and it was adopted, amended to include an indorsement of the Democratic state ticket.

William J. Brennen responded with an eloquent eulogy on the Democratic party and an arraignment of the Republican party. He said it was natural there should be some dissatisfaction after the victory of February, but he asked his hearers not to be displeased because of the manner in which the offices were distributed. He spoke of the importance of getting out the full Democratic vote, as upon this vote depended the representation of Allegheny Democrats in the state convention, which will elect delegates to the Democratic national convention.

The speaker touched on the Duquesne way railroad franchise, that measure passed common council because all the Republicans and most of the Citizens party's members voted for it. The only ones opposed to it were the "Orphans," headed by William H. Stevenson and W. C. Reitz. Mr. Brennen said, in speaking of that ordinance, that it had never been contemplated, when the Citizens party made a pledge to exact compensation for franchises, that railroads bringing raw material into Pittsburgh and carrying away the finished product made by Pittsburgh workingmen should be taxed.

Chairman Clark said he would make public today the limits of the five districts suggested by Alderman Anderson and the names of the chairmen and secretaries.

BIGELOW'S STATEMENT.

Edward M. Bigelow, director of the department of public works, yesterday gave out a statement alleging that the bureau of construction had up to October 1 done more work than was done in the previous year; that every portion of the city had felt the "good results" of that activity and the map of the bureau of construction showed dozens of streets improved in various parts of the city.

The statement shows that until October 1, $981,000 has been paid for grading, paving, curbing, building and repairing bridges, repairing and repaving streets, laying boardwalks and constructing sewers. Of the total amount the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston railroad paid $90,000 for paving streets along its right of way. The amount of $981,000 expended has been increased, the statement says, to nearly $1,000,000 since October 1.

Mr. Bigelow does not refer to the fact and does not try to explain why the people complain that, notwithstanding the expenditures of nearly $1,000,000, the streets are in worse condition than they ever were before.

DECIDE TO RAISE A DEFENSE FUND

Winds Up With a Banquet at Central Turner Hall—New Officers Are Elected, a Pittsburgher Among Them—Revised Constitution and Bylaws.

The National Retail Liquor Dealers' Association of the United States closed its eleventh annual convention with a banquet at the Central Turner hall, in Forbes street, last night. The delegates will leave for their homes today and will meet about this time next year at the Louisiana Purchase exposition, St. Louis. A revised constitution and by-laws were adopted with provisions for raising a fund every year for the defense of liquor men's interests in state legislatures and congress. The annual contribution for this fund will be about $100,000.

The scheme for the erection of a $250,000 building in Washington received much encouragement in the convention, and the building committee will proceed at once to solicit subscriptions of stock toward the enterprise. Building will commence two years hence.

There was little time yesterday for anything but business and the session adjourned barely in time for the delegates to reach the banquet hall. During the afternoon the various representatives were kept busy distributing souvenirs. Memorial bottles of rye whisky were handed out by William Rennick, who was hailed in the convention as the "feud delegate" from Kentucky. Local dealers gave the visitors pretty keepsakes in return.

In the election of officers there were but two changes. Alexander D. Newman, first vice president, retired in favor of Hugh Dolan of New York, who was elected to succeed him, and Senator Charles Schweickhardt of St. Louis was elected treasurer to succeed Anton Hauber of Wilmington, Del. The other officers are E. L. Jordan, Washington, president; R. J. Halle, Chicago, secretary; John McEntee, Jersey City, financial secretary; Thomas F. Lally, Minneapolis, second vice president; Frank Stallo, Baltimore, third vice president, and P. H. Nolan, New York, national organizer. Theodore Huckestein of Pittsburgh was elected an auditor and member of the national executive committee.

Weather—Cloudy. Friday, October 16, 1903.

New Shirtwaist Suits of Cloth.

While there are shirtwaist suits of silks and cotton stuffs galore, we believe we are the first to show the new cloth Shirtwaist Suit. We presume if they were elsewhere the newspapers would have said so quickly. Again, we are first to show these new suits. And we want to say they are admirable in every way—being practical either for indoor or outdoor wear.

One special number to which we call particular attention is priced at $20.00. There is black, blue, brown. The waist is side pleated, both front and back; sleeves have large pleats, and are finished with cuffs; skirt has 13 gores, is flared, and each gore is finished with two side pleats. These new cloth Shirtwaist Suits having been brought out for cold weather wear necessarily have the walking length skirt.

$4.75 for Walking Skirts Worth $10.00.

We could write a whole column about this skirt—as the newspaper men say—padding it out—and not tell half as much as is said in the head. We presume some women will take the statement of a $10.00 skirt for $4.75 with some grains of allowance. Take all the grains you want, shake them up well, the fact still remains, these skirts are worth $10.00, and we are going to sell them for $4.75. Here's the story:

The cloth in these skirts are lengths left of materials used for full suits, and no more of the same cloth being obtainable, we had all the short lengths made up into separate skirts. Some of the suits made of these same goods we are today selling for $25.00 and $35.00. Choice of cloths is zibeline, men's wear cloths in all combinations, wide wale, flake cheviot, Bannockburn tweeds, etc.; choice of colors is gray, brown, blue, green, mixtures. The skirts are made with wide straps and yoke effects—hem closely stitched.

Tailored Suits at $15.00—An extra grade of shaggy zibeline in gray and blue, long coat with collarless blouse, lined with taffeta, fancy turned-back cuffs. A limited number of these suits for $15.00, the real value being $20.00.

Tailored Suits $25.00—Choice from walking and dress lengths—in cheviots, tweeds, mixtures—black, blue, brown. Newest models of long and medium length coats, either fly or blouse front, many of them being taken from higher priced lines that are to be discontinued or which are broken in size and of which we can obtain no more. Altogether a collection well worthy your time and attention.

$30.00—Walking Suits of black and blue unfinished cheviot, three-quarter length coat, inlaid velvet collar trimmed with braid, lined with taffeta silk; nine-gore flare skirt; each gore finished with knee pleat.

$35.00—Walking Suits of novelty cloth in two colors, three-quarter length coat, velvet collar, wide sleeves, entirely lined with silk, nine-gore skirt with wide flare.

$45.00—Street Suits of Peau de Soie, black, blue, brown, waist and skirt box pleated; pleats on waist finished with French knots; top of skirt stitched to form yoke; drop silk lining.

$50.00—Walking Suit in gun-metal shade of cloth, three-quarter length coat, trimmed with fancy braid, velvet and buttons; full silk lined; nine-gore skirt, welt seams.

Our Fine to Finest Coats for Women.

Of course the long frock coat is the prevailing style now, but there are many women who still prefer the neat jacket. We have every style to meet every taste.

$12.50 New light tan and castor kersey cloth coats, collarless style, double-breasted; plain coat sleeve with turnback cuff; lined throughout with self-colored satin.

$25.00. A new and very smart coat of gray mixed cloth, 50 inches long; double-breasted front, full box back held in place with belt; small bell-shaped sleeves, double capes; only the body of this coat is lined.

$19.50. Light tan covert coats, 28 inches long; fly front, fitted back, coat sleeve, lined throughout with tan taffeta.

$27.50. New ulsters of brownish mixed cloths, pleats in back, double-breasted front, velvet all around, double shoulder capes, pouch sleeves, body lined with tan satin.

$37.50. Dressy black zibeline coats, 30 inches long; fitted back, double-breasted, loose front; collarless style. All seams trimmed with fancy half-inch braid; fancy sleeves; cape trimmed with braid and fancy buttons.

In a general way we may say that we have the new tan coverts in lengths from 27 to 45 inches, from $19.50 up to $48.00. And in the same general way we may say that we have finer grades of black zibeline coats in all lengths from $45.00 up to $75.00.

Ivory and Tortoise Shell Goods.

In each case the genuine—hair brushes, mirrors, dressing combs, puff boxes, shoe horns, buttonhooks, all suggesting much of neatness for the holiday gift. Are we too early with our suggestions as to the holidays? Fine goods, you know, don't stay with us long, and sometimes it is difficult to duplicate.

These goods are to be found at the Notion counter, are our own direct importation, therefore much less in price than when offered in the regular way.

At the same counter—

Florodora Skirt Lifters—prevent the skirt from trailing in the dirt—very convenient and somewhat ornamental. 25c each and up to $1.00.

Bread Mixing in Three Minutes.

$2.25 for the Outfit.

Some inside facts on the subject of our deal with the manufacturers of the Three-Minute Bread Mixer. Don't usually make public such matters, but want to tell you how the price of $2.25 became possible.

Some two weeks since we made arrangements with the manufacturers to demonstrate their new invention—a Three-Minute Bread Mixer. The price set was $3. We asked them to let us cut this figure. They refused on the grounds that they were getting $5.00 each for them in the East. We sold such a great quantity that we were led to believe, were the price $2.25 instead of $3, we could sell 500 a month. So informed the manufacturers.

500 a month was too great a temptation for the manufacturers to resist. They capitulated. Here are the Three-Minute Bread Mixers for just $2.25. Demonstrations daily in the basement.

New Hot Water Bottles.

Extra quality, all of high grade rubber, outside covered with silk and wool, the covering woven in with the rubber, thus giving it a neat appearance and at the same time adding that soft feeling.

All sizes in stock from half-pint to three quarts, 50c each and up to $1.50.

Green Castile Soap, 10c a Pound.

This Green Castile Soap is made from olive oil, the best of basic substances. To introduce this particular brand we are selling large pound cakes for 10c. Little enough for a personal cleanser.

New Gilt Buttons.

Such is the demand for them manufacturers can scarcely meet it. The popular shapes. Medium to finest grades. 25c a dozen up to $2.50.

Pure Linen Handkerchiefs for Less Prices.

Women's Handkerchiefs, some heavy weight, some sheer, but each and every one of them every thread pure linen. A cotton handkerchief never finds its way into our store. Some plain linen, some initialed and embroidered, but sheer or heavy, plain or embroidered, all at specially attractive prices. A few briefly mentioned.

10c each for pure all-linen initialed Handkerchiefs, the initial hand-embroidered. 15c is the regular price.

12½c each for pure all-linen Handkerchiefs, and choice is either from sheer or heavy weight, as well as choice of either one-fourth or one-half-inch hem. 15c is the regular price.

12½c each for women's pure Linen Handkerchiefs, having a combination border of tape effect and drawn work. These handkerchiefs are unlaundered. If we had had them washed and ironed before going to you we could have said 25c.

12½c for women's unlaundered initial Handkerchiefs, the initials surrounded by neat embroidered spray. Like the handkerchief immediately preceding this initial handkerchief is also worth 25c.

The Kap-Top Broom.

Creating unusual interest in the Basement. Something entirely new—a broom with a metal cap protecting the upper half. The cap prevents the broom from spreading, no matter how hard the usage—makes it practicable to wash it in either hot or cold water after use, and further, it has a receptacle for the distribution of a disinfectant. Yet with all this the price is the same as that of a common, ordinary broom.

Demonstrations daily in the basement.

The "Palma."

To which, making the sentence complete, must be added Teneriffe Lace Constructer. A simple but ingenious device for making this lace.

We don't remember of introducing anything that interested women so generally, and which holds their undivided attention when they see the demonstration. It is demonstrated daily at table just to right of main entrance.

The Block Light.

An invention which, with the right kind of a mantle, gives out an intensely brilliant, though mellow light. Its brilliancy is of the power of 300 candles. You can take any three ordinary mantle lights, put them on full power, have a jet to which the Block Light is attached, and you will notice that the "Block" is equal to the other three lights.

Demonstrations daily in the basement.

ORPHANS GIVE LETTERS' TEXT

The "Orphans" yesterday made public the text of the letters sent by them to Murry A. Verner and John S. Lambie, president of select council, asking them to have a meeting of that branch called to act upon the reform legislation which the Orphans demand. The letters were forwarded yesterday morning by messenger to the two addresses, but no answer was received. In fact, an answer in the shape of a letter was not expected. If a meeting of select council is called this week the orphans will consider that their request has been answered in the affirmative; if no meeting is called they will hold that it has been refused.

Both letters were signed by the following, all but City Controller John B. Larkin being common councilmen: J. P. Shaw, Sixth ward; Charles C. Schad, Thirteenth ward; J. B. Larkin and W. H. Stevenson, Fourteenth; Thomas O'Brien, Sixteenth; C. S. Crawford, Twentieth; George W. McNeil and W. K. Wymard, Twenty-first ward; W. B. Wolfe, Twenty-second ward; Fred Beehner, Twenty-third ward; J. P. Baldauf and Gebhart Sahner, Twenty-seventh; Jacob Soffel, Jr., Thirty-second ward; W. C. Reitz, Thirty-fifth ward; I. W. Shearer, Seventeenth ward. The letter to Mr. Verner reads:

Up to Citizens Party.

We, the undersigned citizens and taxpayers of the city of Pittsburgh, realizing the importance of the passage of the ordinance known as the Baltimore & Ohio railroad ordinance, and the ordinance known as the linear tax ordinance as amended, and also realizing the importance of having the ordinance known as the Duquesne railroad ordinance passed, with the proper amendments providing for the joint use with other railroads, and providing for a fair compensation to the city of Pittsburgh, and believing that the citizens' party has sufficient influence over select council to bring about the immediate passage of these ordinances, and having been led from time to time to believe that these ordinances would be passed in select council before the November election, we very respectfully request you to have a sufficient number of your friends in council sign a call for a meeting of select council this week, so that these ordinances may be considered and passed.

The letter to Mr. Lambie is as follows:

We, the undersigned, citizens and taxpayers of the city of Pittsburgh, realizing the importance of the passage in your council of the ordinance known as the Baltimore & Ohio railroad ordinance, and the ordinance known as the linear tax ordinance as amended, and also realizing the importance of having the ordinance known as the Duquesne railroad ordinance passed in your council, with the proper amendments providing for the joint use with other railroads of the franchise, and providing for a fair compensation to the city of Pittsburgh for the franchise, and realizing the importance of having these measures brought before your council and passed immediately, we would very respectfully request you to call a special meeting of select council to convene this week for the purpose of considering those measures.

A Matter of Courtesy.

Until late yesterday afternoon the "Orphans" refused to make public the contents of the letters, and it was not until 5 o'clock, after a conference held in Controller Larkin's office by Mr. Larkin, Mr. Stevenson and Charles S. Crawford, president of common council, that Mr. Crawford was authorized to give out copies of the letters. Before doing so Mr. Crawford said:

"We have persistently declined today to give out contents of these letters for publication, because we thought it was only courteous to give Mr. Lambie and Mr. Verner the opportunity of doing so. The letters are merely polite requests; there is nothing harsh in them, and we see no impropriety in making them public, especially as it has come to us from many sources that the recipients declined to do so. Now, as for our reasons for writing the letters: After the close of this week there will be only two weeks in which councils can act on the measures mentioned in the letters. We were afraid that any delays in calling council together might, therefore, endanger this legislation, that the people generally favor. We desired to have the legislation adopted before the election; we felt that it ought to be passed by somebody before election, for we believe that after the election it will be impossible to pass it.

"The newspapers say these men have promised to adopt the ordinances mentioned in the letters, and we think that promise ought to be fulfilled before election.

"We have signed the letters, not as councilmen, but as citizens. We do not wish to stand as councilmen dictating to other councilmen."

"Did you expect a formal answer to these letters?"

"Oh, no!" he replied. "No answer is necessary."

"Does that mean that the real answer will be the result that may follow, either a meeting or not a meeting?"

"Exactly."

President John S. Lambie was visited at his office by Select Councilmen Samuel J. Wainwright and John Upperman. Previous to their visit Mr. Lambie was asked what answer he would make to the letter sent him by the "Orphans."

"I have decided to take matters into my own hands," said Mr. Lambie.

What Lambie Means.

"Does that mean that you have decided to call a meeting of select council this week?" he was asked.

"Well, you can put it that way," he replied.

Mr. Upperman and Mr. Wainwright, before seeing Mr. Lambie, were questioned about a possible meeting of select council. Mr. Wainwright said that earlier in the week Mr. Lambie had told him he would not call a meeting of select council until the select council's committee on public works had acted on the ordinance repealing the Virgin alley widening ordinance, so that the select branch could handle it as well as the ordinances advocated by the "Orphans."

After Upperman and Wainwright had their interview with Lambie he was asked again if he would call select council.

"Not this week," he answered.

"Will you call it for Monday?"

"I decline to answer that question," he responded.

Officers of Boys' Home to Meet.

The third annual meeting of the managers and the advisory board of the Boys' Industrial home will be held today at the home in Oakdale. After an inspection the election of officers will take place. The home has added a farm of 170 acres, costing $7,500, and located a mile from the school building. An effort is being made to raise enough to pay for it. Other things also are needed.

APOSTOLIC BENEDICTION RECEIVED IN PITTSBURGH

"ROME, Oct. 15, 1903.

"Mgr. Phelan, bishop of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, Pa.

"The holy father requests your lordship to impart to the Catholic Mutual Benefit association the apostolic benediction asked for.

"MERY DEL VAL."

The above is the translation of a cablegram in Latin received by the Catholic Mutual Beneficial association convention from the vatican yesterday afternoon. The signature is that of the private secretary of Pope Pius X.

The message was in answer to a cablegram sent by the association congratulating the pope upon his accession and asking the apostolic benediction.

The cablegram was received while the convention was in session, and when it was announced everybody arose and remained standing reverently while it was read. Shortly after the convention adjourned finally.

The report of the committee of 15 on the scaling of certificates, hazardous and prohibitory classes, was adopted by the convention after some amendments had been made.

It was decided that the order would affiliate with the Federation of Catholic societies, and provision was made for the election of six representatives to the latter society's convention, to be held in Detroit in July, 1904. The supreme president and one delegate from each of five grand councils will make up the representation.

Detroit was decided on as the place of the next triennial convention, which will begin on the second Thursday in October, 1906. A vote of thanks was tendered the people of Pittsburgh for the hospitality shown towards the convention.

Supreme committee on laws—M. J. McMahon, Pittsburgh; W. A. Cartier, Ludington, Mich.; Herman Preusser, Cleveland.

Supreme committee on finance—F. R. Foster, Massillon, O.; J. F. Fox, Bradford, Pa.; John B. Todenbier, Detroit.

Legal advisor—J. T. Keens, Detroit.

The selection of a spiritual advisor will be made by the board of trustees.

Remarkable Statement That 33 Diseases Spread Contagion After Death Was Made to County Board—Embalming Necessary in All Cases.

A delegation representing every funeral director of Allegheny county, consisting of Directors Beinhauer, Carney, Lowry and Riel, met with the county commissioners and controller yesterday afternoon to present the views and make recommendations of the funeral directors regarding the action of the commissioners and controller in abolishing embalming of certain kinds of bodies taken to the Allegheny county morgue. The committee was advised to make its recommendations in writing, when the commissioners and controller would take action. The remarkable statement that the odors arising from the dead bodies of persons are contagious in case of death from any one of 33 diseases was made, and that embalming should take place immediately was urged.

The commissioners and controller will hereafter attempt to regulate the action of the coroner in the matter of bodies taken to the morgue, as they pass upon all the bills. Only the bodies of unknown dead will be recognized hereafter as belonging properly to the morgue, it is said, and in cases of sudden deaths of persons whose homes or relatives are known the coroner will be asked to have them conveyed to their homes and not to the morgue.

Last month, it is stated, out of 73 sudden and accidental deaths, 72 of the bodies were taken to the morgue, while in that number but four or five were unknown. It is contended by the commissioners that the expense of attending all known cases should develop upon the relatives and not on the county, and that it is entirely unnecessary to use the morgue for that class.

The committee of funeral directors told the commissioners that every body should be embalmed immediately after death, as small veins corroded and the fluid could not be forced through them unless done immediately. If the coroner and morgue officials depended upon refrigerating the body would change color as soon as taken from the ice box. Some bodies, they said, require four quarts of fluid and others as much as five gallons.

Many other facts were adduced for the benefit of the commissioners, and before the meeting adjourned it was agreed that the Funeral Directors' association should make recommendations which would be considered by the commissioners. The committee promised to call a meeting at once and adopt what was considered necessary to the preservation of the public health and of dead bodies.

The commissioners say they will be willing to have the coroner embalm all bodies that properly belong to the morgue and all others should be embalmed at the homes of the dead. The refrigerating plant will be used in connection with the embalming. It is understod that the commissioners will recommend that in event of sudden death inquiries be made as to whether the person is known. If so, the morgue wagon will convey it to the home. If the case occurs in a hospital, and the person was a paid patient, the hospital ambulance should be used instead of the morgue wagon. If a charity patient and unknown, the morgue wagon would be utilized. In police cases the patrol wagons would be called to convey the bodies to homes or to the morgue.

DEMOCRATS ADOPT A NEW CAMPAIGN PLAN

City Will Be Divided Into Five Districts—William J. Brennen Makes a Speech.

To cure apathy on the part of the Democrats and make every one of them believe that he is carefully watched the Citizens-Democratic party last night imposed a new scheme upon the Democratic city committee. Chairman James A. Clark was authorized to divide the city into five districts, each with a chairman and a secretary.

The city committee met in Elks' hall, Fifth avenue and Smithfield street. About 70 members were present. Alderman C. F. Anderson moved that the city chairman be authorized to divide the city into four or five districts, each to have a chairman and a secretary under the city chairman. The motion was adopted. Anderson moved that the city indorse the Democratic county ticket, as agreed upon by the county committee. William J. Brennen seconded this, and it was adopted, amended to include an indorsement of the Democratic state ticket.

William J. Brennen responded with an eloquent eulogy on the Democratic party and an arraignment of the Republican party. He said it was natural there should be some dissatisfaction after the victory of February, but he asked his hearers not to be displeased because of the manner in which the offices were distributed. He spoke of the importance of getting out the full Democratic vote, as upon this vote depended the representation of Allegheny Democrats in the state convention, which will elect delegates to the Democratic national convention.

The speaker touched on the Duquesne way railroad franchise. That measure passed common council because all the Republicans and most of the Democratic party's members voted for it. The only ones opposed to it were the "Orphans," headed by William H. Stevenson and W. C. Reitz. Mr. Brennen said, in speaking of that ordinance, that it had never been contemplated, when the Citizens party made a pledge to exact compensation for franchises, that railroads bringing raw material into Pittsburgh and carrying away the finished product made by Pittsburgh workingmen should be taxed.

Chairman Clark said he would make public today the limits of the five districts suggested by Alderman Anderson and the names of the chairmen and secretaries.

BIGELOW'S STATEMENT.

Edward M. Bigelow, director of the department of public works, yesterday gave out a statement alleging that the bureau of construction had up to October 1 done more work than was done in the previous year, that every portion of the city had felt the "good results" of that activity and the map of the bureau of construction showed dozens of streets improved in various parts of the city.

The statement shows that until October 1, $981,000 has been paid for grading, paving, curbing, building and repairing bridges, repairing and repaving streets, laying boardwalks and constructing sewers. Of the total amount the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston railroad paid $60,000 for paving streets along its right of way. The amount of $981,000 expended has been increased, the statement says, to nearly $1,000,000 since October 1.

Mr. Bigelow does not refer to the fact and does not try to explain why the people complain that notwithstanding the expenditures of nearly $1,000,000, the streets are in worse condition than they ever were before.

DECIDE TO RAISE A DEFENSE FUND

Winds Up With a Banquet at Central Turner Hall—New Officers Are Elected, a Pittsburgher Among Them—Revised Constitution and Bylaws.

The National Retail Liquor Dealers' Association of the United States closed its eleventh annual convention with a banquet at the Central Turner hall, in Forbes street, last night. The delegates will leave for their homes today and will meet about this time next year at the Louisiana Purchase exposition, St. Louis. A revised constitution and by-laws were adopted with provisions for raising a fund every year for the defense of liquor men's interests in state legislatures and congress. The annual contribution for this fund will be about $100,000.

The scheme for the erection of a $250,000 building in Washington received much encouragement in the convention, and the building committee will proceed at once to solicit subscriptions of stock toward the enterprise. Building will commence two years hence.

There was little time yesterday for anything but business and the session adjourned barely in time for the delegates to reach the banquet hall. During the afternoon the various representatives were kept busy distributing souvenirs. Memorial bottles of rye whisky were handed out by William Rennick, who was hailed in the convention as the "feud delegate" from Kentucky. Local dealers gave the visitors pretty keepsakes in return.

In the election of officers there were but two changes. Alexander D. Newman, first vice president, retired in favor of Hugh Dolan of New York, who was elected to succeed him, and Senator Charles Schweickhardt of St. Louis was elected treasurer to succeed Anton Hauber of Wilmington, Del. The other officers are E. L. Jordan, Washington, president; R. J. Halle, Chicago, secretary; John McEntee, Jersey City, financial secretary; Thomas F. Lally, Minneapolis, second vice president; Frank Stallo, Baltimore, third vice president, and P. H. Nolan, New York, national organizer. Theodore Huckestein of Pittsburgh was elected an auditor and member of the national executive committee.

A Good Investment.

New Shirtwaist Suits of Cloth.

While there are shirtwaist suits of silks and cotton stuffs galore, we believe we are the first to show the new cloth Shirtwaist Suit. We presume if they were elsewhere the newspapers would have said so quickly. Again, we are first to show these new suits. And we want to say they are admirable in every way—being practical either for indoor or outdoor wear.

One special number to which we call particular attention is priced at $20.00. There is black, blue, brown. The waist is side pleated, both front and back; sleeves have large pleats, and are finished with cuffs; skirt has 13 gores, is flared, and each gore is finished with two side pleats. These new cloth Shirtwaist Suits having been brought out for cold weather wear necessarily have the walking length skirt.

$4.75 for Walking Skirts Worth $10.00.

We could write a whole column about this skirt—as the newspaper men say—padding it out—and not tell half as much as is said in the head. We presume some women will take the statement of a $10.00 skirt for $4.75 with some grains of allowance. Take all the grains you want, shake them up well, the fact still remains, these skirts are worth $10.00, and we are going to sell them for $4.75. Here's the story:

The cloth in these skirts are lengths left of materials used for full suits, and no more of the same cloth being obtainable, we had all the short lengths made up into separate skirts. Some of the suits made of these same goods we are today selling for $25.00 and $35.00. Choice of cloths is zibeline, men's wear cloths in all combinations, wide wale, flake cheviot, Bannockburn tweeds, etc.; choice of colors is gray, brown, blue, green, mixtures. The skirts are made with wide straps and yoke effects—hem closely stitched.

Tailored Suits at $15.00—An extra grade of shaggy zibeline in gray and blue, long coat with collarless blouse, lined with taffeta, fancy turned-back cuffs. A limited number of these suits for $15.00, the real value being $20.00.

Tailored Suits $25.00—Choice from walking and dress lengths—in cheviots, tweeds, mixtures—black, blue, brown. Newest models of long and medium length coats, either fly or blouse front, many of them being taken from higher priced lines that are to be discontinued or which are broken in size and of which we can obtain no more. Altogether a collection well worthy your time and attention.

$30.00—Walking Suits of black and blue unfinished cheviot, three-quarter length coat, inlaid velvet collar trimmed with braid, lined with taffeta silk; nine-gore flare skirt; each gore finished with knee pleat.

$35.00—Walking Suits of novelty cloth in two colors, three-quarter length coat, velvet collar, wide sleeves, entirely lined with silk, nine-gore skirt with wide flare.

$45.00—Street Suits of Peau de Soie, black, blue, brown, waist and skirt box pleated; pleats on waist finished with French knots; top of skirt stitched to form yoke; drop silk lining.

$50.00—Walking Suit in gun-metal shade of cloth, three-quarter length coat, trimmed with fancy braid, velvet and buttons; full silk lined; nine-gore skirt, welt seams.

Our Fine to Finest Coats for Women.

Of course the long frock coat is the prevailing style now, but there are many women who still prefer the neat jacket. We have every style to meet every taste.

$12.50 New light tan and castor kersey cloth coats, collarless style, double-breasted; plain coat sleeve with turnback cuff; lined throughout with self-colored satin.

$25.00. A new and very smart coat of gray mixed cloth, 50 inches long; double-breasted front, full box back held in place with belt; small bell-shaped sleeves, double capes; only the body of this coat is lined.

$19.50. Light tan covert coats, 28 inches long; fly front, fitted back, coat sleeve, lined throughout with tan taffeta.

$27.50. New ulsters of brownish mixed cloths, pleats in back, double-breasted front, velvet all around, double shoulder capes, pouch sleeves, body lined with tan satin.

$37.50. Dressy black zibeline coats, 30 inches long; fitted back, double-breasted, loose front; collarless style. All seams trimmed with fancy half-inch braid; fancy sleeves; cape trimmed with braid and fancy buttons.

In a general way we may say that we have the new tan coverts in lengths from 27 to 45 inches, from $19.50 up to $48.00. And in the same general way we may say that we have finer grades of black zibeline coats in all lengths from $45.00 up to $75.00.

Ivory and Tortoise Shell Goods.

In each case the genuine—hair brushes, mirrors, dressing combs, puff boxes, shoe horns, buttonhooks, all suggesting much of neatness for the holiday gift. Are we too early with our suggestions as to the holidays? Fine goods, you know, don't stay with us long, and sometimes it is difficult to duplicate.

These goods are to be found at the Notion counter, are our own direct importation, therefore much less in price than when offered in the regular way.

At the same counter—

Florodora Skirt Lifters—prevent the skirt from trailing in the dirt—very convenient and somewhat ornamental. 25c each and up to $1.00.

Bread Mixing in Three Minutes.

$2.25 for the Outfit.

Some inside facts on the subject of our deal with the manufacturers of the Three-Minute Bread Mixer. Don't usually make public such matters, but want to tell you how the price of $2.25 became possible.

Some two weeks since we made arrangements with the manufacturers to demonstrate their new invention—a Three-Minute Bread Mixer. The price set was $3. We asked them to let us cut this figure. They refused on the grounds that they were getting $5.00 each for them in the East. We sold such a great quantity that we were led to believe, were the price $2.25 instead of $3, we could sell 500 a month. So informed the manufacturers.

500 a month was too great a temptation for the manufacturers to resist. They capitulated. Here are the Three-Minute Bread Mixers for just $2.25. Demonstrations daily in the basement.

New Hot Water Bottles.

Extra quality, all of high grade rubber, outside covered with silk and wool, the covering woven in with the rubber, thus giving it a neat appearance and at the same time adding that soft feeling.

All sizes in stock from half-pint to three quarts, 50c each and up to $1.50.

Green Castile Soap, 10c a Pound.

This Green Castile Soap is made from olive oil, the best of basic substances. To introduce this particular brand we are selling large pound cakes for 10c. Little enough for a personal cleanser.

New Gilt Buttons.

Such is the demand for them manufacturers can scarcely meet it. The popular shapes. Medium to finest grades. 25c a dozen up to $2.50.

Pure Linen Handkerchiefs for Less Prices.

Women's Handkerchiefs, some heavy weight, some sheer, but each and every one of them every thread pure linen. A cotton handkerchief never finds its way into our store. Some plain linen, some initialed and embroidered, but sheer or heavy, plain or embroidered, all at specially attractive prices. A few briefly mentioned.

10c each for pure all-linen initialed Handkerchiefs, the initial hand-embroidered. 15c is the regular price.

12½c each for pure all-linen Handkerchiefs, and choice is either from sheer or heavy weight, as well as choice of either one-fourth or one-half-inch hem. 15c is the regular price.

12½c each for women's pure Linen Handkerchiefs, having a combination border of tape effect and drawn work. These handkerchiefs are unlaundered. If we had had them washed and ironed before going to you we could have said 25c.

12½c for women's unlaundered initial Handkerchiefs, the initials surrounded by neat embroidered spray. Like the handkerchief immediately preceding this initial handkerchief is also worth 25c.

The Kap-Top Broom.

Creating unusual interest in the Basement. Something entirely new—a broom with a metal cap protecting the upper half. The cap prevents the broom from spreading, no matter how hard the usage—makes it practicable to wash it in either hot or cold water after use, and further, it has a receptacle for the distribution of a disinfectant. Yet with all this the price is the same as that of a common, ordinary broom.

Demonstrations daily in the basement.

The "Palma."

To which, making the sentence complete, must be added Teneriffe Lace Constructer. A simple but ingenious device for making this lace.

We don't remember of introducing anything that interested women so generally, and which holds their undivided attention when they see the demonstration. It is demonstrated daily at table just to right of main entrance.

The Block Light.

An invention which, with the right kind of a mantle, gives out an intensely brilliant, though mellow light. Its brilliancy is of the power of 300 candles. You can take any three ordinary mantle lights, put them on full power, have a jet to which the Block Light is attached, and you will notice that the "Block" is equal to the other three lights.

Delegates to Convention at Evansville Formulate Demands Upon Congress.

PRESENT PLAN INADEQUATE

Growth of Industries Along Ohio River and Its Tributaries Makes Additional Transportation Facilities an Absolute Necessity—Dovener Too Ill to Speak.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

EVANSVILLE, IND., Oct. 15.—In the opinion of President John L. Vance the ninth annual convention of the Ohio Valley Improvement association that closed here today was the best in the history of the association. While the attendance was not as large as expected by the local committees, the enthusiasm was greater than at the Parkersburg convention.

Last night it was expected that the committee on resolutions would bring in a minority report today. This was averted, and the resolutions of the Parkersburg convention in part were adopted as follows:

Whereas, The enormous increase in the productive capacity of the Ohio valley has now far surpassed its transportation facilities, both natural and artificial; and,

Whereas, The present condition of our industries demands and their future growth is absolutely dependent upon, increased transportation facilities, which, to be of any value to the present generation, must be furnished more rapidly than heretofore; and,

Whereas, The completion of the present project of providing a six-foot depth of water in the Ohio river, now but barely commenced, will not afford when completed adequate transportation facilities owing to the demands of modern and economical methods of transporting freight, especially when increased by the requirements of the commerce which will be developed by the building of the Isthmian canal, now assured; therefore be it

Resolved, That we earnestly petition the congress of the United States:

First—To so improve the Ohio river as to provide a nine-foot draught at low water from Pittsburgh to Cairo.

Second—To make appropriations for that portion of the Ohio river already surveyed or for which surveys have been authorized in such amounts as to insure the completion of the improvement within eight years from the passage of the next river and harbor bill.

Third—To immediately have surveyed and a project prepared for that portion of the Ohio river not now surveyed and to appropriate money in such amounts as to insure its completion within 10 years from the passage of the next river and harbor bill.

Fourth—To provide for the same depth of water wherever practicable as that provided in the Ohio river, namely, nine feet, in all of its tributaries for which a definite project for improvement now exists or may in the future be adopted by congress.

Fifth—To have removed when shown to be an impediment to safe navigation all artificial obstructions to the full and free use of the Ohio river and navigable tributaries.

Upon motion of Col. Anderson of Pittsburgh, Albert Bettinger was named as special agent to visit President Roosevelt and express to him the thanks of the association for the interest he has taken in the movement.

Congressman Dovener of West Virginia was here for a speech, but was taken suddenly ill this morning and was unable to appear. His place was taken by Congressman Williams of Illinois, who scoffed at the suggestion of Congressman Burton of Ohio that the states along the Ohio river should help pay the expense of improving the river along with the national government. Huntington, W. Va., was chosen as the next convention city.

PERSONALS

Two special Pullman cars were attached to train 15 over the Ft. Wayne last night, leaving the Union station at 7:30, in which were a party of local bankers going to California to attend the annual convention of the American Bankers association, which meets October 20 to 24. The local will join a special train at Chicago over the Northwestern route and run through to the coast direct.

The Western Pennsylvania Retail Lumber Dealers held a convention at the Colonial hotel yesterday. The meeting will be continued today, as it was impossible to get through with the business yesterday. About 100 delegates were present, and during the meeting several new members were added to the membership roll.

WANT SENATOR PENROSE TO SETTLE A DISPUTE

Has Been Asked to Arbitrate Differences Existing in Twenty-Fourth District.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 15.—Chairman Boies Penrose has been asked to arbitrate the differences between the Republican leaders of Beaver, Lawrence and Washington counties which comprise the Twenty-fourth congressional district, relative to the adoption of rules for the regulation of congressional primaries. Mr. Penrose will take the matter up after election, when he returns to Washington, and hopes for an amicable adjustment of differences.

Delegations from the three counties named called upon the chairman at state headquarters today. Among others present were Recorder W. T. Penn of Washington; ex-Representative T. L. Kennedy and Postmaster Charles M. McDaniel of New Brighton and J. H. Geer, Republican chairman of Beaver county, and Prothonotary Frank Judd. Apart from the congressional matter the visitors had some complimentary things to say of Judge J. Sharpe Wilson of Beaver, whose name has been mentioned in connection with the vacancy on the supreme bench.

Rule 8, adopted by the last Republican state convention, is the one under which Chairman Penrose will endeavor to straighten out the congressional primary tangle. It reads:

"Where no rule has been adopted in a congressional district for the nomination of a candidate for congress before the first of August next, the state committee or chairman thereof shall prescribe the method of nomination."

"Some of the interested parties want the Crawford county system, while others prefer it in a modified form," said Senator Penrose. "Much confusion has resulted. No agreement having been reached within the time limit fixed by rule 8, I will be obliged to settle the controversy and hope to do so in a manner satisfactory to all concerned." CHESTER D. POTTER.

SUES FOR MORE STOCK.

New Castle Man Claims He Did Not Get His Share of New Issue.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 15.—(Special.)—Lewis S. Hoyt, a wealthy independent oil producer and leading Democratic politician, has appealed to the state superior court against the adverse verdict rendered in the local courts upon his case against the Shenango Valley Steel Company of this city, now a part of the United States Steel Corporation. Hoyt was a heavy stockholder in the Shenango company and alleges that he was deprived of securing his just proportion of the new stock issue when the capital of that concern was increased from $1,000,000 to $2,500,000.

Hoyt's bill sets forth that when the Shenango Valley Steel Company was merged into the National Steel Company during the summer of 1898, each $100 share of Shenango Valley stock was exchanged for one $100 share of National preferred, one $100 share of National common and $120 in cash, or a total of $320 in all for each $100 share. The case will be argued before the superior court at Pittsburgh next Monday.

MEETS NEXT IN PITTSBURGH.

A. P. Burchfield on Executive Committee With John Wanamaker.

SCRANTON, PA., Oct. 15.—The next convention of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School association will be held in the Sixth United Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh. John Wannamaker of Philadelphia, who has been president since 1805, has again been chosen for the ensuing year.

The other officers elected were: Vice presidents, Thomas Murray, Clearfield; M. B. Gibson, York; Josiah Goward, Emporium; treasurer, Samuel Shaw, Philadelphia; secretary, J. A. Brieger, Ridgway; executive committee, John Wanamaker, A. P. Burchfield, Pittsburgh, and the Rev. C. R. Blackall, Philadelphia.

PITTSBURGHER ELECTED BY UNION VETERANS LEGION

Killed After Wedding.

MAHANOY CITY, PA., Oct. 15.—Michael Donohue, aged 35, was found unconscious on the road to Connerton today. He died in a short time. The police suspect foul play and are investigating. Donahue attended a wedding at Connerton last night.

Gentleman's Writing Desk

The plain and usually uncomely writing desk with which men have had to be content looks sadly out of place in a finely furnished room.

Hitherto manufacturers of desks have been wont to overlook the fact that it is possible to combine utility with elegance.

In the desk shown above, however, there is nothing more to be desired in regard to convenience or richness and beauty of design and finish.

Made of mahogany of the most exquisite quality and especially adapted for a gentleman's house desk. The interior arrangement is similar to that of an office desk, being provided with pigeonhole boxes and drawers. The base shows two doors, hiding a series of drawers. The lid folds and slides back at the top.

Both front and sides are finely carved. Made also of golden oak.

This desk possesses every modern feature and improvement. And instead of transforming your library into the semblance of a business office, it fits in harmoniously with the most elegant surroundings.

TWO PERSONS KILLED BY THE TRACTION CARS

Miss Eliza J. Orr of Atlantic Avenue Met Death on Return from Wedding—Child Expired at Christening—Other Cases.

Miss Eliza Jane Orr of No. 214 South Atlantic avenue was instantly killed by Fifth, Penn and Shady avenue car No. 3121 at Penn and Winebiddle avenues yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock. Miss Orr had just returned from a wedding in Avalon and was going to a grocery store to make some purchases. While crossing the street she was struck by a car and knocked down, but not run over. Death resulted immediately from a fractured skull.

Miss Orr resided with a half-sister, Miss Sarah Irvine, who is connected with the Society for the Improvement of the Poor in Sixth avenue. She was the daughter of the late James Orr and was born in Pittsburgh about 60 years ago. For many years the family residence was in Arch street, Allegheny. For the last 13 years Miss Orr had resided in the East End. She was a member of the First United Presbyterian church. The funeral will take place from the house at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

John Strovieki, 47 years old, of Woods Run, a laborer, was killed on the Ft. Wayne railroad near Avalon station yesterday by a train. Strovieki was deaf and did not hear the train approaching.

Samuel Myers, a 2-year-old child, whose home was at No. 409 Robinson street, Braddock, died suddenly from convulsions yesterday afternoon at the home of his uncle, Lewis Meyer, No. 683 Preble avenue, Allegheny. A moment or two before death overtook him he stood in the doorway shouting to passersby. This was the fourth child Mr. Meyers has lost in much the same way, three others having died suddenly without previous sickness.

While being christened at St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church in Braddock at noon yesterday, Toney Gigliotti, the one-day-old son of James Gigliotti, died of inanition. The child was born on Wednesday at the father's home, No. 303 Tenth street, Braddock.

GAME OF TAG LIKELY TO BE FATAL TO SMALL BOY

Fog Caused Three Street Car Accidents—Persons Hurt by Mishaps of Various Kinds.

While playing "tag" with a number of companions in Washington avenue, near the top of the Knoxville incline last night, Alfred Frey, aged 8, son of Charles Frey, a bartender of the rear of No. 99 Washington avenue, Thirty-first ward, was pushed under the wheels of a wagon driven by Tony Aul of No. 41 Sterling street, South Side, sustaining injuries which will likely prove fatal. The boy had his right leg broken and received serious internal injuries.

J. Rosenstein of Stevenson street and Maurice Shapiro of No. 59 Pride street, hucksters, received painful, although not serious, scalp wounds yesterday by being thrown from their wagon in a collision with car No. 130 of the Mt. Lebanon line near Fleming place, beyond West Liberty, yesterday morning. They were taken to the South Side hospital and probably will be out tomorrow. The accident was caused by the dense fog, and the injured men were thrown about 20 feet. None of the passengers were hurt, but the horses were injured so badly they had to be shot.

An inbound trolley car jumped the track on a steep grade in Steuben street, West End, yesterday morning. After striking the curve the car stopped. It was soon placed on the track, no one being hurt.

PITTSBURGH IS PART OF WEDDING QUARTETTE

BOSTON, Oct. 15.—A double wedding in which prominent Boston girls were the brides and one of the grooms was a Pittsburger, took place this evening at the Tremont Street Methodist Episcopal church. Two sisters were the brides, Miss Caroline Wort being united to Lowry Dravo Wilkinson Bender of Pittsburgh, and Miss Helen Wort to the Rev. Charles Harrison Davis of Newton Highlands. The Rev. Charles E. Davis of Westfield, father of one groom, performed the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Edwin A. Blake of the Tremont Street church. Frederick T. Wort was best man for Mr. Bender. Mrs. Bender is well known in educational circles, having been a teacher in the Boston schools. Her husband is in business at Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURGH CONCERN INSTALLS MACHINE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW ORLEANS, LA., Oct. 15.—After being on a strike for six days the 800 negro coal wheelers employed by the local agencies of the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal & Coke Company voted this evening to return to work tomorrow morning at the wage rate of 30 cents per hour. They demanded 40 cents. The installation of coal bunkering machines broke the strike.

The Pittsburgh company brought machines here from Louisville and put them to work. The negro wheelers tried rioting by shooting at the non-union workers, and one man was killed yesterday. This started the stampede. The Pittsburgh company prepared to get out a federal injunction against further interference and this, together with the fine work of the machines, drove the wheelers into a big mass meeting this afternoon, which quickly voted to settle on whatever terms they could get. They will return at the old day's wages, a ten-hour day, but get 70 cents per hour for over time, recognition of the union and a few other minor concessions.

RIOTS IN RAILROAD CAMP.

Foreigners of Booth & Flinn Tried to Kill Their Foreman.

IRWIN, PA., Oct. 15.—(Special.)—The Booth & Flinn camp on the railroad, near Ardara, has been the scene of much disorder during the past 24 hours, threats of murder and destruction having been made by foreign workmen who were discharged. Local officers and deputies were called upon as guards last night and they have been on duty all day. The trouble started yesterday, when a rumor of Italians threatened the life of their foreman.

The man was hidden away from the infuriated mob, and they refused to return to work unless the man was handed over to them. This, of course, was refused, and the entire gang, numbering 125 men, was discharged. They refused to leave the camp, and it is feared that they will make serious trouble.

surpassing suits

Plunged with a zeal that savored of recklessness into an elaborate assembling of Ladies' Smart Coat Suits.

Determined to get the best—and with little regard for possible consequences—put every approved manufacturer under contract to contribute at least one style—his highest conception of what a new, smart, fashionable 1903-4 Coat Suit should be.

Result:—we were extremely fortunate—present for your consideration a remarkably large variety—each distinctly elegant and faultlessly correct.

A range of prices that gives every purse opportunity to do exceptionally well.

"Ten Dollars" is where the price range starts—Suits at that without equal in America, but we don't recommend their purchase as we don't consider it well spent money.

If a $10.00 Suit is what you want you can get it here, get a variety for selection, and get the best Suit to be had.

The $15.00 Suits are richly recommendable—merit—style and quality—for the money. And the range runs up to $75.00.

The real force of our claim for your prefenence, and the lines upon which we expect a very large business today and tomorrow, on account of their fashionable tone and the splendid materials and the kind of work put in them, are the suits at $18.50 and $25.00—variety of styles and plentiful supply of sizes.

tan coats, $18.50

Not content with overwhelming pre-eminence in the Suit Department, we labored for and succeeded in establishing an enviable and unparalleled position with regard to Ladies' Coats, example of which is presented in the one line noted above, $18.50.

Look at the way they're made, as well as the cloth and style that's in them, and the lining.

Fifty styles Ladies' Coats, $5.00 to $75.00, including Tan and Black.

Girls' and Misses' Coats and Suits prettiest we've ever had, and more of them.

Regulation Coats for girls 6 to 14.

Blue Cheviot Double-Breasted full length Coat—storm collar and pockets—new full sleeve with cuff—epaulette shoulder straps, belt across back and regulation embroidery, $8.50

Same in Black, Blue or Brown Blind Cheviot, $10.00

Girls' Blue Serge Suits—regulation embroidery and trimming—sizes 4 to 14 years, $5.00 to $15.00.

Misses' Blue Serge Suits—regulation embroidery and trimming—$10.00 to $22.00.

Sizes 14 to 18.

about corsets

We consider Redfern makes superior to all American made Corsets, and fully equal to most of the foreign ones, while the price range is comparatively moderate—$2.50 to $15.00.

The Redfern "A" Corset is a long skirted model with hose supporters attached—a corset that will, without discomfort, greatly assist in producing the correct, up-to-date fashionable figure.

Made of beautiful quality Coutille or Batiste, tastefully finished with soft laces and ribbons.

Boned with genuine whalebone.

The price is but $3.00.

We carry about 150 different kinds of Corsets—50c to $15.00—so every woman or girl can get just what she wants.

For a lower-priced corset of merit we recommend Warner's Rust Proof No. 121—average long skirt with dip hip—front and side supporters—made of nice quality sateen, $1.50

We are perfectly fearless in our recommendation of the Warner Corsets, as we have been selling them for a long time, with great success, due to the satisfaction of the purchasers.

They always keep right up to date—quick to adopt all the points that make for Corset excellence.

Warner's Rust Proof Corsets, $1.00 to $5.00.

HIS WORK WAS LEGITMATE

Was Engaged in Strictly Honorable Work of Giving Advice to Get-Rich-Quick Company—Admits Miller Was Personal Friend—Court Refuses Non-Suit.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, Oct. 15.—In the trial of Miller and Johns for alleged conspiracy and bribery under the recent postoffice indictments, the government rested this afternoon, and the defense introduced evidence for three hours. One of the defendants was still on the stand when court adjourned, and it is thought that most of the time will be taken up tomorrow with these two defendants as witnesses, so that the arguments will not be made until Saturday.

After the government rested today counsel for both Johns and Miller filed motions for a nonsuit. Both motions were promptly overruled by Judge Thompson.

G. A. P. Christiancy, who was the first assistant attorney in the office of the assistant attorney general for the postoffice department when Miller was the second assistant, testified regarding the case of John J. Ryan & Co., who had been using the mails in "bookmaking" on races. Christiancy did not know of all the correspondence between Miller and Ryan or the latter's attorneys. Miller did not show him the reports of the inspectors that recommended that a fraud order should be issued against Ryan's concern.

Books Contradict Witness.

On cross-examination witness said Ryan's attorneys came with the highest recommendations. He did not know that Miller had ever recommended a fraud order against Ryan & Co. Christiancy's recommendation was that the decision be contingent upon a subsequent report of the inspectors. The witness was shown the record book of his office indicating that the case had been dismissed. Witness could not tell who made the record.

After Christiancy testified to his concurrence with Miller he identified the letter that the witness wrote giving the stipulations under which Ryan & Co. were allowed to continue their business through the mails.

Joseph M. Johns, one of the defendants, testified that he had been employed with Miller in several cases. Last September Miller told the witness that practice before the postoffice department was desirable. Johns said there was no arrangement between them and nothing like a conspiracy, but that his duties as deputy prosecutor did not require all his time and he wanted other business. He then made a study of the statutes on postal matters. He solicited service from the Cledge Commission Company of St. Louis, as well as from J. J. Ryan & Co., and wrote to other concerns.

The Meeting With Ryan.

His letters to Ryan finally brought about a conference at Terre Haute. There he found a man who introduced himself as Mr. Ross, who afterward turned out to be John J. Ryan. Ryan desired to see Johns alone in his room, where they remained until midnight.

He told Ryan he was a young attorney seeking business, that he had seen Ryan's literature, considered it faulty and believed he could help him out. Ryan told him he had been cited before the department at Washington and had a notion to quite the business. Johns told him that he thought Ryan's concern could be so reorganized as to continue. Johns said he made a contract with Ryan for $2,500 legal services contingent upon getting favorable action from the postoffice department, and another contract for $2,000 for revising his circulars and other matter so that it would be allowed to pass through the mail.

Johns stated that Ryan wrote two contracts, which he produced and which were offered in evidence. Ryan gave the witness copies of his certificates of deposit, booklets, circulars, etc., which the witness took with him to Rockville for the preparation of the case as well as for the work of revision. The new edition of this literature was to include a stock farm in Maryand and the race track at Newport, Ky., as assets that had been purchased from the earnings of J. J. Ryan & Co.

General Denial Made.

Johns stated that all of the documents and all of this information were furnished to him as an attorney, and that after they left the room Ryan gave him $100 in cash.

Witness testified that he told Ryan about Miller being his close friend who advised him to practice before the department. Johns said he and Miller had been personal friends and the latter would give due consideration to his petition.

Johns denied that he had asked Ryan, "What is it worth to you to get a favorable decision?" He denied saying he could get a clear bill of sale or anything of that kind, or that he could get a fraud order issued. He denied asking Ryan for $5,000 and finally accepting $2,500 for the legal work. He denied that he had told Ryan that Miller would revise the literature or help in doing so. He denied saying that $2,500 was a small amount to divide when Ryan offered $2,500 instead of $5,000 for the legal service. He also denied that the $2,000 for the work of revision was intended for Miller. He testified that on the next morning he telegraphed Miller in Washington to enter his name as attorney for John J. Ryan & Co., and also wrote that additional evidence could be furnished, notwithstanding the reports of the inspectors, and requested that the decision be wired him. He addressed his communications to Miller, as the latter was the only one he knew in the department. He insisted that he sent nothing to Miller individually, but only officially.

Ryan Pays Johns $4,500.

Johns stated that "Jim" was a nickname for D. V. Miller, and that the telegram reading "Letter sent. Have not written him. Go promptly," and signed "Jim," was from Miller. The examination continued to the meeting later in Cincinnati, when Ryan said he would settle next morning. Witness denied he then told Ryan "Here are the goods," or that "It took mighty clever work to get Christiancy's name to the document." The witness handed Ryan the letter about the government decision the next morning and the latter paid him $1,000 in cash and gave him two checks for $2,000 and $1,400, respectively. These payments, with the $100 advanced previously at Terre Haute, made $4,500.

Counsel for the defense then produced bank books of the witness, showing that he deposited this money in banks at Rockville and also his subsequent checks in disposing of it for building a new house and paying debts. This feature was gone into at great length to show that the money was disposed of without Miller secretary of it and that there was no conspiracy.

The direct examination of Johns continued for two hours and 15 minutes, and then the cross-examination proceeded for 45 minutes. Johns stated that Miller and Mrs. Johns were related, but he could not tell whether they were first or second cousins.

The district attorney sharply examined the witness as to his qualifications as an expert on postal laws and the witness could not mention the number of any section of the United States statutes on postal relations. Johns said he had never been in the postoffice department at Washington. Court adjourned until tomorrow when the examination of Johns will be continued.

KEYSTONE DEMOCRATS GO TO AID OF TAMMANY

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Plans to conduct a red-hot national campaign with the aid of Democratic leaders of national prominence in support of the candidacy of George B. McClellan were made at a conference held in the Democratic club tonight. Those who attended the conference were Charles F. Murphy, Col. McClellan, National Committeeman Guffey of Pennsylvania, State Senator James K. Polk Hall, chairman of the Pennsylvania Democratic state committee; Col. F. J. Fitzsimmons of Scranton and Representative B. F. Harrison, Timothy Sullivan and William Sulzer and John Delaney, Mr. McClellan's campaign manager.

The three Pennsylvanians came here at Mr. Murphy's invitation and by appointment met him at the Democratic club. They are the first delegation of Democrats of national prominence which he has called into consultation, but he expects to meet in New York during the coming week many prominent Democrats from other states.

It was agreed at the conference that former Gov. Pattison of Pennsylvania will make one or more speeches here during the last week of the Campaign. He has an engagement to speak in Pittsburgh a week from Saturday, and will come to New York immediately afterward to help Col. McClellan and the rest of the Democratic ticket. Former Attorney General Hensel of Pennsylvania and Robert E. Wright, a well-known lawyer of the same state, will also speak here, so Mr. Guffey informed Mr. Murphy tonight.

Mr. Murphy said tonight: "These gentlemen came here at my invitation to discuss with us the chances for Democratic success in New York. Not only they, but Democrats throughout the rest of the United States are intensely interested in this campaign. Democrats everywhere are hoping for a Democratic victory because of the bearing it will have upon the next presidential campaign. I told them that I regarded our prospects as extremely bright."

THE DEATH ROLL

John Fay.

John Fay, 60 years old, died in the Rock house, Atlantic City, yesterday, after a sudden attack of heart disease. Mr. Fay went to Atlantic City last Saturday, and was apparently in good health. Word was received from him Tuesday that he was well and had gained five pounds. The news of his death was unexpected and a great shock to the family. The body will be brought to the family residence, No. 574 Grant boulevard, this morning. Mr. Fay was born in Ireland and came to this country about 45 years ago. He settled in Philadelphia and lived there for 17 years. Then he removed to Pittsburgh, and has been engaged in the contracting business since that time. He was supplying the stone for the new Municipal hospital which is being erected in Bedford avenue. Mr. Fay was a member of No. 6, Ancient Order of Hibernians; No. 36, Catholic Mutual Benefit association, and St. John's Roman Catholic church. He had conducted a grocery store on Herron Hill in connection with his other business for many years. Mr. Fay and his family were among the first settlers of that section of Pittsburgh. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary Fay; two sons, William J. and John P., and three daughters, Mary E., Annie L. and Sarah, all of whom live in Pittsburgh.

Francis H. Kingsbury.

Francis H. Kingsbury, who had been connected with the Pennsylvania railroad for 40 years, died yesterday at his residence in East Orange, N. J. He was born in Newton, Mass., 66 years ago. In 1874 he was made assistant general freight agent of the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis railroad, with headquarters in Columbus, and later he became eastern superintendent of the Star and Union and freight agent of the Pennsylvania lines. He resigned from the Star Union in 1897, but retained his position with the Pennsylvania until his death. The interment will be in Columbus, Ohio.

James McNally, Jr.

James McNally, Jr., 30 years old, died yesterday at the Mercy hospital after a short illness of typhoid-pneumonia. Mr. McNally was removed to the hospital Wednesday night from his home, No. 2837 Fifth avenue. He was born in New York city and had lived in Pittsburgh about 25 years. He was a member of St. Agnes' church and was a heater in Zug's mill, in Penn avenue. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James McNally, and two brothers, Thomas and Martin McNally, all of Pittsburgh.

Clarence M. Debold.

Clarence M. Debold, 35 years old, of Robinson township, died suddenly yesterday morning at the Mercy hospital. He was ill only three days and was brought to the hospital Wednesday night. Mr. Debold and his brother Julius conducted a grocery store at No. 1625 Penn avenue for a number of years. Five brothers, Joseph B. of Salina, Kan., William, Lewis, Julius and Albert of this city, and three sisters, Miss Mary, Mrs. Daniel Depp and Miss Carrie, all of Pittsburgh, survive.

Miss Lottie S. Bonnette.

Miss Lottie S. Bonnette, 30 years old, is dead at the family residence, No. 1307 Sidney street, South Side. She was born in New Jersey and lived in Pittsburgh 20 years. About two years ago she entered the nurses' training school in connection with the South Side hospital, but ill health prevented her from completing the course. Miss Bonnette was a member of the South Side Presbyterian church. She is survived by her mother, three sisters and five brothers.

Mrs. Catherine Walsh.

Mrs. Catherine Walsh lies dead at the residence of her niece, Mrs. Charles R. Ryan of No. 1812 A street, Allegheny. Mrs. Walsh was born in Brownsville and spent all her life in Pennsylvania. She lived in Allegheny about two years. She is survived by two sisters and one brother. They are Mrs. Thomas Byrne of Federal street, Allegheny; Mrs. Charles Marquis of Irwin avenue, Allegheny, and Thomas Walsh of the South Side.

Obituary Notes.

Henry C. Fogel, for years prominent in Canton, O., manufacturing circles, died at Winetka, Ills., yesterday.

J. Mont Armstrong, a Pennsylvania engineer, is dead at New Castle, Pa., aged 30 years.

Dwight Dana of Farmington, O., died yesterday, aged 67 years. He was a half-brother of the late Charles A. Dana of the New York Sun. A widow and four children survive.

SURVIVORS HOLD REUNION.

Only Seventy-five Members of Fifty-seventh Regiment Answered Roll Call.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 15.—(Special.)—The thirty-third annual reunion of the 57th Pennsylvania volunteer regiment convened here today, about 75 survivors being present. Grove City was selected as the next place of meeting. The business meeting was held this afternoon in the city council chambers, Captain Joseph P. Urmson occupying the chair. Mayor Jackson extended the soldiers the freedom of the city and was responded to by Captain L. B. Bumpus of Washington, D. C.

Attorney James M. Martin of this city called the roll, which showed eight deaths during the year. They were Wolford Case, W. H. Dunmire, Archibald Glenn, David Gibson, William Pierce, J. G. Smith, Joshua Snyder and John W. McMillen. The annual election of officers resulted as follows:

President, S. A. Emery, Grove City; secretary, I. N. White Grove City; treasurer, I. R. Campbell Osborne. A communication was received from General William Burney, under whom the regiment served throughout the civil war, stating that while preparing to come to the reunion he had received serious injuries at his home in Washington, D. C., and could not be present. A letter of regret was also received from Adjutant General W. W. Forrester of Chicago, who was a member of the 57th. The veterans took a trolley ride over the city this afternoon and held a banquet tonight.

ROMANO CONFESSES.

Condemned Murderer in Indiana Tells of Wife and Child at Jefferson, Pa.

AURORA, ILL., Oct. 15.—(Special.)—Following his marked victim from Italy across the ocean to America, sometimes close to him, sometimes away, but always unceasingly, doggedly and relentlessly upon this trail, sworn murder in his heart and biding his time, Tony Romano, as he calls himself, found the chance he sought when he beheaded Nicholas Tomaso with a hatchet in a box car in this city some eight months ago. To Father Joseph Tonelo of Joliet, who has been with Romano during the week, the murderer has made a confession which the priest has agreed not to make public until after the execution. Father Tonello has communicated part of the confession to the officers and the fact that the murderer's name is not Romano and that he has a wife and child in Jefferson, Pa. The murderer says that the vendetta began when Tomaso was yet in Italy. He is ready now to pay the penalty Friday, October 23.

ELEVATED ENGINEERS UNANIMOUS FOR A STRIKE

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(Special.)—It was announced by President Jenks of the local union of the Locomotive Engineers at 8 o'clock tonight that the "L" motormen had voted thus far unanimously to resist any attempt on the part of the Inter-Borough Railway Company to enforce its recent order by dismissal of those who refuse to undergo the special examination. This means a strike unless the interurban reverses its attitude.

CITIZENS BREAK ANOTHER PLEDGE

M'ELROY IS P. & W. CHAMPION

Railroad Gives City Nothing for Valuable Property in First Ward—Republicans Fight Measure and Endeavor to Get Some Remuneration in Return.

President Samuel McElroy of the common branch of Allegheny councils, last night assumed the role of champion for the cause of the Pittsburgh & Western railway that is asking for the vacation of School street in the First ward. The railroad was given the street with no provision for compensation to Allegheny.

The vote stood 21 to 15, and those who voted to kill the delinquent tax ordinance were the same who last night gave away a valuable piece of property to a corporation that offers nothing to the city in exchange for the grant. The fight on the passage of the measure was bitter and several attempts were made to have it amended or sent back to committee, but President McElroy, with the assistance of Councilman John R. Henricks of the Eleventh ward, managed to have the question put to a vote, with the result that the city gets not a penny in return for the street. Councilmen Thomas McHenry, Charles Bernhard, John Keane, Tesse Sheasley and William Mohney made a hard fight in the interests of the city but failed in their efforts.

Scope of the Ordinance.

The ordinance provides for the vacation of all that portion of School street lying between Kilbuck street and the Allegheny river. It is set forth in the ordinance that the Pittsburgh & Western owns the abutting property on both sides of the street and that to complete the construction of the freight yards School street is needed. No mention is made in the ordinance for any compensation to the city.

Councilman John W. Robinson of the Fourth ward, who is claim agent for the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, introduced the ordinance. Mr. Robinson was at the meeting, accompanied by Robert Finney, Jr., general agent of the Baltimore & Ohio. Mayor Wyman and Director Scandrett and McIlvain were present and Scandrett was busy among the Wyman councilmen all evening.

After much discussion on both sides, President McElroy left the chair and asked Henry Meyer of the Second ward to act as chairman. Mr. McElroy took the floor and spoke for 15 minutes, setting forth many reasons why the city should give a gratuitous grant to the Pittsburgh & Western. It encouraged and stimulated business, Mr. McElroy said, to show liberality in legislation. But nothing was said by any of those favoring the passage of the ordinance about the pledge used so much last February prior to the election.

Pledge of the Citizens.

Sections 1 and 2 of the Citizens party contract in the spring campaign read:

We pledge ourselves to oppose any ordinance giving an exclusive public franchise in perpetuity, or practically its equivalent.

We pledge ourselves to secure an adequate return to the city for all public franchises hereinafter given, and to have all the corporations now using such franchises contribute their just share of municipal taxes.

For years the city has been collecting taxes for the Pittsburgh & Western for the property abutting on School street. In the event of the passage of the measure in select council the city will lose these taxes and will get practically nothing for its gift. The names of the pledge-breakers follow: Beunle, Boyd, Ford, Francies, Geltz, Geyer, Henricks, Hering, Imhof, Kelly, Klimberlin, Meyer, McNally, Rose, Rohipletz, Schleich, Schroedel, Spicer, Wall, Wels and McElroy.

Those who voted against the ordinance are: Bernhard, Duff, William G. Frederick, Thomas W. Harvey, William H. Harvey, Henderson, Hollar, Kappeler, Keane, Mohney, McBride, McHenry, Sarver, Seethaler and Sheasley.

Fixing Detectives' Salary.

The ordinance creating the office of superintendent of detectives and fixing the salary at $1,000 per year passed finally.

It was decided by resolution that select council should not be given equal representation on joint committees and Messrs. Henricks, Spicer and Wall were appointed a committee to confer with a committee from the select branch.

The ordinance requiring the director of public works to certify to the necessity of proposed street improvements was killed, and the measure creating the office of tenement house inspectors failed for lack of a legal majority.

HANNA BLOCKED ENEMY'S SCHEME

Answered Questions in Advance Which the Democrats Intended to Spring.

PROSPERITY IS AT STAKE

Senator Declares Democratic Victory Would Cause Change in Industrial Situation—Says Opposition Have Forsaken All Principles of Jefferson.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 15.—Senator Hanna nipped a scheme in the bud tonight by springing an advance sheet of a document about to be issued by the Democratic state committee. This contains a series of questions which he is asked to answer. The purpose is to cast them broadcast at every meeting which he addresses in order to embarrass and annoy Mr. Hanna and also to sow seeds of distrust in the minds of the voters. The questions, so far as he read them, are of a trivial character in keeping with the Democratic campaign, but in some instances of a particularly vicious kind.

The senator sprung the document at the close of his meeting here this evening when he spoke to several thousand people in the opera house and received one of the most flattering testimonials accorded him during the present campaigning tour.

"I have here," he said, "a series of questions which it is proposed to ask me. Perhaps this is as good a time as any to take them up. The first asks whether Representative Burton of Cleveland is not a good Republican, even though he opposes the ship subsidy bill. Of course he is. The next is whether I think I ought to appoint 15 members of the Ohio legislature to federal jobs who assisted me in my fight for the senate. It is wrong there. I appointed more than 15.

"I never go back on my friends. Another is, what was the amount of my bar bill at the Neil house in Columbus during the campaign of 1898. That is a hard one. I can't answer it. I did not pay any bar bill. I don't know who did.

Speaking of the Democratic platform as adopted by the state convention at Columbus, Senator Hanna declared it to be a patchwork of false and fancies, stripped of every element of Jeffersonianism.

"Look at it," he said. "What is there to appeal to an old-time Democrat? Jefferson taught that the functions of government were to maintain and enforce law, to protect the life and property of citizens and that there its functions ended. The present platform is opposed to every act of that great man. He did not believe in municipal ownership. There is no Jeffersonianism in that. Not even sense.

"The platform is absolutely antagonistic to every principle of the American government. It is opposed to Christianity. It would overthrow society and revolutionize conditions in this, the greatest country in the world."

Col. Herrick preceded the senator and discussed state issues, and Rev. S. S. Frazier presided. Before coming here for the evening meeting, Herrick and Hanna spoke at two other places, Ravenna and Kent in Portage county and at both were given kind receptions. Tomorrow there it but one meeting at Wellington in the evening. This is Col. Herrick's birthplace, and he speaks there alone.

PROBE SENT DEEP INTO DUMMY MEN

Formation of Shipyards Corporation Occupied Yesterday's Session of Investigation.

THREE DIRECTORS EXAMINED

Gave a Startling Exhibition of Ignorance of Matters Pertaining to the Company for Which They Were Serving—Crescent Yards to Open.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The entire time at today's hearing of the United States Shipbuilding Company investigation before Referee Oliphant was given up to the taking of testimony covering the incorporation and organization of the company in New Jersey. Frederic Seward, Horace Gould and Kenneth McLaren, young men connected with the Corporation Trust Company of New Jersey, who acted either as incorporators or directors of the shipbuilding company, were called to the stand and examined at length as to the circumstances under which they served the promoters of the enterprise.

Frederic Seward, who had served as a director, was questioned for three hours, the inquiry covering his connection with the company from the time Alexander & Green asked him to serve as a director until he resigned when the permanent officers were elected. His stay on the stand was prolonged because he would not admit that he was a mere dummy acting under the orders of the counsel of the company. He held that he had used his independent judgment in voting on the many important questions determined by the directorate when he, Louis Daily and Harold Newman of the Corporation Trust Company were the three members of it.

Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the bondholders, questioned him at length with the object of showing that he had not paid for the shares of stock that he held; that he knew nothing of the value of the properties acquired by the votes of himself and his associates, and that everything done by the directorate was at the instance of counsel and the mere formal carrying out of orders.

Seward admitted that he did not know the location of the plant nor the character of the business of the Harlan Hollingsworth Company, Moore & Sons and the Canada company, and said that he was under the impression that the Bethlehem plant was located in Homestead. Seward and the other temporary directors acted upon the increase in the capital stock of the company from $3,000 to $54,000,000, voted for the issuance of securities to the amount of $71,000,000, and decided other matters of importance, and the testimony of today indicates an intention to attack the validity of all those transactions.

It is claimed that the original directors were simply dummies, and that while the forms of the law were closely followed at all of the meetings, none of the directors was properly a holder of stock, and that none of their acts was of legal value. The hearing went over until Wednesday, when Lewis Nixon will take the stand. He was sworn at the close of the hearing today, but did not give any testimony.

By the terms of an agreement executed here this morning by James Smith, Jr., receiver of the United States Shipbuilding Company, and Emmet R. Olcott of Olcott, Mestre & Gonzales, New York, counsel for the Mexican government, the receiver will reopen the Crescent shipyards in Elizabethport, probably Monday, and will complete for the Mexican government the two unfinished cruisers there, the Tampico and the Vera Cruz, the Mexican government furnishing the necessary funds to satisfy existing liens upon the vessels and to pay the workmen. All that now remains is to get the sanction of Judge Kirkpatrick, and it is expected to do that tomorrow.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT SHIRKS NOT FROM DUTY

Secretary Moody Eulogizes Him in Speech at Opening of Republican Club.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The new club house of the Republican club was formally opened tonight. The ceremonies were attended by Gov. Odell, Senator Depew, Secretary of the Navy Moody and other prominent guests. A letter of regret was read from President Roosevelt. Secretary Moody in his address said in part:

"We shall soon be in the midst of another national campaign. It is determined as certainly as anything can be which is not yet done, that as our candidate for the presidency we shall nominate Theodore Roosevelt. And the spirit and progress of our platform will be the continuance of the policies of 1896 and 1900.

"Underlying all differences in party, in the business of the government, as in the business of the individual, now and then corruption stealthily creeps, but when that malignant ulcer appears, we should cut it out; there is no time for generous surgery; the knife should go down under every poisonous root that it may be cut and cast away as unclaimed.

"You may depend upon it that so far as the administration may affect it, every man, Republican or Democrat, high or low, who has become a traitor to the country by the corrupt betrayal of his trust, will be exposed without mercy. Another principle to which I may allude —if there is one man above another, that man is Theodore Roosevelt. He has not only declared for it, but he has acted upon it. Observant of his oath of office he has exacted alike from those who are powerful respect and obedience of law. When the appeal came from the west against the consolidation of two powerful competing lines of railroad he did not fear to bring them to the arbitrament of a court of justice. When a single man was ejected from his office by the power of a union he did not fear to reinstate him and keep him secure in his rights."

Gov. Odell followed the secretary of the navy and received an enthusiastic greeting. Senator Chauncey M. Depew also spoke.

Bishop Canevin Spoke.

The large hall in the Ralston school on Penn avenue was crowded last night at a temperance rally held by the Total Abstinence society of St. Patrick's Catholic church. The meeting was notable from the fact that Bishop Canevin was present and made an adress. Robert Sheehan opened the meeting with a few words of welcome and the Rev. William Graham, pastor of St. Patrick's church, was made chairman.

Mrs. Elizabeth Craig Is Dead.

Mrs. Elizabeth Craig, 72 years old, widow of J. W. Craig, died late last night at the home of her son-in-law, Samuel H. Charters, the Grant street grocer, at Allequippa street and Center avenue. Funeral services will be held at the Charters home tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Aged Woman Wants Alimony.

UNIONTOWN, PA., Oct. 15.—(Special.)—After 35 years of married life Mrs. Sarah Dickson of Nicholson township, aged 60 years, has applied to the court for an allowance from her husband, A. J. Dickson, aged 65 years, whom she left recently because she says they could not live peaceably together.

DRUNKEN MAN STEALS ENGINE; CAUSES WRECK IN P. & W. YARDS

The flight of a monster freight engine, driven recklessly through the crowded yards of the Pittsburgh & Western railway, in Allegheny, about 10 o'clock last night, caused consternation among the shifting crews and ended in a disaster that will cost the railroad company several thousand dollars. When a score or more men reached the scene of the wreck they found mail coach No. 153 smashed and lying on its side, the engine and tank derailed, and R. M. Tedd crawling painfully out of the debris.

A few minutes before Tedd, who was drunk, entered the round-house, near Federal street, mounted the engine and threw open the reverse lever. Swaying from side to side in his wild flight, the engine rattled over switches and barely missed a number of yardmen at work. Tedd, who is 21 years of age and says he lives in Fremont street, was captured as he started to limp away and was taken to Central station. A few bruises was all he suffered.

TWO NATIONS UNITE AT FESTAL BOARD

TRIBUTES ARE EXCHANGED

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The dinner given by the Pilgrim's society to the Alaskan boundary commission at Claridge's hotel tonight proved the most notable assemblage of Englishmen, Americans and Canadians ever brought together in London. In addition to the members of the commission, the British cabinet ministers, the American ambassador and the most prominent representatives of English public life were present.

Field Marshal Lord Roberts presided. On his right sat Ambassador Choate and on his left Lord Chief Justice Alverstone. Lord Lansdowne, Sir Louis Jette, Sir Stanley Clarke, the king's equerry, and Secretary Elihu Root sat at the same table, while the other guests were distributed at small tables around the room. The Englishmen present wore their decorations and orders, Lord Lansdowne and Lord Roberts having the blue ribbon of the Order of the Garter.

The other guests, numbering in all about 150, included Archdeacon Sinclair, Lord Stanley, United States Consul General Evans, Sir George Taubman Goldie, Stanford Newel, United States minister at The Hague; C. T. Yerkes, Lord Mount-Stephen, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, Sir J. Puleston, Lord Claude Hamilton, Lord Strathcona, Lord Kinnaird, Lord Fairfax, Lord Jersey and Lord Hamilton, Henry Phipps of New York and the Hon. George Keppel.

Lord Roberts proposed the health of King Edward and President Roosevelt in a united toast, which met with a cordial reception. He then proposed "The Alaska boundary commission," to which Lord Alverstone replied, saying that the meeting of the commissioners would stand as a monument of the feeling evinced in America and Great Britain to settle their differences by a commonsense method. Ex-United States Senator Turner and the Hon. Clifford Sifton, Canadian interior minister, answered for their respective countries.

Proposing the health of the Anglo-Saxon race, Foreign Secretary Lord Landsowne said:

"I may prophesy that our contribution toward the happiness and the good government of the world will not be less in the future than it has been in the past. The two great branches of the Anglo-Saxon race will be found working shoulder to shoulder, giving an example to the world of the mode of settling differences. Human natures are fallible, and we must have our little differences from time to time, but an appeal to force is unthinkable." Applause greeted this utterance.

Jacob M. Dickinson of the American counsel, in responding referred to the Afro-American and other elements composing the American population.

Mr. Aylesworth, the Canadian commissioner, answering in the name of Canada, asked if Lord Lansdowne had not lost sight of the fact that several thousands of the best Anglo-Saxons lived in Canada, which by the whole trend of his speech, Mr. Aylesworth intimated had been rather overlooked. Passionately, Mr. Aylesworth declared that none was more loyal to King Edward than the Canadian, yet there was none who from a business and sentimental point of view more appreciated their association with America.

Secretary Root closed the dinner with a notable speech, proposing the health of Lord Roberts as the commander-in-chief of the British army. The people of America, he said, had inherited the spirit of civil control of the military arm. On both sides of the Atlantic during the past year the ever-recurring problem of reconciling civil and military expert opinion and authority had been the cause of difficulty and of inefficiency.

Mr. Root said that by the creation of a general staff he hoped that the United States had solved the problem, and he trusted that Great Britain would be similarly fortunate.

HEAVY ARTILLERYMEN HOLD THEIR REUNION

Six Hundred of Original 1,800 of Fifth Pennsylvania Still Survive.

The Fifth Pennsylvania heavy artillery held its eighth annual reunion yesterday at Sons of Veterans' hall, Wood street. About 150 of the 600 surviving members were in attendance. President Augustus Heller of Rochester, presided. John W. Moreland delivered an address of welcome and Attorney S. A. Will responded. The secretary's report showed that about 600 of the original 1,800 members are still alive. There were 10 deaths during the year.

A resolution indorsing the administration of President Roosevelt and calling on congress to pass laws restricting Immigration were passed.

The annual election resulted as follows: President, J. J. Davis, Pittsburgh; first vice president, J. A. Reed, McKeesport; second vice president, H. F. Kneeper, Somerset; third vice president, William H. Phillips, Pittsburgh, secretary and treasurer, S. A. Graham, Pittsburgh; chaplain, William Pover, Pittsburgh. Executive committee, A. H. Shearsley, Company A; Oliver Nolter, Company B; John Barndollar, Company F; John Speer, Company D; James Gill, Company E; F. E. Bruner, Company F; Henry Schmidt, Company G; J. S. Mitchell, Company H; R. B. McKee, Company I; J. Bartley, Company K; John Vorard, Company L; Miles Beatty, Company M. The camp fire following the business session was enjoyable.

Odds 10 to 7 on McClellan.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(Special.)—Election betting on the Broad street curb relapsed to small proportions, only a few nominal wagers being made at 10 to 7 on McClellan.

THREE HUNDRED MORE COKE OVENS CLOSED

Seven Thousand Are Now Idle in Connellsville Field—Summary of Last Week.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Oct. 15.—Notwithstanding the general opinion that no more coke ovens would be blown out the H. C. Frick Coke Company today discontinued 300 more ovens in the region and there is every likelihood that this number will be increased before the close of the week. As a result of this over 400 foreigners have started for their homes during the past week, 80 leaving on one train today. Since the slump in the coke business there has been a general movement of foreigners to their native lands.

The number of ovens now idle is 7,000. The active list in the region has been reduced to 16,723, the smallest active list recorded since the fall of 1900. The car supply last week was fully equal to the demand. One favorable condition of the trade is seen in the shipments running higher than production. The shipments last week were 15,000 tons higher than production. There is a general effort being made all over the coke region to clean up the stock coke and the increase in shipments is undoubtedly due to this.

The summary for the past wek is as follows: Twenty-two thousand five hundred and ninety-seven ovens in the region with 16,723 in blast and 6,874 idle. At Mutual, No. 4, 44 ovens were added but not fired. The ovens blown out last week aggregate 1,990. Of the 85 active plants in the region last week 48 plants, 3,445 ovens in all, made six days; 15 plants, 6,703 ovens, five days; one plant, 355 ovens, three days, and one plant, the Semet Solvay, was drawn seven days. An average of 5.60, as compared with 5.53 days the week previous, was made.

The production in tons for the week amounted to 186,245, as compared with 213,355, the week previous, a decrease of 27,114 tons. The shipments of coke in cars for the week amounting to 8,929, as compared with 9,959 the previous week, a decrease of 980 cars. The shipments were distributed as follows: To Pittsburgh and river points, 3,761 cars, a decrease of 239; to points west of Pittsburgh, 2,743 cars, a decrease of 816; to points east of Everson, 1,425, a loss of 125 cars. The shipments from the new Masontown field amounted to 790 cars, an increase of 175 cars over the previous week.

MANDAMUS TO ENFORCE CONTRACT OF COUNCIL.

Connellsville Legislators Refuse to Give Money to Maintain Carnegie Library.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Oct. 15.—At a meeting of the trustees of the Carnegie free library last night a proposition was received from the town council offering to appropriate $300 for the maintenance of the library until March, 1904, if the present board of trustees would agree to resign at that time.

The board rejected the proposition and characterized it as "insulting, illegal and absurd." Ex-Judge Nathaniel Ewing was this afternoon engaged to bring mandamus proceedings against the borough council to compel it to carry out the contract made by a former council with Andrew Carnegie for the maintenance of the library. Unless funds are received within a short time the library will be compelled to close.

FATHER DRANK LAUDANUM.

Refused to Tell What He Had Done and Death Ensued.

MONESSEN, PA., Oct. 15.—(Special.)—Richard Webb, a well-known meat merchant, died last night from the effects of drinking the contents of a three-ounce vial of laudanum. There can be no reason given for Webb's act. He went to a drug store yesterday afternoon and purchased the drug, saying he wanted it for a sick horse. He went directly to the stable and drained the bottle.

His son, Charles Webb, went to the stable and found his father in a semi-conscious condition. He assisted him to the house. He spoke but a few words, not intimating what he had done excepting to say he would be dead before morning. Physicians were summoned and worked with the patient until he died at 10 o'clock. Webb leaves a widow and four children.

This is for you.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

LEECHBURG, PA., Oct. 15.—The Lutheran synod, at Hebron Lutheran church, held interesting sessions all day. The work of education was the chief topic for the day. The Rev. J. R. Dimm, D. D., of Susquehanna university, Selinsgrove, Pa., captured the synod in advancing the interests of his institution. J. W. Hay of Allegheny made a plea for the cause of the board of education. The Rev. H. C. Peller of Aspinwall made an address on "Christian Education," in which he said: "We have reached the time when education seems valuable chiefly as a means of getting a livelihood. To live only, in order to devote one's energies to money getting is not complete living."

A movement was started in Baltimore to raise $1,000,000 in five years in the general synod for the Lutheran educational institutions.

The election of officers for synod resulted as follows: President, the Rev. G. F. Sanders, Blairsville; secretary, the Rev. S. E. Smith, Lamartine; treasurer, William Pore, Pittsburgh; statistical secretary, the Rev. W. J. Bucher, Braddock; missionary president, the Rev. S. T. Nicholas, Bellevue; historian, the Rev. E. B. Burgess, Connellsville; advisory board of home missions, the Rev. G. M. Heindel, D. D., and Edward Hill of Leechburg; trustees of Orphans' home at Sayville, the Rev. J. B. Markward, Wilkinsburg, and W. G. Laine, Turtle Creek; directors of the Theological seminary at Gettysburg, the Rev. J. H. Schwartz, D. D., Worthington, and William Pore of Pittsburgh.

The Rev. A. Stewart Hartman, D. D., of Baltimore, secretary of the board of missions, and the Rev. M. J. Kline, D. D., secretary of the board of foreign missions, delivered addresses. The Rev. A. B. Clarey was ordained.

BATTLE BETWEEN TWO UNIVERSITY CLASSES

EIGHTY-FOUR STUDENTS ARRESTED FOR RIOTING

Junior and Freshmen Classes of the W. U. P. Dental Department Engage in Fierce Battle. Police Were Called Upon.

Students of the dental department of the Western University of Pennsylvania buried the plaster of paris market, cornered the manufacture of that stuff, and celebrated their annual rush with one of the most grotesque, ridiculous and laughable performances ever witnessed. The rush developed into a riot, a hurry call was sent to Central police station and 84 students were gathered in the drag net of the law.

In their shirt sleeves, with clothing partly torn from their bodies, besmeared and besmirched with plaster of paris and the contents of ancient eggs, but singing their rousing college songs, the students presented the oddest spectacle seen at the safety building for many a day.

The students were members of the freshmen and junior classes, hot rivals, and every member of each class had in his breast the firm determination not to be worsted by his opponents. The police, however, carried the day.

Opening of the Battle.

The first recitation for the freshmen yesterday morning was a lecture by Dr. Stewart L. McCurdy. The freshmen entered the lecture room on the tenth floor of the building at Tenth street and Penn avenue, and the juniors stood around the door. A few minutes later one of the juniors dashed into the room, ran to a front window and planted the maroon and white flag of the juniors on the top of the fire escape.

The freshmen rushed to the fire escape to haul down the emblem of their rivals. The juniors, arrayed in working gowns, their street clothes being protected, started a bombardment of eggs from below. A struggle on the fire escape followed. The juniors fought the freshmen step by step until the tenth floor of the building was reached. The struggling mass broke through the doors of the lecture room and began to break up the furniture and beat each other over the head with the pieces.

Juniors' Battle Cry.

The juniors were in the majority and had the better of the fight. High above the noise of the battle rang out in a triumphant key the class yell of the juniors:

Well man, sick man,
Dead man, stiff;
Die 'em up, cut 'em up,
What's the diff.
Humorous, tumorous,
Dead or alive,
Pittsburgh Dentals,
Noughty five.

Two barrels of plaster of paris were found in a room adjoining the lecture room, and rolled to the scene of the fray. Students scattered the contents over their fellows. The students made a terrific noise, and finally the professors had a riot call sent to Central station.

Inspectors and patrol wagons with 50 policemen responded, and, of the 110 engaged in the fight, arrested 84.

Mrs. Celia A. Small, wife of Dr. Stanley C. Small of No. 152 Taggart street, Allegheny, who is a member of the junior class, did not participate in the rush.

The students were taken to the police station and placed in cells on the first, second and third tiers of that department. They climbed up on the steel bar doors and their songs and cheers and class yells made the safety building shake.

Magistrate Talks Politics.

Police Magistrate T. D. Stewart entered the cell department and asked the prisoners to keep quiet for a moment.

"I want to make a speech," he said. "You can understand what a thorough and efficient police force Pittsburgh has. We have the best force now in the history of the city and you must behave yourselves. Now that you are all locked up I can explain the principles of the Citizens party to you."

When Superintendent John P. McTighe walked into the cell department he was received with cheers.

"Johnny McTighe, Johnny McTighe, Johnny McTighe," responded the students.

Dr. S. L. McCurdy gave bond for the entire student body to appear at a hearing before Magistrate Stewart this morning on charges of disorderly conduct. As the boys were let out of their cells they assembled in Cherry alley and gave a long cheer for Magistrate Stewart, Superintendent McTighe and Inspector McClay. Tonight they intend attending the exposition in a body.

Escapade Treated Lightly.

Dr. McCurdy, who is a member of the faculty of the dental department, said the students would be reprimanded and that would be about all.

PRESBYTERIAN SYNOD CONVENES AT DUBOIS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

DUBOIS, PA., Oct. 15.—The first session of the Presbyterian synod of Pennsylvania was held here this morning. It was opened with a sermon by the retiring moderator, the Rev. William L. McEwan, D. D., pastor of the Third Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh. The Rev. J. Vernon Bell, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Dubois; the Rev. David Kennedy of Allegheny, the Rev. George S. Chambers, D. D., of Harrisburg, and the Rev. J. M. Thompson of Philadelphia, assisted in the services.

The Rev. George S. Chambers of the Pine Street church of Harrisburg, was elected moderator by acclamation. The Rev. J. M. McJunkin of Oakdale, Pa., secretary of the permanent committee on synodical home mission and sustentation, which has been in session since last Monday, presented the committee's report. He was followed with an address by the moderator, who is chairman of the committee. The report showed that $28,469 had been expended in the missionary work in the synod during the past year.

Allegheny now has a flourishing Slavonic mission. During the past year the Pittsburgh presbytery expended $13,488 among the foreign population of the city. The afternoon session was addressed by the Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman, D. D., on behalf of the general assembly's committee on evangelistic work. The Rev. Robert Hunter, D. D., of Philadelphia, presented a report on Washington and Jefferson college and was followed by an address by the Rev. James D. Moffatt, president of the college.

Tonight a popular home mission meeting was held at which Dr. Wilbur Chapman spoke for an hour. Addresses were made by the Rev. George S. Chambers, the newly elected moderator, and William L. McEwan, D. D., of Pittsburgh.

COLONIA AWAITS A PROPITIOUS SEASON

Annual Meeting of Land Company's Stockholders Brings Out Reason for Delay.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Colonial Land Company, which controls the property at Colonia, just south of Monessen, on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, was held yesterday in the offices of Black & Baird, and was very largely attended. The choice of directors for the year resulted in placing two new ones on the board. They are L. A. Brenneman and Charles D. Armstrong, succeeding B. C. Vaughn and John G. Robison. Col. J. M. Schoonmaker, vice president and general manager of the Lake Erie, was unanimously re-elected president, despite his expressed desire to be succeeded by some one whose time was less taken up by other important duties. H. C. Fry of Rochester was chosen vice president and L. A. Robison secretary and treasurer.

The report of the officers showed the reason for the property not having been promoted more vigorously during the past year. It was stated plainly that the time has not been propitious for securing many valuable new plants and for conducting a large real estate sale such as will be made as soon as conditions permit the development of the town of Colonia on a large scale. It is expected to make the town an important one, the Colonia Steel Company's manufacturing crucible steel, the Sanitary Improvement Company and the Opalite Tile Company being located there now.

The Lake Erie railroad has spent $50,000 for yard and other terminal purposes at the new town and a $25,000 passenger station is nearing completion.

The company's capital is $350,000, all paid in—owns 425 acres of land. In 1902 8 per cent in dividends was declared and in 1903 to date, 3 per cent has been paid. From the earnings of the company on the operations it has so far conducted, the income has been expended largely for the improvements made in street grading, etc. It is not stated yet whether the additional 3 per cent dividend for the present half year will be declared.

NEW INDEPENDENT WELLS ENDANGER OIL SYNDICATE

BERLIN, Oct. 15.—Just as the Austro-Hungarian petroleum syndicate agreement is about to be signed 12 small concerns, outside the syndicate, have bored oil-producing wells in Galicia, endangering the success of the Standard Oil Company's new competitor. The refining companies in Austro-Hungary have forced one syndicate and the raw producers another. These under the influence of the Schodnica Company, have arranged a working agreement.

Monessen to Get Free Delivery.

MONESSEN, PA., Oct. 15.—(Special.)—Postoffice Inspector H. H. Williams of Washington, D. C., who was here last week looking into the claims of the local office for a free delivery mail system, has notified Postmaster C. W. Derrickson that as soon as the municipal authorities have complied with the requirements governing the granting of free delivery to boroughs the recommendations will be made. Houses must be numbered and cross streets named.

New Pennsylvania Postmasters.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—The following fourth-class postmasters in Pennsylvania were appointed today: William E. White, Hoytdale, Beaver county; William H. Barry, Bexis, Indiana county; John P. Batt, Robertsdale, Huntingdon county.

TWO MERGERS OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC TRUST CO.

Stockholders After Warm Discussion, Postpone Action and Appoint Committee.

Two propositions for a merger were made to the stockholders of the Public Trust Company yesterday afternoon at the company's offices in Fourth avenue. The debate over the plans ran high, nearly 500 of the stockholders being present. The final action was the appointment of the committee to report at another meeting to be held next Thursday.

The propositions were received from the International Savings and Trust Company of Pittsburgh and the International Bank and Trust Company of New York. The details of the offers are not made public. There was considerable opposition to any merger whatever.

The New York company proposes to make of the Public Trust, in case its offer is accepted, the Pittsburgh branch of the concern. It has already offices in New York, San Francisco, Seattle and other cities and controls a number of banks in Mexico.

The International Savings and Trust Company of Pittsburgh, which made the second offer, is a local concern which has not yet started operations. Its capital stock is $250,000. A list of incorporators of the company includes W. B. Lupton, Homer J. Lindsay, Charles A. Muehlbronner, Max Rosenbaum, Louis Mosser, A. W. Tennant, H. White, Esq., Dr. W. H. Ewing and T. A. Dye. A temporary office has been opened at No. 312 Fourth avenue.

The committee which has been appointed to investigate the two propositions and report at the adjourned meeting of the stockholders consists of W. A. Stone, Uniontown; J. E. Davis, Ursina; G. H. Getty, New Wilmington; W. A. Hindman, Clairton; John F. Anderson, Butler; James L. DeLong and Thomas L. Owen of Pittsburgh.

A large proportion of the company's stockholders are from the larger towns of Western Pennsylvania outside of Allegheny county. The company was organized about a year ago.

EDITORS SENTENCED AT COMMAND OF KAISER

LEIPSIC, Oct. 15.—The court here has sentenced Herr Luettich, the editor of the Leipsic Volks Zeitung to six months imprisonment; Herr Hellman of the Altenburg Volks Zeitung, to three months, and Dr. Schoepplin, member of the Reichstag and an editor of the Leipsic Volks Zeitung, to four months, for publishing an article concerning an alleged half brother of the German emperor reproduced from a Vienna paper.

Pythians Elect Commander.

CHARLESTON, W. VA., Oct. 15.—(Special.)—Maj. J. A. Ewing of Moundsville has been elected brigadier general of the West Virginia brigade, uniform rank, Knights of Pythias, succeeding Gen. J. H. Lancaster. Twenty-three out of the 35 companies in the state are represented at the meeting, which is being held here during the session of the state grand lodge of the Knights of Pythias. Gen. Carnahan, commanding chief of the uniform rank, was here from Indianapolis with his aide, Gen. Durand of Columbus, O.

Today Is Autumn Arbor Day.

Autumnal Arbor day will be observed in the public schools of Pennsylvania today, but principally in the schools in the country districts, which are usually closed at spring Arbor day. The main feature of the observance is the planting of trees by pupils.

CLARKE WILL CONTINUE AS LEADER OF THE PIRATES

CLARKE REMAINS PIRATE'S LEADER

Signs a Contract to Remain With Team for Three Years Longer.

WILL FIGHT FOR PLAYERS

Fred Clarke is to continue as manager and captain of the Pittsburgh team for three more years, was the pleasing news handed out at local baseball headquarters yesterday afternoon. This may not prove much of a surprise to the baseball public, who know nothing of the inside matters of the Pirates, but it is a fact, nevertheless, that there was very grave danger of the team's peerless leader pulling up stakes and quitting the game altogether.

Toward the latter end of the season just closed there sprung up a breach between the manager and club owner which threatened to end in the parting of Clarke and Dreyfuss, who have been in baseball together for 11 years. It has been pretty generally known that Clarke's contract with the Pittsburgh team expired this year, and when it came to the matter of the renewal of the contract there was trouble. Clarke was quite willing to remain as the Pirates' leader, but objected to being mauled for his services was not to the liking of the club owner, and he was not slow in saying so, and that ended the matter for the time being.

Both Clarke and Dreyfuss are men of temper, and both made a display of the same, so that for a time it looked very much as though there would be a permanent split. Neither was to be an inch, in fact, the feeling was so warm that they glared at each other when they met, and that friendly feeling which had always been so apparent was missing. Friends on both sides got mixed up in the matter and tried to heal the trouble, but it was no use, as their good offices were rejected, and it was concluded that the only thing to do was to allow time to do the work.

This proved a wise move, for time and the late world's championship series were the very things needed to bring about peace. Both owner and manager had time to sit on the fence during the latter part of this series, and when the Pirates went down to defeat there was a mutual sorrow, which ended up in a calm, dispassionate discussion of the team's future. In the discussion of the whole business was that Clarke asked for a contract, and without further talk affixed his signature to it, and the time filled in was for three years. The signing of Clarke is to remain as the team's leader will be good news to the local lovers of the game. It was not given out what the salary will be.

The Pittsburgh players got back from Boston early yesterday morning, and at 10 o'clock they assembled at the club headquarters, where there was a division of the money made by the team in the recent world's series. This money was in the hands of President Dreyfuss, who gave it all to the players, keeping for himself not one cent for himself. The amount handed each player was $1,316.26, and the total cut from the $1,000 bill in the series by reason of injury was counted in and given a full share. One full share was held out and was divided between Carrisch, Groundkeeper Murphy, Trainer Lafferie, and Mrs. Edward Doheny, wife of the unfortunate Pirate. The players wanted one share given to Secretary Locke, but he absolutely refused to accept one cent for his services.

After the players had been handed their prize money they were given checks for their salaries in full, and then there was a rush on the bank. Pitcher Pete Kennedy insisted on having a $1,000 bill, which he proudly exhibited and claimed it was more money than he ever had in his life at one time. During the day there were two pleasant happenings at the headquarters, one of which was the presentation to President Dreyfuss by the players of a handsome gold split second stop watch. The other was the presentation to Manager Clarke by the players of a handsome watch chain and Elks' charm. Both presents were unexpected, and the recipients could do no more than say thanks.

In the afternoon the players again assembled at the headquarters, where goodbys were said and the team was formally disbanded for the season. Quite a number of the players departed for their homes last night, and the rest, including Manager Clarke, will leave today. Phillippe and Wagner are the only ones who will winter in this city. Sam Leever will spend a few days hunting with Hans Wagner, and on Saturday will start for Mt. Clemens, where he hopes to boil the rheumatism out of his pitching arm. Leever will also visit Harry Phillippe, who also has a touch of rheumatism in his arm, and the pair will spend a month at the health resort.

President Dreyfuss stated yesterday that he expects to have to make a fight to secure the services of Pitcher Ferry and Outfielder McIntyre, who were recently drafted from the Buffalo club of the Eastern League. The reason of this is that George Stallings, manager of the Buffalo team, is trying to work a sharp dodge in order to save his players from the draft. Stallings has offered one-half of the players to the Detroit team and the other half to Cleveland, the understanding being that the players will be returned to him just as soon as the drafting season is over. The owner promises to make a strong fight for the two players.

OUR PITTSBURGH BOYS.

They Will Be on the Princeton Freshmen Eleven That Meets Shadyside.

PRINCETON, Oct. 15. — (Special.)—Four Pittsburgh boys—McClintock, Sloan, Zahniser and Dalmever—will be on the squad when the freshmen team goes west to play Shadyside next Saturday.

The freshmen expect a hard game, and, as they have but two days more practice before their long trip, Coach Roper put them through a hard game against the scrub today, after which Manager Chandler gave out the following list of players who will line up against Shadyside:

Center—Roberts, Riverview academy, 166 pounds. Guards—Davis, Denver High school, 172 pounds; Halstead, Worcester academy, 165 pounds. Tackles—Smith, St. Paul's, Long Island, 157 pounds; Herrwig, Lawrenceville, 155 pounds; Cameron, Marsten's Prep., 155 pounds. Ends—Stock, Pingree, 145 pounds; Andrews, Blair hall, 148 pounds; Davis, Mohegin, 150 pounds. Quarter—Tenny, Penn Charter, 150 pounds; Turner, Princeton Prep., 142 pounds. Half backs—Zahniser, East Liberty, 168 pounds; Brown, Elizabeth High school, 153 pounds; Harris, Lawrenceville, 156 pounds; Pearly, Mercersburg, 160 pounds. Full backs—McClintock, Exeter, 160 pounds; Waterworth, Andover, 157 pounds.

THE SERIES A TIE.

Chicago Teams Won Seven Games Each.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—The series for the local championship closed today, with another defeat for the Nationals and without result, each team having won and lost seven games. The contest today was a pitchers' battle. A base on balls, a sacrifice, an error, Green's timely two-bagger were the only runs. Not a hit was made off either pitcher after the fourth inning. The score:

Nationals	0	0	4
Americans	2	4	1

Batteries—Lundgren and Kling; Altrock and Sullivan. Umpires—Sheridan and Johnstone. Attendance, 4,000. Time of game—1:23.

ARMY AND NAVY GAME.

Teams Will Meet Again Under the Old Conditions.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—It was announced at the navy department today that the football game between the United States military and naval academies will be played this year under the old conditions and the usual date. The make the game occur November 28.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 15.—There is nothing at the military academy over the announcement that the Annapolis-West Point football game will be played this season as usual. A committee will be appointed to decide all disputes arising over football between the two academies.

Will Be Fine Contest.

One of the best football games of the season will take place tomorrow afternoon on the Pittsburgh college grounds, when the Lyceum and Pastime A. C. meet. These are recognized as the leading amateur teams in this section and the football critics know there will be something doing when these teams clash. The Pastimes are being coached this year by Louie Rosser, an old Homestead player, and they have one victory to their credit this season, having defeated Crafton last Saturday. The Lyceums are under the direction of Coach Dyal of D. C. and A. C. fame, and he is confident they will win.

BICYCLE RIDERS WHO HAVE BECOME RICH

Frank Kramer, Bobby Walthour and Major Taylor Retire and Have Plenty to Live On.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BUFFALO, Oct. 15.—Three cycle champions whose retirement from the path has been announced of late, carry away with them small fortunes. Two of the trio, Frank Kramer, for three years champion of the sprinters, and Bobbie Walthour, for several years a flyer in the highest ranks of pace followers and winner of the six-day races, enter the automobile field, while Major Taylor, the colored rider, hailed as the champion sprinter of the world, has not decided upon the future. Two are married men, and one, Walthour, has three children. All are property owners. Walthour's neat little home in Atlanta, furnished handsomely and expensively, is all paid for, while Taylor's residence is one of the most expensive in Worcester, Mass., and located in one of the best neighborhoods of the city.

Kramer owns a home at East Orange, N. J., in which he lives with his manager, F. H. Burnett. Two of the three riders whose earnings have enabled them to retire from cycling with no worry regarding the future, started humbly and made their fortunes entirely in cycle racing. Walthour, as a boy, was an inmate of an orphan asylum at Savannah, graduating from the asylum to a position as bicycle messenger boy in Atlanta, and thence to the cycle track in 1891. He made his way slowly in the field, but three years ago came into prominence as a pace follower, and was soon earning a competence.

Major Taylor's father was an ash man in Indianapolis, living at Slago. Taylor was a lad and ran around back around the cellar stores of Indianapolis until Major Munger made him cook and boy of all work in the famous bachelor quarters conducted by him at Indianapolis. Taylor followed Munger, and, entering a six-day race of 1896, made such a start in cycle racing that the rest came easy.

Kramer, when a schoolboy in New Jersey, developed an ability on the wheel which caused Mr. Burnett, his father's partner, to start his gradual development as a cycle rider. Amateur champion one year and then two, he entered the professional field to lose the championship the first year to Major Taylor, becoming the champion the following year, he has won the honors for three years steadily. Kramer is the first rider since the days of Eddie Bald, and the only modern cycling history to win the championship for three successive years. Cooper is also in automobiling.

None of the champions before Cooper's time proved able to hold their earnings. Gardiner, champion in 1882, 1883 and 1884; Sanger, champion in 1804, 1895 and 1806; Zimmerman, champion of the earlier '90s; Willie Windle, Walter Sanger, Johnnie Johnson and many more have worked in the business and today, with little or nothing to show for their years of success on the track. A majority of them tried business life after leaving the track and failed.

LIVELY GAMES LIKELY AMONG SCHOOL TEAMS

Three Games Are Scheduled for This Afternoon—W. U. P. Eleven Ready.

There promises to be some lively football games on local gridirons between school elevens this afternoon. Three games are scheduled and there will be all kinds of fun, as the school rooters turn out in force and are not afraid to cut loose when the opportunity presents itself.

Out at Friendship park the Pittsburgh and Steubenville High school teams will meet and the contest should be a good one, as the teams are very evenly matched. The way in which High school players are rounding to under Coach James gives promise of good contests in the future. The boys are playing fast, aggressive football, and expect to roll up a good sized score against Steubenville today.

The East Liberty academy football team will meet the Pittsburgh College Reserves on the gridiron this afternoon at D. C. and A. C. park at Wilkinsburg at 3:30 o'clock. Although E. L. A. has already lost two games this season the players have not given up hope and are confident of winning this afternoon. The teams will line up as follows:

E. L. A.		Pgh. College Res.
Taylor	L. E.	Duffy
Hannen	L. T.	Campbell
McCandless or Straub	L. G.	McLaughlin
Leak or L. Edwards	C.	Stelb
Frey	R. G.	Howard or Whalen
Sutton or Winn	R. T.	Rankin
Dunn or J. Edwards	R. E.	Ahens or Spangler
Bunton	Q. B.	Schlueter
Carr	L. H.	Keating
Seibert or Bryan	R. H.	Dowling
Bulger	F. B.	Snyder

The Allegheny Prep. school team will play the Allegheny High school team at the Colosseum this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Line up:

A. P. S.		A. H. S.
Hendricks	L. E.	McKown
Ed Murphy	L. T.	Dean
Fahnestock	L. G.	Stober
Mayer	C.	Fenderick
Evans	R. G.	Allison
Lastin	R. T.	Lacock, King
Murphy	R. E.	McNair
Fleming	Q. B.	Thompson
Evans	L. H.	Kanamaker
Heller	R. H.	Miller
Fife	F. B.	Chattam

Tomorrow on the Colosseum gridiron the W. U. P. and Grove City college team will have their first meeting of the season. Coach Mosse of W. U. P. reports that he will place on the field a much stronger team than in any game this season, and he looks for a victory, but expects hard work to secure it. The W. U. P. team has been having some fine practice work during the week.

UNDER THE SAME ROOF.

Maj. Delmar and Lou Dillon Are at Memphis to Prepare for Race.

MEMPHIS, TENN., Oct. 15.—(Special.)—The present king and queen of trotters are occupying stalls under the same roof for the first time in their lives. Major Delmar, Mr. E. E. Smathers' two-minute champion, arrived at the local track from Lexington this morning and was unloaded just as Lou Dillon, Mr. Alta McDonald's mare, was receiving her final mile heat of the day, in preparation for the gold cup contest, in which she is to meet Major Delmar next Tuesday.

Major Delmar was assigned to quarters in the Billyings barn, not far from Lou Dillon. With Millard Saunders driving, Lou Dillon was sent three mile heats, each of which negotiated in about 2:15. Major Delmar spent the day in resting in preparation for his first preliminary over the local track tomorrow. Alta McDonald, who trains the champion gelding, wired to his local representative that he would arrive tomorrow morning to administer the finishing touches to Major Delmar for the big race.

Myron McHenry today notified the local association that Dan Patch would try to break his own record over this track, and also try to establish a new world's pacing record, held by Prince Alert, 1:57.

WON HAMMER THROW.

Pittsburgh Boy Regarded as a Coming Champion.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 15.—(Special.)—Ewing Lawrence Rafferty of Pittsburgh won the 16-pound hammer throwing event at the annual Caledonia track games of Princeton university held this afternoon on University field. Rafferty hurled the missle 105 feet 4½ inches, beating the mark of Daub, the second man, by many inches.

Rafferty is a sophomore and is one of the most promising hammer throwers that Princeton has ever had. Next to this intercollegiate champion hammer thrower and football captain, Rafferty is probably the best weight hurler wearing the orange and black.

VICTIM OF A SWINDLER.

Englishman Met a Stranger on Steamer and Let Him Have $60 on Arrival Here.

H. S. McDonald, who came to this city three days ago from Southampton, England, was the victim of a swindler in Smithfield street yesterday and lost about $60. McDonald, on the steamer coming over met a Mr. Stewart, who represented himself as a cattle dealer. McDonald is at present staying at No. 729 Maryland avenue. Stewart asked McDonald if he had any money, as he wanted to send some to relatives in the west. Stewart presented some gold certificates which he offered McDonald for security. McDonald refused the certificates and handed Stewart nine five-pound notes and a $5 and $10 bill.

Stewart told him to wait until he got a money order. McDonald waited, but Stewart never returned. McDonald went to the detective headquarters, but no trace of Stewart could be found last night.

Mrs. Blaisdell in Serious Condition.

Mrs. Blaisdell, wife of Prof. T. C. Blaisdell of the Pittsburgh high school, who was removed from her home during the fire in Crafton Wednesday night, is in a serious condition from the shock and the effects of a previous illness from which she was recovering. Water is still scarce in the hilltop section of Crafton, although there is water in the lower sections. Vans were in demand in Crafton yesterday to remove the furniture which had been taken from the houses that were destroyed.

Reduced Wages Caused Strike.

As a result of a cut from $6.25 to $5 a ton, the puddlers employed in the Moorehead Bros. Company plant at Sharpsburg went on strike last midnight. About 250 men will be affected.

Blast Furnaces Banked.

The Isabella blast furnaces at Etna closed down yesterday indefinitely, throwing out of employment 600 men. No reason was given for the shutdown.

MONTE CARLO WON DECIDING HEAT

DAN PATCH FAILED TO START

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

LEXINGTON, KY., Oct. 15.—The chief interest in the trotting races today centered in the seventh and deciding heat of the rich McDowell stake for 2:10 trotters. Monte Carlo, Hawthorne and Dr. Strong, the starters in the seventh heat today, had each taken two heats yesterday. Monte Carlo, favorite in the pooling at $50 to $35 for the field, composed of the other two horses, won the heat and the race. Strung out behind him were Hawthorne and Dr. Strong in the order named.

Although the track was fast, Dan Patch did not start against time today, as was announced, on account of the weather conditions.

In three heats out of four Hal Chaffin won the Wilson stake, 2:20 class trotting, from the favorite, Foxy Curd. Gracie Keller, favorite, won the 2:16 class trotting in straight heats. Harold H., favorite, won in two straight heats the 2:02 class pacing. Bessie Brown, favorite in the 2:20 class trotting, won in two straight heats. Summaries:

THE MONONGAHELA RACES.

The West Newton Match Event Was Laughable.

MONONGAHELA CITY, PA., Oct. 15.—(Special.)—Drizzling rain in the forenoon resulted in a smaller crowd than would otherwise have attended the first day of the Monongahela Matinee, but good sport was given. King Alcantara, favorite, three-minute pace, did not disappoint backers, though Roland R. gave a hot finish in the third heat. The West Newton match race to settle local rivalry produced rounds of laughter, but was a farce from a racing standpoint. All were supposed to be buggy horses without track experience. Frazier Hamilton, whose Simple Simon won the first straight heats, was accused of bringing in a ringer. Betting on Simple Simon was spirited. Summaries:

WANTS WALCOTT AGAIN.

Kid Carter After Another Go With Black Demon.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(Special.)—Joe Machnis, manager of "Kid" Carter, the light heavyweight fighter, has issued a challenge to match Carter against Joe Walcott in a 15 or 20-round bout before the club offering the best inducements.

Machnis says the referee gave Carter a raw deal when he rendered the decision against him in their bout in Boston on Tuesday night.

M. P. Missionaries Met at Bellevue.

The quarterly meeting of the Woman's Missionary society of the Methodist Protestant church was held last night in the Bellevue church. The election was deferred until the next meeting at Sheraden. The association voted $2,000 for a silver jubilee offering for the 25th annual meeting next May. This is part of a general sum of $10,000 which will be raised for the jubilee offering.

Child Drank Carbolic Acid.

Peter Morecaski, aged 2 years, son of John Morecaski of Langtry street, Allegheny, who drank carbolic acid late Wednesday night, is in a critical condition. The child found the poison in a cupboard. Dr. W. B. Arnold worked with the child for several hours before restoring it to consciousness.

TO BAR THE PLUNGERS.

They Are Not Wanted on the Courses Controlled by the Jockey Club.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(Special.)—It is no certainty that the colors of E. R. Thomas will be seen at Bennings during the forthcoming meeting at the Washington track. Behind this rumor is the supposition that the powers which hold the situation at Bennings have intimated in an indirect way to the young multi-millionaire that he is not wanted at the track.

The Thomas-Shields confederacy has learned the fact that stall room has all been taken up at Washington. It is the case of John A. Drake all over again. The plunging methods of Thomas, it is said, constitute objections to his presence on the course controlled by the Jockey club.

Mr. Thomas had nothing to say concerning Washington, while Shields said the idea of racing after the close of the New York circuit had not been thought about as yet. However, there is a well-founded suspicion today that none of the plungers will be welcomed at the course by the Potomac next month.

RACES AND BASEBALL.

The Canal Doverites Like Their Sport Mixed.

CANAL DOVER, O., Oct. 15.—(Special.)—A high rain early this morning put the track in fine condition and two good races were held. One driver had a bad spill on the home stretch, but fortunately no bones were broken and he was able to drive the next two heats, winning the 2:24 pace, during the afternoon. Trenton won a game of baseball from Mineral City by a score of 12 to 3. A record breaking attendance was there, and made itself known in cheering the drivers. Following are the summaries:

Charley, ch. g., Phillips	1	4	4	2	2
Billy C., b. g., Baughman	4	1	1	2	1

FRANKIE NEIL'S COMMENT.

Does Not Think Much of Former Champion Forbes.

LOS ANGELES, CAL., Oct. 15.—(Special.)—"Now, who is the dub and second-rater? From what I can judge from the report of the fight by rounds, this boy Feltz has been to Forbes about all he could handle and just a little more, too." This was Frankie Neil's observation today on the fight in Detroit between Harry Forbes and Tommy Feltz, last night.

"I consider both Johnny Reagan and Tommy Feltz of the men than the former champion. I shall take on Tommy Feltz, if I have beaten Johnny Reagan. Forbes must get out and do something before I can possibly consider him entitled to another show for the bantam laurels."

Neil fights Reagan Friday night for the bantam weight championship. The betting now has Neil at 6 to 10 favorite.

Wash.-Jeff's Thin Excuse for Not Meeting Geneva.

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 15.—(Special.)—Manager Charles Tutt of the Washington-Jefferson football team, this afternoon stated he was willing to arrange a game with Geneva college either at Beaver Falls or Washington. Manager Tutt stated that the college faculty refused to allow him to offer more than $125 guarantee to Geneva for playing in Washington, and 40 per cent of the gate receipts. Geneva offered $250 guarantee or an option of 60 per cent of the gate receipts.

Manager Tutt claims that his offer though seeming small, is not so, as Washington is a better football town. Capt. Hayes and members of the local team are anxious to meet the Beaver county players. It is not certain that there will be a game for next Saturday and the coaches are not working the men hard. An effort is being made to develop a drop kicker out of Frowitt, the local full back.

MAY CRIPPLE TIGERS.

Some of Best Players Burdened With Conditions.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 15.—(Special.)—The Tigers may yet be severely crippled before the game with Yale. Kafer, Bradley and Rafferty, all varsity men of note, are burdened with conditions which have not been removed yet and may debar them.

The practice this afternoon was very fast, but Dewitt and Cooney did not play from the effects of the Lehigh game. Daub was back at tackle again, and Dillon, the big freshman, played center, while Waller was moved to guard.

HUNTING SEASON OPENS.

Plenty of Game Reported in the Country Districts.

The hunting season opened yesterday and all game with the exception of rabbits were allowed. Reports from the country districts were to the effect that an abundance of game was to be had, particularly squirrels and quail.

Beginning with yesterday the season will be open for squirrels, including gray, black and fox squirrels; quails, grouse, pheasants, wild turkeys, woodcock, upland plover, deer and all kinds of webfooted fowls. The season for rabbits will open November 1. The season for deer will close on December 1; for squirrels, quails, pheasants and woodcocks, December 15.

CARLISLE CONVENTION ENDS

After a Busy Day With Routine Business the Convention Adjourns Amid a Scene of Enthusiasm—Delegates Will Visit Battlefield of Gettysburg Today.

[From a Staff Correspondent.]
[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CARLISLE, PA., Oct. 15.—The eighth annual meeting of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women closed tonight with a burst of enthusiasm. The climax was reached with the announcement of the election returns. Miss Kate C. McKnight was elected president. The returns were read by Mrs. Rudolph Blankenberg of Philadelphia, judge of election. Miss McKnight responded in a very happy speech.

The other officers elected included: Vice president of the eastern district, Mrs. Taylor Scarlett, New Century club, Kennett Square; central district, Mrs. Johnston MacLanahan, Afternoon club, Chambersburg; western district, Mrs. Ida M. Houghton, Women's Literary club, Bradford; secretary, Miss Mary Knox Garvin, Alumnae Association of the Girls' High and Normal schools, Philadelphia; treasurer, Mrs. Wilbur Fisk Litch, Women's club, Ardmore; directors, Mrs. Horace Brock, Women's club, Lebanon; Mrs. Ellis Lewis Campbell, Saturday club, Wayne; Mrs. Wilbur F. Rose, New Century club, Philadelphia; Mrs. P. M. Speer, Belles Lettres club, Oil City.

The nine delegates to represent the federation at the general federation meeting in St. Louis include Miss Mary Knox Garvin, Philadelphia, working delegate, with her expenses paid; Mrs. Ellis Lewis Campbell, Wayne; Miss Kate C. McKnight, Pittsburgh; Mrs. Edward W. Biddle, Carlisle; Mrs. Myra A. Dock, Harrisburg; Mrs. J. H. Scheide, Titusville; Miss Blanche Craighead, Pittsburgh; Mrs. Taylor Scarlett, Kennett Square, and Miss Jane Campbell, Philadelphia. The alternates are Mrs. S. A. Ammon, Pittsburgh; Mrs. C. D. Armstrong, Wilkinsburg; Mrs. Horace Brock, Lebanon; Miss Jane Pressley, Erie; Mrs. George Rhode, Bethlehem; Mrs. D. B. R. Keim, Reading; Mrs. Charles N. Thorpe, Philadelphia; Mrs. P. L. Newill, Bradford; Mrs. Edwin Linton, Washington. Mrs. Edward W. Biddle was elected federation secretary. Mrs. Ellis Lewis Campbell, the retiring president, was elected honorary president by acclamation.

Color Question Up Again.

A boycott of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women was attempted this week in Carlisle, when the colored waiters and maids proposed to strike during the stay of the club women. The reason assigned was the oft-repeated prohibition against the admission of colored women to the different clubs in the state.

The ominous color question threatened to create havoc in the plans arranged by the local committee for the entertainment of their guests. Persuasion and infinite tact on the part of the Carlisle people however, prevented the catastrophe and the cordial hospitality of the people of this historic town has been extended without a hitch, the townspeople throwing open their own doors when the hotel accommodations were exhausted.

The election of officers today overshadowed all other proceedings of the third day of the annual meeting of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women. The election took place at the morning session and following the sage address to vote early and often the delegates hurried to the polls, the tellers being careful, however, to see that they did not follow the admonition too literally.

Library work was discussed at the morning session today, Thomas F. Montgomery, state librarian, delivering an address on "Pennsylvania in Library Work."

Progress of Caterpillar War.

The remainder of the morning and an hour in the afternoon were devoted to listening to the three-minute reports from the individual clubs. Slow progress was made and only the clubs in the early part of the alphabetical order were called. The Civic club of Wilkinsburg presented a most interesting report of its work to exterminate the caterpiller scourge, its prize system for the beautifying of yards and streets and the various other features of its civic work. The Columbian council of Jewish women in Bradford came to the front with its story of work for the consumption hospital in Denver, which is supported by the Jews, but is non-sectarian in character.

Tomorrow morning the club women will visit the battlefield of Gettysburg, but 26 miles from Carlisle, returning in the late afternoon. Many will then leave for their homes in Eastern and Western Pennsylvania.

PROHIBITIONISTS BUSY.

Have a County Ticket With the Exception of District Attorney.

The Prohibition party last night held a caucus in the office of J. A. McConnell, in the Farmers Bank building, and ways and means of conducting the fall campaign were discussed at length. About 25 persons were present and Charles R. Jones, state chairman, addressed them.

The party has no candidate for district attorney, though some misunderstanding. The other candidates are: S. B. Dunham of Allegheny, for sheriff; H. C. Sawyer of the Thirty-second ward, for prothonotary; T. C. Babridge of McKeesport, for jury commissioner, and C. W. Eddy of the Twentieth ward, for director of the poor.

DOINGS IN SOCIETY

THE daintiest of decorations characterized the wedding of Miss Frances Patton Mills and Robert B. Carnahan, Jr., which took place last evening at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Theodore Tonnele of College avenue. It was a yellow and white wedding with yellow dahlias prevailing in the decorative scheme. A quantity of greens was used in the hall, a large cluster of dahlias finding its place on the stairway, while a pretty effect was given in the decorations of two little window seats on the first landing. A cluster of yellow blooms occupied the center of the bride's table, where the chairs were gold painted. The table was covered with lace over a lining of yellow. The ceremony, which was performed at 6:30 o'clock, took place under a floral bell of white chrysanthemums and asparagus fern. Over the white window curtains the vine was trailed effectively, while at either side were crimson curtains, surmounted by smilax. Smaller white bells hung in the doorways of the dining room and here and there through the house where the lights were shaded in yellow, daisies peeped out from the folds of the shades. White mallne looped from the flower-decked chandeliers to each corner of the parlor, and there tied with white satin ribbon, gave a decidedly pretty appearance.

The bride, in a handsome gown of crepe de chine cut en traine, was attended by her sister as matron of honor, wearing a white lace robe. The bride's flowers were roses, the matron of honor carrying white chrysanthemums. The two maids Miss Josephine Tyers of Dobbs Ferry and Miss Katherine Carnahan, a sister of the bridegroom, wore gowns of yellow crepe and carried dahlias matching their gowns in color. Mr. Carnahan was supported by Harry William Wallace as best man, and the ushers were Benjamin P. Mills, James H. Lockhart, William Elkins and Daniel G. Wallace. After a wedding trip in the east, Mr. Carnahan will take his bride to Middleton, where he is in business, having recently removed there from Pittsburgh.

Shaw—Seely.

An exceedingly pretty home wedding took place last evening when Miss Jean S. Shaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Shaw of St. Clair street, became the wife of Charles B. Seely, son of the late Charles B. Seely and Mrs. Seely of The Kenmawr. The only bridal attendants were two little cousins of the bride, Miss Dorothy and Miss Jean Miller, children of Mr. and Mrs. Humphries Miller of St. Clair street. Each little maid wore a frock of white mull with lace trimmings and carried two long stemmed roses in one hand and in the other the cord forming an aisle for the bride and bridegroom. The bride's gown was of white crepe meteor with duchesse lace trimmings. Her veil was fastened with ostrich tips and she carried a shower of lilies of the valley and roses. The Rev. Dr. Robert Russell of the Sixth United Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony at 8 o'clock in the presence of about 100 guests, friends and relatives of the young couple.

Yellow chrysanthemums were used almost exclusively in the decorations. They appeared in large bunches on the mantel and formed a background for the bridal party. Pink roses were massed on the chandeliers in the parlor, a pink and green apartment, smilax draping the doorways and windows. The green library was done in pink chrysanthemums, the mantel being banked only at one end. Asparagus and roses decked the chandeliers. A particularly artistic effect was produced in the chandelier decorations in the dining room. The globes were covered with the blossoms, while on gauze ribbons hung single yellow blooms in a shower. The centerpiece was of the same flowers. Chrysanthemums were also used in the rooms on the second floor. After an eastern wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Seely will be at home in North Euclid avenue, and it is probable that several social affairs will be given for them. Their at-home cards give dates after January 1.

McClure—Ebbets.

An interesting wedding was performed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Risher McClure, Ann street and Tenth avenue, Homestead, last evening at 7 o'clock by the Rev. Nathan Dushane Hyndon, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. The bride was Miss Mary Glendall McClure and the bridegroom Samuel Henry Ebbets of Swissvale. The maid of honor was Miss Eva Gamble of East End, Pittsburgh, while the bridesmaids were Miss Anna Risher of Oakland, Miss Lillian Hirth of Homestead, Miss Beulah Wallace of Frankfort, Ind., and Miss Bertha M. Taylor of Irwin. Miss Wallace, one of the bridesmaids, and the bride were schoolmates at the National Park seminary in Washington, D. C. The best man was R. Pitcairn Ebbets, a brother of the bridegroom, and the ushers were Risher and Robert McClure, brothers of the bride; George Linley of Philadelphia and J. Hart Hileman of the East End, Pittsburgh. Miss Ruth Watson, a niece of the bride, was flower girl, while Master Montgomery Biddle of Pittsburgh, a cousin of the bride, was ring bearer. The bride was attired in a gown of chiffon and duchess lace over French taffeta and wore a bridal veil fastened with a diamond pin, the gift of the bridegroom, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. After a wedding reception and supper Mr. and Mrs. Ebbets left for an eastern trip. They will be at home in Homestead after November 1.

McMillan-Van Kirk.

In the First Methodist Episcopal church, Washington, Pa., at 7 o'clock last night took place the marriage of Miss Elizabeth McMillan of Washington and Dr. Herbert Spencer Van Kirk of McKeesport. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. R. Brumbaugh. The color scheme was green and white, and the church was beautifully decorated. The maid of honor was Miss Arielle Vivian McMillan, the bride's sister. The bridesmaids were Miss Virginia Van Kirk, a sister of the bridegroom, Miss Blanche Baird of Wheeling, Miss Edith Duncan of Sheraden, Miss Jeannette Lyle, Miss Lulu Robinson and Miss Edna McWhinney of Washington. The best man was James Patterson of McKeesport, and the ushers were Hartley B. Woods, Clyde Young, Edward C. Thorne and Dr. James Patterson of McKeesport, Campbell Heath of Monongahela and Wilfred Lyle of Canonsburg.

The bride wore a gown of white crepe chiffon trimmed with lace and carried white chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids wore white embroidered chiffon trimmed with lace and carried maidenhair fern arranged in shower bouquets. The church was thronged with the friends of both young people. After the wedding a reception took place at the home of the bride's parents. Dr. and Mrs. Van Kirk left for a wedding trip of five weeks to New York. They will reside in Walnut street, McKeesport.

Plans for an Entertainment.

At a meeting of the Relief club yesterday afternoon the members decided to hold a musicale and bazar on the afternoon of November 18 in the South Highland auditorium. The proceeds will be used to furnish Christmas cheer for the children the club took care of this summer at the home in Idlewood. In the evening a dance will be given. The club was organized about a year ago to do charitable work, and this summer hundreds of children from the city were entertained at the home in Idlewood. Miss Florence Lanahan is president of the club, which is composed of 16 young women of the East End. Its other members are Mrs. Albert Dashbach, Miss Katherine Vilsack, Mrs. Vincent Maher, Miss Pauline Donnelly, Miss Johanna Reilly, Miss Camilla Frauenheim, Miss May Rogers, Miss Heyl, Miss Anne Heyl, Miss Gertrude McCaffrey, Miss Stella Loughney, Miss Jane Patterson, Miss Ruth Weldon, Miss Emily and Miss Edith Keating.

Carline-McGill.

The wedding of Miss Camp C. Carline and William J. McGill took place last evening at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. W. F. Prince of Boquet street, at 8:30 o'clock. The Rev. Thomas J. Leak, pastor of the Oakland Methodist Episcopal church, officiated. The bride was given away by her brother, Joseph Carline, and was attended by her sister, Mrs. Prince, as matron of honor. Miss Louise Deitler of Bluff street was bridesmaid. Daniel McGill of Toronto, Canada, was his brother's best man, and Miss Amy Williams acted as flower girl. Pale blue was worn by the little flower girl, white mousseline de soie forming the bridal gown. Mrs. Prince wore blue silk, the maid appearing in white silk. The bride and bridegroom will be at home in Boquet street on Wednesdays.

Allen-Greer.

A pretty but quiet home wedding was solemnized yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Ellen Allen, Fourth street, Braddock, when her daughter, Miss Margaret Allen, became the wife of Robert J. Greer of Allegheny. The service was performed by the Rev. William F. Slade, pastor of the First Congregational church of Braddock. There were about 40 guests present. Miss Nancy Allen, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and the best man was John Tyler. The bride wore a gown of white satin with lace trimmings, and her bridesmaid wore pink crepe de chine. The couple left on a wedding trip, and on their return will reside in North avenue, Allegheny.

For a November Bride.

Mrs. Frank R. Davenport gave a pretty luncheon at her home in Hill street, Sewickley, yesterday at 1:30 o'clock. The affair was also in the form of a handkerchief shower for Miss Julia Davenport of the East End, whose engagement was announced last week to Charles Eyster of Ben Avon, and whose marriage will take place in early November. Covers were laid for 12 and the decorations were in green and white. Besides the hostess and honor guest there were present Miss Frances Montgomery, Mrs. George Kepler, Mrs. John Walters, Miss Alice Graham, Miss Etta Eyster, Miss Jessie Murray, Miss Estelle Burns, Miss Bert Johnston, Miss Bessie Johnston and Miss Sarah Murdock.

In Honor of Miss McKinley.

A theater party of last evening was that given by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vose Babcock of South Negley avenue, in honor of Miss Mabel McKinley (Mrs. Hermanus Baer), at the Avenue theater. Those in the party were Mr. and Mrs. Babcock, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Shidle, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Stone, Mr. and Mrs. F. Raymond Babcock, Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Pickerson, D. J. H. Thompson and Miss Nellie Harrison of Somerset. After the play, the party accompanied by Miss McKinley and Dr. Baer, went to the Union club, where supper was served. Several members of the party were former schoolmates of Miss McKinley and Dr. Baer in Somerset.

Waugaman Family Reunion.

The descendants of the late Hezekiah Waugaman of Harrison City held their annual family reunion at the home of Dr. W. H. Waugaman in Maple avenue, Turtle Creek, Wednesday. There were 44 persons present, including four married grandchildren, three great-grandchildren and several neighbors and friends. One son, the Rev. Simon Waugaman, was unable to be present. After dinner the group was photographed and the infant daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Waugaman was baptized. The child was named Ebie Marian.

Musicale in Oakmont.

A musicale under the auspices of the King's Daughters, connected with the Presbyterian church of Oakmont, will be given this evening in the lecture room of the church. An interesting program has been prepared.

NOTES OF SOCIETY.

Miss Susan E. Blow delivers the third in her series of lectures on Faust today in the United Presbyterian church, opposite the Hotel Schenley.

A farewell reception last evening was tendered the Rev. J. P. Marlatt, retiring pastor of the Tarentum Methodist church, who today assumes duties at the Butler Street Methodist Episcopal congregation of Pittsburgh.

Mrs. J. W. Dunn of South Homewood avenue gives a large afternoon reception today and the sophomores of the Pennsylvania College for Women entertain with a flinch party this evening.

A home wedding of yesterday was that of Miss Jennie Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billingsley Morgan of Washington avenue, Carnegie, who was married to James Gardner of Allegheny. The Rev. Joseph Duff, D. D., of Carnegie performed the ceremony.

The first of a series of meetings will be held this afternoon in the Fifth ward school, Allegheny. The meeting will be held under the auspices of the Parents' and Teachers' association, which conducted successful meetings last year. Dr. A. J. Needler will make an address.

At the home of the bride in Sterrett street Miss Lulu May Corbett last evening became the wife of Samuel Henry Allenbaugh. The Rev. Mr. Fowler of the Homewood Methodist Episcopal church officiated. The bridal attendants were Miss Caddie F. Allenbaugh and Cliff B. Poole.

The Qui Vive club of Wilkinsburg will hold its first of its fall and winter dances in Assembly hall, Penn avenue, on the evening of Thursday, October 22. The committee includes William Sloan, Thomas McMurray, Jr., George V. Kappel, Frank Mansfield, Joseph Armstrong and Robert K. McQuiston.

The return of Miss Louisa and Miss Minnie Mohr from a western trip was celebrated by a musicale at the Mohr home in Brereton avenue, East End, Wednesday evening. The affair was a surprise planned by Miss Mattie Linstenel and Miss Flora Steinbach. About 75 guests were in attendance, and the color scheme was pink and white.

The pedagogical section of the Academy of Science and Art will hold its regular meeting in the lecture room of Carnegie library Tuesday evening, October 20. The meeting will be in charge of Samuel Hamilton, and six-minute papers will be read by Dr. E. E. Frost, Dr. William D. McFarland, Miss Nannis Mackrell, Prof. A. H. Grant and Prof. J. B. Hench.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Epworth league of the North Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, Allegheny, will be held this evening, followed by an entertainment.

PITTSBURGHER PRINCIPAL IN A DOUBLE WEDDING

CLEVELAND, Oct. 15.—(Special.)—A pleasant double wedding occurred last evening on Streator avenue, in the aristocratic East End, and so quiet was the affair kept that the news of it did not leak out until today. The contracting parties were Lewis E. Alleston of Pittsburgh and Bertha C. Jones of Logan avenue, this city, and Joseph M. Patton of Berea and Essie B. Lane. The wedding occurred at the home of Miss Lane, she and the other bride being cousins and close friends. Mr. Patton is village solicitor at Berea, where he and his bride will live. Mr. and Mrs. Alleston will settle in Pittsburgh after a short trip.

WEST VIRGINIAN IS MARRIED IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(Special.)—An attractive wedding was celebrated this evening in the oak room at the Hotel Marie Antoinette, when Miss Florence M. Davis, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Robert Davis of Mont Clair, N. J., was married to Albert T. Watson of Fairmont, W. Va. The bride was given away by her mother. The attendants were the Misses Helen and Gertrude Davis, Eliza Watson and Marie Sanford. Mr. Charles Kauffman was best man.

Work of Humane Society.

The Humane society yesterday passed resolutions of regret on the death of William P. Herbert, one of the vice presidents. The following additional agents were appointed: J. J. Chivers, Bridgeville; John Gundy, Duquesne; William McWharter, Latrobe; Mrs. Johanna Bryson, Wheatland; William H. Barr, McKeesport.

METHODISTS ADJOURN MISSIONARY MEETING

Closing Session Devoted to an Address Upon the Progress in the Far East.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 15.—The eastern missionary convention of the Methodist Episcopal church came to an end tonight when a monster meeting was held in the academy of music. The convention, which began Tuesday, was a success in point of members attending its sessions and in the interest aroused for the Christianizing of the heathen world.

The morning session was taken up with addresses on "Africa," by Dr. E. H. Richards; "Japan," Dr. David S. Spencer; "China," Dr. James Limester; "Korea," Dr. George Heber Jones, and "India," Bishop James M. Thoburn. The afternoon was given up to sectional conferences, and tonight's session was taken up with addresses by Dr. William F. McDowell, corresponding secretary of the board of education; Bishop Warren A. Chandler, bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, since 1898, and Bishop E. G. Andrews.

Because of the recent course of events in the far east, the address of Dr. Spencer on Japan was particularly interesting to the delegates. He has spent 20 years in Japan, and told of the progress of mission work in that country.

"Just get The Delineator"

FOR FASHION'S LATEST FADS
"Just get The Delineator"
What is being made abroad is told in our letters from London and Paris, and what is to be worn here this Winter is fully pictured and described in detail. Many pages are devoted to illustrations of fashionable hats, creations of the best houses, and the newest dress fabrics, trimmings and accessories. The Dressmaking and Needlework departments are invaluable to the woman who would be well gowned.

FOR BRIGHTEST FICTION
"Just get The Delineator"
The cleverest story writers assist in making The Delineator's pages entertaining. In November, Lillie Hamilton French tells of "An Interrupted Honeymoon"; Minna C. Smith of "The Little Mail Carrier"; William MacLeod Raine of "An Unpremeditated Engagement"; and then the serial story, "The Evolution of a Club Woman," about which everybody is talking, is continued.

FOR HOUSEHOLD HELPS
"Just get The Delineator"
"Household Helps" is a trite expression. Far from trite are the helps continually offered in The Delineator by able writers who suggest new thoughts in cooking, happy arrangements in furnishing and short cuts in all branches of housekeeping.

FOR WOMAN'S SOCIAL DOINGS
"Just get The Delineator"
Woman's clubs, her entertainments, her obligations to society, and her various occupations, are delightfully treated from various view points.

For Children's Stories and Pastimes
"Just get The Delineator"
The Delineator's juvenile stories can really be enjoyed by children who read or are read to. The many suggestions offered keep little hands amusingly occupied, and teach while they amuse.

FOR ATTRACTIVE ILLUSTRATIONS
"Just get The Delineator"
The world's best illustrators make the Delineator's pages attractive. The second of J. C. Hemment's remarkable photographic articles, an uncommon story of Mr. Hemment's uncommon doings, is in the November number, and the work of Guerin, Rosenmeyer, Keller, Ashe, Lowell, Aylward, Leyendecker and Eaton appears monthly.

MISTRESS and... MAID

The Pittsburgh Gazette invites the contribution of articles not to exceed 300 words, describing with as much detail as possible the best system of household management, including the division of work, the schedule for the various days of the week, privileges accorded to help, etc.

The Gazette believes that the secret of a smooth-running household lies not so much in any special good fortune in securing unusually competent help, as in the capable direction of affairs by the mistress, a proper division and schedule of work for each day in the week, and in treating the help with at least as much consideration as a business man accords to the people he employs to assist him in his business, and in order to promote practical and thorough discussion, not of the "Servant Problem," but of the systematizing of housework and the administration of the "business" of keeping house,

The Pittsburgh Gazette

WILL GIVE CASH PRIZES, AS FOLLOWS:

For the best article on the Management of a House in which one maid is employed $25

For the best article on the Management of a House in which two or more maids are employed $25

Articles to be eligible for this competition must be received at The Gazette office not later than Oct. 31.

The Articles Will Be Published Anonymously in the Home Journal Section of the Sunday Gazette

The result of the competition will be decided by vote of the readers of The Sunday Gazette by means of coupons, which will be printed in the Home Journal section.

Further details as to publication of the articles and award of prizes will be published later in this paper.

PITTSBURGHER ON ARBITRATION

HOW TO SOLVE THE PROBLEM

Many Notable Labor Leaders and Employes of Labor in Attendance at Opening Session of the National Civic Federation Congress in Chicago.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—Discussion of the question of the "open shop" by representatives of labor and capital took up the greater part of the first session today of the National Civic Federation conference which is endeavoring to establish more rightful relations between employers and employes, and to end strife. Various phases of the matter of freedom of employment, which is now agitating the industrial world, were presented by interested persons. The discussion will be continued tomorrow, when it will become general.

During his talk on the "open" shop today John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, strongly denounced the non-unionist and the strike breaker, whom he likened to a criminal. Henry C. Hunter of New York, it was announced, would be among the speakers on the "open shop" at tomorrow's session, at which Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor; John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers; S. S. McClure of New York, T. F. Woodlock, a New York editor; O. S. Strauss, president of the New York board of trade; John M. Stahl, representing the farmers; F. L. Robbins, president of the Pittsburgh Coal Company; E. A. Moffett of New York, James Duncan of the granite cutters' union, Marcus M. Marks of New York and Henry White, secretary of the United Garment Workers.

Oscar S. Strauss, who presided at today's session, spoke upon "How to Establish Better Relations Between Employer and Employe." He was followed by numerous others, including F. L. Robbins of Pittsburgh. He declared compulsory arbitration impracticable, but favored compulsory education in the matter. In part he said:

F. L. Robbin's Adress.

"The great problem of today, and upon its solution depends the future, is how to best harmonize capital and labor through the relations existing between the employer and employed. That there can and should be organized self-reliant right between these reciprocal and the necessity is apparent. I believe in organization for both capital and labor. I regard as a requisite to the fair-minded, conservative employers for each side. The feeling of distrust in many minds can only be wiped out by respect and confidence established through fair treatment.

"As to the methods of making trade agreements probably the most conspicuous example affecting the largest number of people, is the interstate meeting of bituminous coal operators and miners held annually in Indianapolis to establish rates of wages and conditions of labor. It is not perfect by any means, but it has accomplished much good and has served as an object lesson for the whole country. It has brought into contact the mine owners and the miners' representative leaders. That in itself has been of great benefit.

"This interstate meeting has furnished a medium where, through direct personal contact and discussion, the employer and employe exchange views and each becomes familiar with the other's point of view. Those of us who have been associated with that movement for years can bear testimony to the improvement in the personnel of the miners' representatives. Each succeeding year we have a more intelligent body, and the majority are anxious to make a peaceable and equitable agreement.

"Experience has shown us that a wage agreement is regarded by workers as binding and must be observed during the terms of contract. It would be well for all labor organizations to emulate this good example. I believe compulsory arbitration to be impracticable, and that it would be unsatisfactory in its results. I am, however, in favor of compulsory education, and I would make it a national policy. To this end I would teach honor, respect, pride and reverence for the flag, and that the right of American citizenship which makes the capitalist and laborer equal, places upon each the same obligation to respect, maintain and support the law of the land.

"Let us do our duty as citizens by filling the executive offices of the government, our legislative bodies and the courts with our ablest and most patriotic men and then give them our hearty support. Let us criticise less and praise more. A patriot cannot be an oppressor, neither he be a capitalist or a laborer. In the winding up of our interstate meetings we have been accustomed to sing "America." Let us all try to live up to it, and we will have help to solve the problem."

HIGH TIDE REACHED IN U. P. MISSION FIELD

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BUTLER, PA., Oct. 15.—The busiest session of the U. P. Presbyterian synod was that held this afternoon. It was impossible to complete the work by noon. All the reports of the committees were received and acted upon this afternoon. The first reports were those on the Allegheny Seminary and Westminster College.

The Rev. W. H. McGill, Allegheny; the Rev. A. G. Wallace, Sewickley, and the Rev. J. A. Duff were elected directors of the Allegheny seminary. Judge J. Norman Martin of New Castle was elected a member of the semi-centennial endowment committee to raise an endowment fund of $500,000 for Westminster college, and the Rev. J. A. Bailey of Mount Jackson was elected a member of the board of college trustees to succeed the Rev. H. C. Sweeney, formerly of Allegheny, who has removed into another synod.

The Rev. Dr. W. H. McMillan of Allegheny read the report of the boards of foreign and home missions. He is secretary for foreign missions. Dr. McMillan stated that during the past year more money had been given, more missionaries had gone out, more missions had been established and more actual conversions made than in any other previous year in the church's history. More young people had volunteered to go as missionaries than could be sent with the funds available.

The increase of new congregations far exceeded the increase in the number of ministers, and, therefore, more capable young preachers is one of the crying needs of the church.

To Inspect New Westinghouse Foundries

The model plant of the Westinghouse Machine Company at Trafford City, the new Westinghouse town at Stewart station on the Pennsylvania railroad, will be visited tomorrow afternoon by a number of engineers and foundrymen of Pittsburgh, who have been invited by the company to make an inspection of the works. At this plant will be made all the iron and brass castings required for the East Pittsburgh works of the company. The train carrying the visitors will leave the Union station at 12:45 p. m.

Two Arrested in a Store.

Michael Callehan and John Henry of Pittsburgh, and David Watt of Sheraden are locked up in Central station. They were arrested in a Fifth avenue five and 10-cent store, it being charged that they were seen picking up things there.

MOTHER SHOWED BABY'S CLOTHES

WILLISHOUSE IS ON TRIAL

Charged With the Murder of Henry Sawerwald Near Fair Haven—Equity Suit to Abolish Alleged Will of Eliza L. Clark.

A remarkable suit for damages for the death of a child is on trial before Judge F. H. Collier in common pleas court No. 1. Joseph Andrino and his wife Carmala, are suing John O'Neill, the hotel keeper of Sixth avenue and Grant street, whose servants are alleged to have carelessly thrown lighted paper from an alley window onto the head of the child.

The questions involved are probably without parallel. Attorneys Marron and McGirr represent the plaintiffs, and D. C. Reardon and W. B. Rodgers, the defendant.

Incidental to the trial was the pathos exhibited when the mother, who was on the stand, offered the burned clothes of the dead child in evidence. A shawl, scarf and a little dress, charred by the fire, and torn in the efforts to extinguish the flames, were the articles displayed by the mother in establishing the fact of the location of the flames. Victoria Perri, an Italian child, who was with the burned girl when the accident occurred on January 18, 1902, told a vivid story of the burning paper fluttering from the window and alighting on her playmate.

Equity proceedings involving the ownership of a number of lots scattered through Sharpsburg and a farm of 156 acres, were instituted by Carroll Hall and his wife, Estelle L. Hall, in her right, against Caleb Lee and others. The proceedings will entail the question of the validity of the will of the late Eliza L. Clark, who died on September 24, 1901, and whose estate is in contention. The bill filed avers that her will, probated December 23, 1901, is void, owing to a lack of specificacy.

Oscar Willishouse was on trial charged with the murder of Henry Sawerwald, on the Long farm, near Fair Haven, on June 30. The murdered man had been beaten over the head and his skull crushed. A broken shoemaker's hatchet and a pick handle were found to have blood and hair on them.

Inspector Patrick F. Kelly of the South Side police said he had been called to the Willishouse home by telephone, and found Sawerwald lying on the floor of the kitchen in a large pool of blood.

County Detective Robert G. Robinson told of finding blood on the back wall of the room and small bare foot marks on the floor. Charles W. Smith, the constable of the township, who arrested Willishouse, said the prisoner said he was not guilty. When Willishouse was arrested the constable said he appeared as if he had been drinking and was seemingly scared and wild.

COLLEGE CASE LISTED.

Judge Finletter of Philadelphia is Mixed Up in Oil Litigation.

The Thiel college case was given a place on the supreme court calendar yesterday. The arguments will be heard the week beginning November 2.

Two cases in which Judge Thomas K. Finletter and William T. Baum are the interested parties, were listed. In one case Mr. Finletter is the appellant from the decree of the common pleas court of Venango county, and in the other Baum appeals. The suit arises from the settlement of a partnership in oil lands in Venango county.

The appeal of N. M. Thomas, H. E. Goldsmith and Herlick from the common pleas of Somerset county, is a case in which the Duquesne Freezing Company of this city is the appellee. N. M. Thomas was the company's agent at Johnstown, and the others were his bondsmen. Not satisfied with the course of the agent, the company secured a judgment on the bond for $2,678 86 for damages. The appellants hold that the court below did not give their rights fair consideration.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

The following executions were issued yesterday: J. C. Gerard, trustee, vs. James M. Carboy, $12,072 79; Leonard G. Woods vs. Amanda I. Morrow, $1,395 64; L. S. Dietrich vs. Peter Weber, $90 14; Peter F. Richard Weaver vs. C. Fenton Harvey, $1,910 36.

Mrs. Mary C. Flohr yesterday entered a $25,000 damage suit against Charles Donnelly for the death of her son, Percy R. Flohr, who was killed by the elevator accident at 1020 Fifth avenue on May 22, last. The defendant is the owner of the building.

ART JURY BEGAN WORK.

The members of the art jury which will select the pictures for the coming exhibition at the Carnegie art galleries, Schenley park, arrived here yesterday morning and began work. They held a short meeting in the office of Director John Beatty, who welcomed the visitors to the city. Those who arrived yesterday included: Charles Hessan and Benjamin Foster, New York; Thomas Eakins, Philadelphia; F. W. Freer, Chicago; B. W. Redfield, Center Breeze, Pa.; Thomas C. Steel, Indianapolis; Robert Bonar, James McGinn and Charles Hopkins, Boston. The latter takes the place of John Lafarge of New York.

There are 450 pictures in the galleries and from these 200 will be selected. The jury expects to complete its work by tonight. A dinner will likely be tendered to the art jury tomorrow night.

A. M. E. ELECTIONS.

Delegates to General Conference and Missionary Board Officers Chosen.

The thirty-sixth annual convention of the Pittsburgh conference of the African M. E. church yesterday elected delegates to the general conference in Chicago next May, as follows: Delegates, the Rev. W. S. Lowry, presiding elder Allegheny district; the Rev. R. H. Bumry, Brownsville; the Rev. Benjamin Wheeler, presiding elder Pittsburgh district. Alternates, the Rev. C. A. Magee, presiding elder, Cleveland district; the Rev. P. A. Scorr, Oil City; the Rev. D. F. Callman, Washington, Pa.

The following officers were elected to serve on the general missionary board of the conference for the ensuing year: President, Bishop B. W. Arnett, D. D.; vice president, the Rev. J. W. Brown; secretary, F. D. Bowser; treasurer, the Rev. John Ryley.

During the past year $1,060 50 was contributed to the missionary cause. Of this sum the Pittsburgh district gave $219 27; the Allegheny district, $234 93, and the Wheeling district, $224 60.

Pittsburghers Were Elected.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 15.—(Special.)—Among the officers elected today by the National Paint, Oil and Varnish association were Second Vice President C. D. Wetlaufer and Director C. O. Smith, both of Pittsburgh.

Quarrel Results from Counsel's Attack During Hughes Divorce Trial.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(Special.)—Lyman A. Spalding, counsel for Mrs. Agnes Hughes, whose husband, Rupert Hughes, sued her for divorce, naming eight men, this afternoon knocked down Herbert Witherspoon, the husband of Mrs. Hughes' beautiful sister, Greta. This occurred just after the jury went out to find a verdict.

Mr. Spalding had made a scathing arraignment of Mr. Witherspoon in his summing up to the jury, and as the two men met in the corridor near the door of the courtroom, Mr. Witherspoon said: "You are a dirty, mud-slinging scoundrel." Mr. Spalding, who is a much heavier built man than Mr. Witherspoon, struck out, landing his fist on Mr. Witherspoon's eye. Mr. Witherspoon fell as if struck with a sledge. Court officers and friends helped him to his feet and hurried him away.

Commenting upon the testimony Spalding spoke of Mr. and Mrs. Witherspoon as "that many times divorced woman" and Mr. Witherspoon as "her singing husband."

TOOK A STRAW VOTE.

Interesting Experiment In a Restaurant.

While waiting for his order he glanced over his newspaper and noticed the advertisement of a well-known dyspepsia preparation. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets; as he himself was a regular user of the tablets he began speculating as to how many of the other traveling men in the dining room were also friends of the popular remedy for indigestion.

He says: "I counted twenty-three men at the tables and in the hotel office I took the trouble to interview them and was surprised to learn that nine of the twenty-three made a practice of taking one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal.

"One of them told me he had suffered so much from stomach trouble that at one time he had been obliged to quit the road, but since using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets had been entirely free from indigestion, but he continued their use especially while traveling, on account of irregularities in meals and because like all traveling men he was often obliged to eat what he could get and not always what he wanted.

"Another, who looked the picture of health, said he never ate a meal without taking a Stuart Tablet afterward, because he could eat what he pleased and when he pleased, without fear of a sleepless night or any other trouble.

"Still another used them because he was subject to gas on stomach, causing pressure on heart and lungs, shortness of breath and distress in chest, which he no longer experienced since using the tablets regularly.

"Another claimed that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets was the only safe remedy he had ever found for sour stomach and acidity; he had formerly used common soda to relieve the trouble, but the tablets were much better and safer to use."

After smoking, drinking or other excesses which weaken the digestive organs, nothing restores the stomach to a healthy, wholesome condition so effectually as Stuart's Tablets.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain the natural digestives, pepsin, diastase which every weak stomach lacks, as well as nux, hydrastin and yellow parilla, and can be safely relied upon as a radical cure for every form of poor digestion. Sold by druggists everywhere.

CRUCIBLE STEEL WAS THE CENTER OF INTEREST

Company's Statement Favorably Considered and Stocks Dealt in Largely—Amalgamated Copper and Reading Dividends Cause Rally.

Interest locally, and to a large extent in New York, centered in Crucible Steel yesterday. The statement issued by the company was regarded favorably, except the reference to the possibility of passing the preferred dividend. That clause caused the weakness observed at the opening and depressed the shares throughout the day. Sentiment on the Pittsburgh exchange toward the close of the day had come to regard even the reference to the preferred dividend as an indication of future strength, though New York had not begun to look much beyond the immediate aspect of a stock without a dividend.

It was argued in Pittsburgh to be a perfectly natural thing for the Crucible managers to use the earnings of the company to discharge the Clairton indebtedness, rather than to distribute them to stockholders, and that in the end this would be a good thing for the company, giving it one of the most modern steel plants free from incumbrance. The return of William G. Park to active management was regarded very favorably, and it was much talked of that with Mr. Park as chairman and W. P. Snyder managing the works at Clairton there would be every reason to expect the company to make good in every way. The stocks of the company were dealt in so largely as to overshadow everything else in the local market. The common shares opened at 5½, sold down to 5 and closed at 5¼, while the preferred opened 5 below Wednesday's closing bid, at 40, sold down to 38 and closed an eighth above that. Very few shares changed hands at the lower figure.

Aside from Crucible the attention of traders in all markets was directed toward Amalgamated Copper, which is regarded as a sort of barometer indicating the feeling of the Standard Oil party. Early in the day there were conflicting rumors that the dividend on Amalgamated would be passed or that it would be increased. Soon afterward a message came saying that Henry H. Rodgers had authorized the statement that there would be no change. Meantime the whole list was dragging downward, the most marked decline being in smelters. When the news came that Amalgamated had declared the usual quarterly dividend of 1 per cent it had no immediate effect on the market, but late in the day the announcement of a dividend of 1½ on Reading second preferred—its first dividend—caused a sharp rally. It was noted that Amalgamated Copper and St. Paul both showed strength and closed at the highest points during the day. From this it was inferred the Standard Oil party would be willing to have an advancing market.

United States Steel was almost motionless. A mere fraction covered the range of the day in both common and preferred, marking the narrowest market for those securities for many weeks. In the opinion of conservative traders, this steadiness is indicative that the heavy liquidation in United States Steel is ended and that the United States Shipbuilding disclosures have had their full effect on the market. The opinion prevailed in New York that the Standard Oil party has obtained control of United States Steel, and that fact was construed as an element of strength. Locally, the personal activity of H. C. Frick in looking after Steel Corporation business is regarded very favorably.

London was a buyer of American securities at the New York opening, with quotations fractionally higher than at the close of the day before. This buying continued until the close at London, where the money market was reported easier and the feeling better because there was less prospect for war in the far east.

Money was easier at New York, where the banks had gained $1,038,000 from the sub-treasury since last Friday, and the feeling was growing in financial circles that the worst of the liquidation is over. Despite the declining market of the early hours, there was a strong undertone, and private advices stated the greater part of the selling was for short account, an opinion apparently confirmed by the later rally.

There was no confirmation yesterday of the previous reports concerning forced selling at Montreal. Telegrams from the Canadian city denied the existence of any trouble there. There was brisk trading in Canadian Pacific, aggregating 15,000 shares, with a decline of 2 points and a subsequent recovery within an eighth of the opening price. If Montreal has been forced to unload, the selling is over with very little damage done.

Western railroads report very encouraging prospects, the traffic being heavy with no signs of falling off. In this connection it may be said that 39 roads show an average increase in gross receipts of 8.65 per cent.

Aside from Crucible Steel the trading on the local board was unusually light. The flurry in River coal of Wednesday had no sequel and there were no sales yesterday. The prompt response to the attack of Wednesday apparently discouraged any further effort in that direction. In general there was a hopeful feeling among the local brokers, who, while not encouraging speculation, feel well satisfied with the proof that has been given during this week of the financial strength and soundness of Pittsburgh.

There was little interest shown in Chicago markets, except to note that they presented no features likely to affect railroad stocks adversely. In New York, American Locomotive preferred made a new low record at 67½, and Southern Railway continued weak, closing at nearly the lowest figures. American Smelters also made a low record and did not participate to any extent in the general recovery toward the close. Norfolk & Western was sold heavily by four New York firms and gave way under the pressure, but showed some elasticity in rebounding with other stocks late in the day. Pennsylvania Railroad was fairly active in the trading, but showed no large fluctuations in price. Western Union sold down a fraction on the general decline, but closed at a gain of ⅝ over the opening, showing strength equal to that of St. Paul.

DECREASE IS SHOWN IN PIG IRON PRODUCTION

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—(Special.)—Returns of pig iron production in the United States as of October 1 show decrease in weekly output of 7,100 tons. FEATURES OF THE DAY

IN PITTSBURGH.

United States Steel stocks were quiet and the market very narrow. The common sold at 13 and the preferred at 88 both being fractional losses.

Bank stocks were in little demand.

IN WALL STREET.

Amalgamated Copper made a new low record of 33⅝.

Norfolk & Western, Baltimore & Ohio and Chespeake & Ohio were exceptionally heavy, first mentioned touching 54⅜.

Bond market was dull, total sales being $2,004,000, par value.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

It is claimed that there are several large orders out for Pittsburgh Coal stocks and that those who have placed the orders are buying, not for speculation, but for the retention of the securities. No intimation is given as to the identity of the parties seeking the stocks.

The report was current yesterday that interests identified with the Bank of Pittsburgh, N. A., are planning to obtain control of the Merchants and Manufacturers National bank. William Rosebury, vice president of the Bank of Pittsburgh, said last evening that he had no knowledge of such a plan being considered.

The sale of 20 shares of Pittsburgh Plate Glass at 110 yesterday caused considerable discussion. This is the lowest price the stock has reached since 1901, and in the meantime it has sold as high as 183. There was no news that would cause the drop yesterday. For some time there has been little activity in this stock. Glass men insist that the Pittsburgh company will do the largest business during the coming year that it has ever done by reason of the driving of the foreign producers out of the American market. The prices of practically all sizes of plate glass were recently reduced 10 per cent, action of all the leading American companies an average of 10 per cent to accomplish this result. Later a further reduction of 5 per cent on what is known as AB sizes was made. The gloomy sentiment in the plate glass business is among the Belgian producers, who see the American trade slipping from them. Those conversant with the affairs of the Pittsburgh company do not see any reason to reduce dividends or otherwise lessen the value of the stock in the attempt to enlarge the business. The increased sales will compensate for the reduction in prices, it is claimed.

Norfolk & Western was sold in New York in considerable lots by Henry Bros., Wolf Bros., Wasserman and Oliver, the second named firm dropping 2,000 shares.

The dividend of 1½ declared yesterday is the first that will be paid on Reading second preferred and the announcement had a good effect on the market.

American Locomotive sold yesterday at 68½, the lowest price this year. This is in consequence of anticipated decrease in orders.

A report circulated in New York that large orders for steel cars had been cancelled. It was officially denied by the Pressed Steel Car Company, which declared there had been no cancellation, but that new orders were being booked.

Gossip in New York concerning the statement issued by the Crucible Steel Company of America took the form of anticipating lively competition between that company and the United States Steel Corporation. This inference was drawn from the phrase about "enlarged operations of the Clairton plant" and the failure of the negotiations for the sale of part of the Clairton to the United States Steel. Locally not much stock is taken in this deduction, but well-informed persons expect the new management of the Crucible company to make a considerable export business when ready for full operation. If there is any changing in the market with the big company it is likely to be in foreign, rather than in home markets.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

The September production of the Mass mine is placed at about 100 tons of mineral, making it the banner month for this year. The condition of the mine has been showing an improvement for some time, and it is being reflected in the monthly output.

A Calumet and Hecla official says: "There has been little or no copper sold under 13½ cents for some time past, and I know of no offers being made by any of the large producers at any figure below this, either in large or small lots."

A correspondent writing from Cherry Creek, Nev., says: "Joseph L. Moore and Adolph Sundberg have returned from their visit to Salt Lake City. Mr. Moore had a long consultation with manager of the Glasgow and Western Exploration Company, and sinking the shaft and deeper developments at the Star mine will be next in order.

The copper-bearing properties of the Columbia Mining Company at Bingham will pass into the custody of the $1,000,000 Ohio Copper Company, with the main offices in Salt Lake City and a branch in Dayton, O.

The Milford Times says the Majestic Company is now conducting operations upon a more extensive and energetic basis than at any time since it commenced the development of its properties. Forty-four teams are at work, grading for the Old Hickory spur is being pushed and the shipments of ore are constantly increasing.

The annual general meeting of the Granby Consolidated Company, which controls a special, profitable interesting statement that in spite of most depressing circumstances, the Granby made a profit of $235,403 during the year, which brought the surplus from the preceding year up to $810,825. That would provide a 5 per cent dividend on the issued capital, $13,363,030, on $10 shares.

	Pounds.
Champion	11,600,000
Baltic	11,000,000
Trimountain	10,200,000
Total	32,800,000

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Spot tin advanced 5s in London to £115 10s, and 10s to £116 5s for futures. Locally, tin was steady but a little lower, closing at $28 65@28 90. Copper was rather irregular in London and is 5d higher, at £54 0s 2d for spot, though futures were unchanged at 254 2s 6d. In New York copper was quiet. Lake is quoted at $13 00@13 12½; electrolytic at $13 00, and casting at $12 62½. Lead steady at $4 50 in the New York market and quiet abroad, with spot quoted at £11. Spelter remained unchanged at £6 0 0 locally, and at £20 5s in London. Iron closed at 51s in Glasgow and 43s 7½d in Middlesboro. Locally, iron was a little lower on No. 1 foundry, northern, which is now quoted at $16 00@16 50; No. 2 foundry, northern, is quoted at $15 00@16 00; No. 1 foundry, southern, and No. 1 foundry, southern, soft, at $15 00@15 50.

OIL OPERATOR GETS ENTIRE SQUARE

T. N. Barnsdall Buys Part of Alexander King Property for $50,000.

ALLEGHENY SALE OF $35,000

Philadelphia Company Said to Want Square of Oakland Property--Glenwood Houses Will Cost $112,000--Six Store Rooms for Oakland.

T. N. Barnsdall, the well-known oil and gas operator, is now the owner of an entire square of frontage in the Nineteenth ward, his last purchase necessary to complete this plot having been made recently through Samuel W. Black & Co. It will be recalled that Mr. Barnsdall some two months ago bought the McKelvey holdings on the west side of North Negley avenue and north of Wellesley avenue, for about $50,000 through the same brokers. To the north of this property lies the Alexander King holdings, part of which Mr. Barnsdall has now secured for $50,000. The property just bought has a frontage of 117 feet in North Negley avenue, and extends back 720 feet. It is vacant and admirably adapted for an addition to the extensive McKelvey grounds. The two properties occupy a whole square, extending from Wellesley avenue to Hampton avenue. With but one or two exceptions this is the largest plot of residence property in the East End held by one owner. The old McKelvey mansion, which is situated about midway between the two streets, is to be remodeled and the work of moving the fences and improving the grounds is already started. A short distance below the Barnsdall tract in Negley avenue, three $15,000 houses are now under roof and other building projects contemplated in the vicinity, with the improvements on the King holdings to the north cannot fail to make this section one of the most exclusive in the city.

Manufacturing Site Brings $35,000.

Through the office of Edward G. Lang of Allegheny the property of the Holstein Leather Company in the Seventh ward, Allegheny, has been sold to W. P. Lange for $35,000. The plot fronts 100 feet on the east side of Pine street and runs along the West Penn railroad over 100 feet, making a total area of about 21,000 square feet. Near it are the plants of the Allegheny City waterworks and the big plant of the Pennsylvania Glue Company. The building is a three-story brick structure which has been used as a tannery. This will be remodeled at considerable expense for a hide and tallow warehouse. The property is one of the most desirable manufacturing sites on the North Side, as it has a railroad siding and is above high water mark.

Samuel W. Black & Co. have been appointed agents for the sale of Benjamin Bingham's lot at the east corner of Federal street and River avenue, Allegheny, included in the holdings are a four-story business block at the corner, four two-story brick houses on Federal street and four houses in River avenue. The property is now owned by a Philadelphia capitalist and most of the leases expire next April. Some time ago rumors were current that a hotel was projected for this corner, but no confirmation of the story was ever secured.

Big Offers Indicate Building Project.

Oakland residents are considerably interested in the probable disposition of the Forbes street frontage between Atwood street and Oakland avenue. Recent offers made for lots in this square indicate that there is a determination on the part of some one to secure all the frontage, and as the Philadelphia Company now owns or controls all but 60 feet of the land, it is freely reported that they have after the remainder. Some time ago an offer of $18,000 was submitted for the Daigaur lot, 50x90 feet, improved with an old frame dwelling and facing in Oakland avenue in the rear of the power house. Another lot, 15x47.5 feet, in Oakland avenue, now owned by C. H. Wagner, was valued at $2,000, while the good-sized lot at the corner of Forbes street, and eight months ago it was again sold for $6,000. G. F. Matter has also been offered $6,500 for a similar lot in Oakland avenue. The car barns occupy the Fifth avenue frontage between Atwood street and Oakland avenue, and extend back about 100 feet. It is generally believed that the Forbes street half of the square is now too valuable to be used as an addition to the car barns, as was reported several months ago, and real estate owners have been led to believe that a first-class hotel is to be erected on the site.

50 Glenwood Homes to Cost $112,000.

The contract for the 50 new houses of the Glenwood Land Company, which was erroneously reported awarded several days ago for $105,000, was given yesterday to W. B. Dickson of Oakwood for $112,000. W. S. Haynes, secretary of the land company, will superintend the building of the houses. They will be seven-room frame dwellings on lots 25x100 feet each, and will face in Renova street, Twenty-third ward.

James J. Booth, who recently bought the Robert Thompson property, 50x132 feet, at the northeast corner of Forbes street and Oakland avenue, for $52,000, is preparing to build a two-story brick structure on the site, to contain six store rooms.

Architects E. J. Carlisle & Co. are preparing plans for a three-story brick hotel, to be built by James Gallagher in Carnegie at a cost of $20,000. The same architects have awarded the contract to James E. E. Dykemann for a colonial brick house for M. L. Martin in the rear of the Sixth United Presbyterian church at Forbes and Murray avenue. The house will cost $21,000.

The William Glyde Wilkins Company has been commissioned to prepare plans for three shafts to be sunk for the mining holdings of the Summit Coal & Coke Company of New York, which will develop a tract of 25,000 acres of coal land in Marshall county, W. Va. The company was lately organized with a capital of $1,000,000.

Nicholas Wolf will erect a three-story brick hotel in Monongahela avenue, Glassport, from plans by Architect W. P. Wilson of McKeesport. The building will have 15 rooms and will cost $30,000.

Pittsburgh Will Rank Near the Top.

Pittsburgh's importance in a real estate way is likely to be greatly enhanced by a chart which is being prepared by a Seattle firm showing the comparative value of real estate in 50 of the leading cities of the United States. There will be embodied in the chart the highest price ever paid for and the average value of retail property and how located, the average value of property used for commercial, banking and office building purposes, the market value of the best wholesale business property, the price asked for sites for apartment houses, family hotels and club buildings, and how far such sites are from the business center, and the value of first-class, medium and tenement house residence property, as well as the value per acre of suburban property held for plotting. A comparison will also be made of the percentage of property assessed for taxation, the average rate of taxes and the water rents on different kinds of houses. Prominent real estate brokers in both cities have received blanks embodying the above points for their consideration. Such a project shows the broader field that real estate now occupies in the business world and the more intelligent attempt that is being made by progressive brokers to invade new territory. Since the tightening of the money market in this city a number of large Pittsburgh firms have paid special attention to marketing real estate in other cities, notably New York, and have been remarkably successful.

Residence Sold for $12,500.

McPherson street: The H. A. Shaffer Company sold for W. M. Hall, Jr., to a local business man No. 7208 McPherson street, a three-story brick house, lot 64x40 feet, for $12,500.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at a decline of 5@10 points under Saturday's closing quotations, largely Brazilian receipts and the absence of further crop damage reports, which led to expectations that conditions had improved. Trading was not particularly active, however, and, while there was considerable realizing and selling by the room element, sufficient demand from shorts was attracted by the lower level to prevent any further decline, and the market closed steady with prices net 5 points lower. Sales were 27,750 bags, including November at 4.80c, December at 5.00c, January at 5.05c, March at 5.25c, May at 5.40c, July at 5.50@5.55c, and September at 5.90c.

Inactivity of trading caused weakness in provisions in the face of an advance of from 10c to 15c in the price of hogs. Packers supposed to be acting for packers sold moderately. The close was weak, with January pork

WHEAT AND CORN HIGHER, BUT OATS WERE LOWER

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—The sentiment in the wheat pit was decidedly bullish throughout the day and the volume of trading was large. Opening prices were firm on higher cables and on a private dispatch from Buenos Ayres stating crops had been damaged considerably by frosts. December was up ¼c to ⅝c at 79½@79¾c, and with active covering by shorts the market became firmer. Substantial advances in outside markets with the cash situation at Minneapolis the strongest it has been in 15 years, only tended to increase the anxiety of shorters. A feature of the trading was the heavy buying of prominent houses which had been previously on the bear side of the market. Under these influences December advanced to 79¾c, and with a good deal of long wheat came out at this figure. Late in the day a prominent trader turned seller, disposing of in the neighborhood of a million bushels of December, and this caused a loss of part of the gain. The close, however, was strong. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 682 cars, which, with local receipts of 80 cars, none of contract grade, made total receipts of three points of 762 cars, against 695 cars last week and 968 cars a year ago. Primary receipts were 1,003,000 bushels, against 1,244,000 bushels a year ago.

Corn ruled firm, being helped largely by the strength in wheat. There was more or less covering by local shorts throughout the day and offerings as a rule were small. With the option of good buying of May by provision interests the market lacked any special features. There was additional selling late in the session on the easier tone on wheat, but closing prices were steady. Local receipts were 200 cars, with 17 of contract grade.

No difference to the strength in other pits market the early trading in oats and the volume of business was small. Selling by local traders with only a small demand caused December temporarily and December closed ⅝c lower at 86½c, after selling between 86¾c and 87¼c. Local receipts were 150 cars.

Minneapolis and Duluth reported a firm feeling in the face of an advance of from 10c to 15c in the price of hogs. Brokers supposed to be acting for packers sold moderately. The close was weak, with January pork

Interstate Commerce Commission Extends Time for Safety Appliances

The interstate commerce commission announced its decision in Washington yesterday on the applications of the railroads for extensions of time for compliance with the amended safety-appliance law, effective September 1 last. The Pennsylvania Company is given an extension until July 1 for the lines east of Pittsburgh, except the Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore, Philadelphia & Erie, Northern Central and the West Jersey & Seashore divisions, which are not included in the order. On the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh the same extension was given to the Conway yard and the trains in that section. The commission granted an extension to January 1 next to the remainder of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh and to the Lehigh Valley, Grand Rapids & Indiana, Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton, Toledo & Ohio Central, Kanawha & Michigan, Cincinnati, Indianapolis & Western, Hocking Valley, and to the Erie lines except west of Salamanca. Other extensions are: Evansville & Western, to July 1; Boston & Maine, to January 1; Albany & Northern and the Hartwell Railway to September 1. The Long Island and Norfolk & Western withdrew their applications and the Baltimore & Ohio was given until March 4 to equip yard engines with driving wheel brakes, and the Colorado Southern and Denver & Rio Grande to July 1 to apply for congressional authority for substituting the water brake for driving wheel brake on narrow gauge locomotives.

Holiday Rates Fixed.

The Central Passenger association has established rates for the Christmas and New Year's holiday season. One of the changes is an extension of the time limit, which allows two days more for the return trip. A rate of one and one-third fares for the round trip has been agreed to within a radius of 150 miles from any given point in the territory, which includes west of Pittsburgh and Buffalo and as far as Chicago and St. Louis. For students and teachers in colleges, universities and seminaries, the same rate will be allowed, with the exception that no limit to distance is made, so long as the destination is within the territorial boundaries. The trunk lines will not make any reduction in rates for the holidays.

PLATT EXECUTES NEAT STRATAGEM

REPORTERS CAUGHT NAPPING

Senator's New Wife Exhibits Her Gifts. The Amen Corner Behaves Handsomely—Bride and Groom Off to Lakewood for Their Honeymoon.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Senator and Mrs. Thomas C. Platt, married on Sunday last in the apartments of the bride, who was Mrs. Lillian Janeway, in the Holland house, began their honeymoon tour this afternoon, leaving for Lakewood on the 3:35 train.

Despite the fact that it was the first day of his honeymoon, Senator Platt spent the usual number of hours in his office, winding up his business affairs preparatory to his departure. Mrs. Platt busied herself during the day at the Holland house packing up her luggage, included in which were her many wedding presents. From Lakewood they will go to Washington, where they will occupy Senator Platt's apartments at the Arlington. The announcement that the senator and Mrs. Platt were married Sunday was made in a formal notice sent to the newspapers by Senator Platt.

The senator was besieged by newspaper men from the time he appeared in the lobby of the Fifth Avenue hotel until he reached his office this afternoon and directed his secretary, Mr. Howe, to inform the press of his marriage and prepare formal notices. "Gentlemen," Mr. Howe said to the reporters, "I wish to say for Senator Platt that he was married on Sunday last to Mrs. Janeway in her apartments in the Holland house by the Rev. Dr. David J. Burrell of the Marble Collegiate church."

"It had been supposed, Mr. Howe, that the marriage was to have taken place at the church today. Why was the change made in the original arrangements?" he was asked.

"You understand that Mr. Platt, for so many years in the public eye, has many friends, all of whom he would have had to invite had the wedding been public. Both Mr. and Mrs. Platt agreed that it was best to have the marriage ceremony performed in as quiet a manner as possible, and this was done."

The wedding took place at noon. Mrs. Montgomery, the bride's sister, and Miss Snow, her daughter by her first husband, were present, as were Frank H. Platt and Henry Platt, sons of the senator. Miss Snow attended her mother. There was no best man. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Burrell. After the wedding a quiet breakfast was served in a private dining room of the Holland house.

Mrs. Platt today laughingly said: "For the first time, I believe, the senator has gotten the best of the reporters."

Mrs. Platt's room in the Holland house was well-nigh filled with wedding gifts. Very beautiful they were, too, and Mrs. Platt showed all the delight of a girl when she exhibited them.

"This is from the 'Amen Corner.' Isn't it beautiful?

"This tea set came from Governor and Mrs. Odell, and is one of the most beautiful things I have received.

"After all, the best thing about our marriage is the way Senator Platt's friends have showed their appreciation of him.

"Of course a man as active in political life as the senator must have made some enemies, but his friends are very near and dear ones, and with one accord they have wished him happiness in his wedded life."

All these remarks were punctuated with wonderful gowns that were going in the trunk, marked "Lakewood, N. J."

PITTSBURGH EXPERT'S ESTIMATE OF OUTPUT

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The Wall Street Journal today says: As there is some duplication in the gross earnings of the United States Steel Corporation as reported officially, we have asked a Pittsburgh expert for a clear statement of the tonnage output of the United States Steel Corporation, and he responds as follows:

"The Steel Corporation last year produced 8,197,232 tons of finished steel. This does not include any raw material except 782,000 tons of blooms, billets and tin bars which come under the head of raw material. This was probably surplus material. Making raw material and finished material the tonnage of the corporation last year would perhaps run up to 16,000,000 tons. The corporation buys under normal conditions between 600,000 and 825,000 tons of pig iron from outside sources."

In view of our understanding that an agreement has been reached as to the distribution of the tonnage among the railroad companies in which the Wabash-Gould-Rockefeller combination is to be satisfied, while the so-called Morgan steamship combination is to handle the export trade, we have investigated the amount of railroad earnings derived from the United States Steel Corporation shipments outside of its own lines. It is figured that the 8,000,000 tons of steel company shipments are consumed by the railroad interests and in the big cities of the country, and that their average haul before consumption must be several hundred miles. This estimate we have received from New York authorities that the Steel Corporation controls railroad freights aggregating $60,000,000 per annum outside its own lines.

We understand that the Steel Corporation during the first year of its existence paid $45,000,000 in railroad freights other than upon its own lines.

TILLMAN ONCE MORE AT LIBERTY

FRIENDS SHOUT OVER VERDICT

Tillman Said He Was Forced to Slay His Victim, but Now Regrets His Death. Refused to Claim Pistols That Fired the Fatal Shot.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LEXINGTON, S. C., Oct. 15.—The trial of James S. Tillman, who was charged with the murder of N. G. Gonzales, editor of the State, in Columbia on January 15 last, ended today in an acquittal. The jury was out for 20 hours.

At 10 o'clock a knock was heard on the door leading into the jury room. Judge Gary, who was conducting a civil hearing, directed the bailiff to ascertain if an agreement had been reached, and word came that the jury had determined upon a verdict. Summonses were sent for the attorneys in the case and the sheriff was directed to bring the accused into court. It took but an instant to read the words "not guilty." Some of the friends of the defendant gave vent to their feelings in a shout, though the court had previously admonished those present not to make any demonstration.

The motion by counsel for the defense for the discharge of the defendant was immediately signed by Judge Gary, the solicitor assenting, and Tillman was at liberty.

Mrs. Tillman and the defendant's mother were not in the court room when the verdict was announced. The mother heard the jury had come in and was hastening to the court house, when she met her son in the street. Learning the result, she threw her arms around his neck. Later all gathered at the hotel, where they received their friends and relatives.

After the verdict was announced the clerk held up the pistols which had figured in the trial and offered them to the defendant, who waved them off, saying:

"They are not mine."

Tillman, after his acquittal, made the following statement: "I feel very grateful at the result of the verdict, but at no time did I apprehend any serious consequences, I, of course, deeply regret the death of Mr. Gonzales, but I was forced to do what I did. I have never apprehended a conviction, for I felt that I did no more than any man would have done under the same circumstances and what I was compelled to do. My position was fully stated in the testimony I gave on the stand."

Valuable Goods Found in Old Mine.

While digging in an abandoned coal mine near Dravosburg yesterday Daniel Sorg and two brothers found about $5,000 worth of drygoods, hardware and tools. The hardware was practically uninjured, but the rest of the stuff was about ruined. The goods were turned over to the police, who think they were hidden there about a year ago by thieves who were operating extensively in that neighborhood at that time.

CAMPBELL'S

The True Story of these Auction Silks

In business, as in war, there is such a thing as strategy. The man who wants a pound of nails goes boldly to a hardware store and buys them in person, but the capitalist or corporation that wants a copper mine, a manufacturing plant, a whole block of city property or a valuable lease, nearly always remains incognito and is represented by an agent.

The same way with stores when a deal is on in which it would be poor policy to show their hand.

Like other houses of the first magnitude, Campbell's is represented in the New York market by a powerful buying syndicate, the Dry Goods Union, consisting of twelve great stores, and occupying an entire floor at 55 and 57 White Street, with a strong corps of expert buyers.

It was Mr. J. J. Matheson, manager of the Dry Goods Union and a silk expert, who, under specific instructions from us, bought for us in the name of J. N. Adam & Co. of Buffalo, one of the associated stores, the Ashley & Bailey auction silks that have become a matter of controversy. The goods were shipped to us direct from the office of the Dry Goods Union, are now on sale as announced in yesterday's papers—and at lower prices, quality for quality, than the Ashley & Bailey auction silks offered elsewhere.

After 32 years in business in this community we are certain that no one will question the veracity of this statement, so we do not feel called upon at present to verify it with reproductions of letters, bills, invoices, etc.—all of which can be presented should it become necessary.

A GREAT SILK AUCTION took place in New York last week Wednesday. By order of the Ashley & Bailey Co., who operate four of the largest silk mills in America, Townsend & Montant sold without reserve to the highest bidders 13,000 pieces of broad silks for a round $300,000—about two-thirds their real value as the wholesale prices run.

Our New York representative, Mr. J. J. Matheson, of 55 and 57 White street, not only attended the sale in our behalf, but bought heavily for us. He being a silk expert, perfectly conversant with the silk market and in close touch with it at all times, knew full well what were the most desirable lots. Accordingly the silks he bid off for us were the very cream of the entire collection. Not old or undesirable goods.
